

South Haven Policeman Shot To Death!

State, City Officers Follow Tracks In Snow, Capture Suspect

By AL AREND

SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven city police officer who went without his usual bullet-proof vest last night was slain early today as he stopped a man during an investigation.

Patrolman Michael McAllister, 39, and father of five children, was struck in the heart and stomach by two bullets from a 9mm handgun as he sought to frisk the man, South Haven police reported. His death was the third violent killing in the South Haven area in recent weeks.

The shooting occurred along North Shore drive just north of the South Haven city limits in Allegan county's Casco township.

Arrested in connection with the 2:45 a.m. shooting by state police was a man identified as Richard Frederick Dixon, 35, of Detroit. A warrant charging Dixon with murder has been authorized by Fred Hunter, Allegan county prosecutor.

Dixon was expected to be arraigned today on the charge in 57th district court, Allegan.

FBI agents said they had a warrant against a man named Frederick Dixon charging him with air piracy and kidnapping in a 1972 airline hijacking and said they would check to see if the man in custody was the man wanted.

The hijacking involved an Eastern Airlines flight from Detroit to Miami on Oct. 9, 1972. FBI agents said a gunman took over the plane as passengers were boarding and forced it to fly to Cuba.

State police at the South Haven post said Dixon was apprehended about an hour after the shooting in the basement of a home along North Shore drive in Allegan county's Casco township about a quarter-mile from the shooting scene.

State police at South Haven and city police gave the following account of the shooting:

Patrolman McAllister had been dispatched by city police to investigate a report of gunshots, heard by off-duty city officer Carl Holtzman, who had just returned home to his Maple Glen apartment, just north of the city limits.

Holtzman said a man apparently hitchhiking along North Shore drive, had attempted to flag him down just before he got home.

McAllister, alone in his patrol car, spotted a man walking along North Shore drive, about a quarter-mile north of the apartment and pulled over to question him. At about the same time, Lt. Larry Bild of South Haven city police, had pulled up behind McAllister's patrol car.

Police said Lt. Bild saw McAllister get out of his car and as McAllister was attempting to frisk the man, the man whirled and fired two shots into McAllister. Bild, still seated in his patrol car, said he saw the man draw the gun again, and as he ducked down in the front seat, to draw his revolver out, he saw the clip from the man's gun fall to the ground.

Then as Bild was radioing for assistance, the man fled on foot, west toward Sleepy Hollow resort.

State police from the Benton Harbor and Paw Paw posts and South Haven city police followed tracks in the snow, which led them to an outside basement door of the William Decker home. Police say they found Dixon in the basement and he offered no resistance upon arrest. Police also found, what they believe was the murder weapon, a 9 mm automatic handgun in the snow along the path they had followed.

Participating in the arrest were Troopers Michael Boone and Ron Olson of the Benton Harbor post, Troopers Lawrence House and Roger Gentry of the Paw Paw post and South Haven officer Holtzman. Gentry said the arrest was made about an hour after the 2:45 a.m. shooting.

McAllister died at South

Haven Community hospital at 4:05 a.m., according to police.

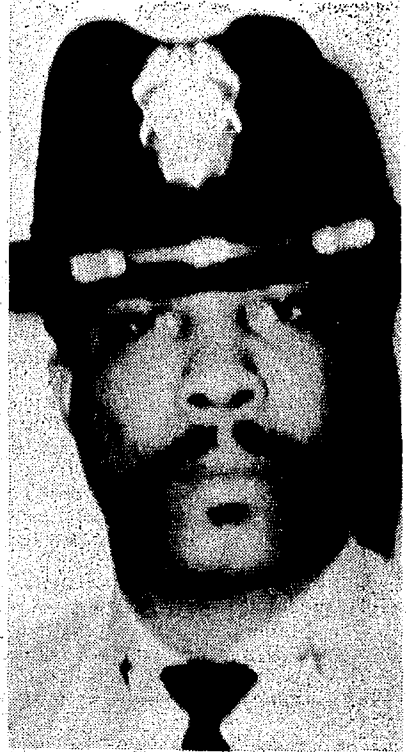

Otto Buelow, South Haven city police chief, said McAllister was shot once in the chest and once in the stomach. He said McAllister normally wore a bullet-proof vest, but did not have one on when he was shot. It was not learned why he failed to wear the vest last night.

McAllister had been a South Haven police officer for 5½ years. Prior to that he was a Covert police officer and former member of the Cook county, Ill., sheriff's department.

Mr. McAllister resided with his wife, Estelle, and family at Brentwood Estates, route 3, Coloma. He was born Sept. 16, 1936, in Birmingham, Ala., and was a veteran of the Korean conflict.

Surviving are his widow; two sons, Cory and Gregory; two stepsons, Earl and Carthia, all at home; a stepdaughter, Trenna, at home; his mother, Mrs.

Dow Jones Index Soars 55 Points In 5 Days

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock tickers of Wall Street are tapping out a message of strong economic optimism in the early days of 1976.

In the week of trading since New Year's Day, the stock market has staged one of its most powerful rallies of recent years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 major industrial stocks, the best-known indicator of market trends, has climbed 55.57 points to 907.98 in the first five trading days of the new year. By calculations of the Hirsch Organization, an investment advisory service, it was the best opening week of any year for the market since 1938.

The Dow, which had been wandering sluggishly all through the second half of last year, suddenly jumped to its highest level since November 1973.

The clamor of activity gave the New York Stock Exchange its 10th and third busiest days ever on consecutive days this week.

Stock market gyrations, particularly over such a short time span, can often be misleading and their significance is always subject to a wide variety of interpretations.

Analysts have been quick to point out that at least part of this latest surge can be traced simply to the calendar.

Jan. 1, first of all, means the end of the last-minute selling that investors traditionally do in December for income tax purposes.

In addition, analysts say, a big chunk of money becomes available for investment in January and February, through such things as year-end bonuses to individuals and payments to pension plans.

Adding fuel to the rally Thursday was a reduction in the prime lending rate from 7¼ per cent to 7 per cent by Chase Manhattan and several smaller banks.

But the market also commands attention as a predictor of economic trends, however erratic its behavior may be.

The federal government has acknowledged that fact by making stock prices a part of its index of leading economic indicators, which is set up to try to detect the future course of the economy.

Like most other crystal balls, the market offers no guarantee, and it can quickly change its mind.

In early January 1973, for instance, it climbed to an all-time high of 1,051.70 in the Dow, only to embark after that on its worst protracted decline since the 1930s.

Last year, however, the market's "forecasts" were strikingly accurate, if one accepts the standard theory that it usually looks about six months ahead.

In fact, notes Heinz H. Biel of Wall Street's Hoppin, Watson

Inc., "it did much better than the experts."

Over the first three months of 1975, the market shot upward, correctly anticipating the big jump in the Gross National Product which came in the third quarter.

In mid-summer, it turned cautious and erratic, foretelling what economists later described as a slowing of the economy's recovery this winter.

What gives the market that kind of feeling for the future?

"Maybe it's the collective instinct of investors," says Biel. "I don't know how it works, but it does."

Computer Matches Strange Bedfellows

CHICAGO (AP) — When human error combines with the speed and wizardry of a computer, anything can happen. That combination temporarily disrupted more than 1,000 marriages and may have caused a few divorces.

A Chicago hotel, the Oxford House, just before Christmas mailed thousands of letters to regular patrons thanking them for staying at the hotel and telling them of renovations.

A computerized mailing list was used to speed the process, but a computer operator mistakenly plugged in a Chicago mailing list of more than 4,000 residents. Most had never been inside Oxford House, much less spent the night there.

Jerome Belanger, vice president and general manager of the hotel, spent most of Wednesday and Thursday on the telephone trying to soothe the wrath of those who received the thank-you note but could not convince their spouses it was just a mistake.

"I've received more than 1,000 calls so far," Belanger said Thursday, "and the phone is still ringing. We sent out a personally signed letter of apology today to all the people who got the letter by mistake."

For some, though, the apology may be too little too late.

"The majority of callers have taken the incident in good humor once the mistake is explained," he said, "but some said they are in the process of divorce and that we will be hearing from their lawyers."

There were some humorous elements to the snafu, however, Belanger explained.

Five Area Schools Close As Snowy Mantle Deepens

One to four inches of new snow Thursday and last night deepened the snow cover on the ground across southwestern Michigan from 4 to 10 inches today.

Snow depths were greatest in western Berrien county and the inland areas of Van Buren and Allegan counties. The snow cover was generally reported around four inches close along Lake Michigan's edge, and lighter well inland beginning about the Van Buren-Kalamazoo countyline.

Four schools in Van Buren county were closed because of the weather today, and one in Berrien. Closed in Van Buren were the South Haven, Covert and Bangor public school systems and the Hartford Seventh-day Adventist school. The Grace Christian school in Watervliet was the only school reported closed in Berrien.

Winds between 15 and 25 miles an hour during the night produced some drifting, particularly on north-south roads, according to the Van Buren Road commission. Roads were reported passable in all area counties. I-94 was generally clear with some patches of ice in the main driving lane, but icy and snow-covered in the passing lanes.

The St. Joseph Coast Guard station reported that a rim of ice has begun to form along the lake shoreline in just the past several days. The ice extended only about 100 to 150 yards out from the shore this morning.

Herb Teichman, fruit grower-weather observer northeast of Eau Claire, reported about 10 inches of snow accumulated on the ground. The Van Buren Road commission said snow depths away from the lake ranged from about 10 inches to as much as 18 inches in some localities.

A quirk of the weather sent the temperature to zero and 1-below away from the lake for several hours early last night.

The wind, gusting from the southwest most of the time Thursday and overnight, switched to the south about 6 last evening, pumping in colder air that had not been tempered by moving across Lake Michigan's waters. Teichman said the mercury dipped to one-below and stayed there until about 11 p.m. Close to Lake Michigan, the temperature dipped only about two degrees — from 10 down to 8 degrees during that period — on the Herald-Palladium recording thermometer in downtown Benton Harbor. Zero and slightly colder readings came from most of the inland area during the same hours. Before midnight the wind was back to the southeast and thermometers rose 8 to 10 degrees quickly.

A slow temperature rise through Sunday was forecast for the area by the National Weather Service.

Most of the eastern half of the nation was shivering in the embrace of a cold wave, while the western half was warming

SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven city police officer who went without his usual bullet-proof vest last night was slain early today as he stopped a man during an investigation.

Patrolman Michael McAllister, 39, and father of five children, was struck in the heart and stomach by two bullets from a 9mm handgun as he sought to frisk the man, South Haven police reported. His death was the third violent killing in the South Haven area in recent weeks.

The shooting occurred along North Shore drive just north of the South Haven city limits in Allegan county's Casco township.

Dixon was expected to be arraigned today on the charge in 57th district court, Allegan.

he saw the clip from the man's gun fall to the ground.

Then as Bild was radioing for assistance, the man fled on foot, west toward Sleepy Hollow resort.

State police from the Benton Harbor and Paw Paw posts and South Haven city police followed tracks in the snow, which led them to an outside basement door of the William Decker home. Participating in the arrest were Troopers Michael Boone and Ron Olson of the Benton Harbor post, Troopers Lawrence House and Roger Gentry of the Paw Paw post and South Haven officer Holtzman. Gentry said the arrest was made about an hour after the 2:45 a.m. shooting.

One to four inches of new snow Thursday and last night deepened the snow cover on the ground across southwestern Michigan from 4 to 10 inches today.

Snow depths were greatest in western Berrien county and the inland areas of Van Buren and Allegan counties. The snow cover was generally reported around four inches close along Lake Michigan's edge, and lighter well inland beginning about the Van Buren-Kalamazoo countyline.

Four schools in Van Buren county were closed because of the weather today, and one in Berrien. Closed in Van Buren were the South Haven, Covert and Bangor public school sys-

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Expanding Legislative Immunity

Article I of the U.S. Constitution in creating the powers and responsibilities of Congress says, among other things:

"And for any speech or debate in either House (the Senators and Representatives) shall not be questioned in any other place."

Through the years this clause has been utilized primarily as a defense against libel. The courts have construed it to confer an absolute privilege on a Congressman for what he may say in the course of official conduct regardless of how scurrilous the remarks may be.

Until a few months, days actually, ago, no one in the legal profession believed the clause applied to members of a state legislature. For that very apprehension most state constitutions incorporate similar wording.

The reason for the federal clause and its local counterparts is a policy matter. Legislators should be free to examine and debate a question bearing on the public interest irrespective of how they may tread upon private toes. Inhibiting such investigation by the threat of a libel or slander suit, or other legal maneuvering could hamper action on behalf of the public.

Last year the federal district attorney's office at Chicago brought criminal proceedings against three former members of the Illinois legislature charging them with using their official positions to extort kickbacks from car rental firms.

In May the district trial judge banned the introduction of the legislature's journal showing the voting records of the three defendants on certain propositions related to car leasing, as well as statements made by them in debate and committee sessions on the subject. The D.A. argued unsuccessfully that this line of conduct proved the indictment's assertion of illegal behavior.

Military Pay Tax Loopholes

With most local treasuries being in or close to a negative balance, the accountant's terminology for red ink, it is not surprising that the District of Columbia and many state tax collectors are hounding the Defense Department to install the withholding procedure on military pay.

Currently Uncle Sam pays out $17 billion a year to 2 million persons connected with the armed services.

The District of Columbia and 23 states tax military pay; 17 others, including Michigan, exempt that pay from their income taxes; and 10 states have no income tax.

The theory in Michigan and Illinois, which also exempts military pay from

This week the Court of Appeals at Chicago sustained the evidentiary suppression by a 2-1 vote.

The majority opinion scrapped the long held view within the legal profession that the limited wording in Article I is of restricted application.

Rather, stated the majority, the clause creates a federal common law privilege on speech and debate in the state legislatures.

Its opinion then proceeded to say, in effect, that unless Congress tries its hand at writing a constitutionally sound statute making abuse of a local office a federal offense, the responsibility lies with the states to maintain purity within their legislative halls.

The dissenting judge held the clause in Article I cannot be expanded into an umbrella for state legislators simply because its wording is directed specifically to members of Congress.

The D.A. announced he will appeal the verdict to the Supreme Court and until that august body may rule on the question, the appellate opinion actually applies only to the territorial expanse of that court. Appellate courts and trial judges in other circuits are free to disregard it.

If words are to be given the same meaning as they are written, the dissenting judge has the right of it.

His associates may have been impelled to add language where none exists as another exercise in judicial policy, namely, that local crime should be controllable at the local level and the responsibility ought not be shifted off to the federal government.

While the opinion does not say so in black and white, it is fairly detectable between the lines.

Should the Supreme Court accept the majority's view reasonably close to the opinion's reasoning, this might indicate the federal judiciary thinks it time to pull back Uncle Sam's nose from many of the local affairs into which it now intrudes.

the state income tax, has been that military service by itself is a sufficient disruption in one's life style and should not be compounded by adding to it a civilian wage imposed upon their nonmilitary residents.

The assumption traces to the draft and since selective service is no longer in effect, necessarily loses much of its original force.

The revenue collectors in the District and the 23 taxing states claim their bailiwicks are losing $100 million annually in skipped payments.

Besides refusing thus far to institute withholding the Defense Department maintains no system of informing the taxing states what its employees do earn.

The Department contends withholding and information referral would add to what already is conceded to be intolerable volume of paper work.

Behind the official rationale, doubtless prevails the view in the Pentagon that this shielding is a fringe benefit to make military service appealing.

The shield may be punctured fairly soon.

The state collectors have bent President Ford's ear to the point where he is expected to recommend the Department start withholding shortly.

The action may help to some extent but possibly not to the degree that the Minnesota and Wisconsin collectors, who have been pressing hard on the issue, expect.

All of a sudden many of their people in uniform may transfer their residence, on paper at least, to Illinois, Michigan or other shelters.

WOULD LIKE SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Editor, For the record I am not opposed to the Hon. Chas. F. Joseph becoming a salaried Mayor. As a matter of fact I think it's a feasible idea inasmuch as being paid by the city relieves the Mayor of the burden of having to seek other employment which could possibly be a deterrent to his concentrating on the city as a priority.

To go further this sort of arrangement could also create a situation where the Mayor and his commission would be able to conduct a better working relationship with the citizens. This type relationship is sorely needed. Perhaps then the people could gain some knowledge of what is really transpiring in city government. There are those who will say this knowledge can be gained by attending the weekly commission meetings. This however is only true in part for it is no secret that in the past these meetings have been for the most part spent airing personal differences, destructive criticism and other such trivial matters. This fellow citizen is not government, but as the Irish say, "blarney!"

I for one would much rather see a unified city government able and equipped to aid, assist, and inform its constituents. I reiterate, I am not opposed to the Mayor, or even the commissioners being paid by the city, however I do believe in only paying for services delivered not for promises, personal vendettas, or meaningless rhetoric, but facts and results.

It is my feeling that before we as citizens sanction, or allow our ward representatives to sanction salaries for any city official, city manager, mayor, whatever, regardless of how large or how modest the salary may be, we should first of all have the answers to some very pertinent questions such as follows:

(1) What part did the general public play in the establishment of the "Pay Commission," and were they informed before or after its establishment?

(2) Was the general public or citizenry polled as to give an indication of their feelings regarding such a commission?

(3) Why is it that seemingly the same group or clique is always appointed to administer programs relating to the city with no regard to its success/failure ratio?

(4) Is there any truth to the rumor that city materials and equipment were used for campaign purposes and if so is this legal?

(5) What is the real deal concerning Chas. Morrison (alluded to in a recent letter to this paper written by Maurice Bishop) and why did the senior council members approve his re-appointment while the newly elected members oppose it?

The above are legitimate questions that deserve honest answers and which would quell all talk or plans for a recall. If we the citizens are not given these answers I feel that a recall vote is the proper course to follow. Regarding the Morrison matter my feelings are the same as Mr. Bishop's. Incidentally when I asked Cal Wheeler would he consider the position his reply was "Not at twice the salary."

Lawton — Lawton's new post office and federal building on South Main street looks pretty well completed but Postmaster D.C. Lamoreaux said that much remains to be done inside the structure. He added that he hopes his department will be able to move into the new building by March 15. Estimated cost of the structure is $140,000.

The Berrien County Board of Supervisors, holding a one-day session at the courthouse in St. Joseph Monday, authorized its health and welfare committee to hire an architect to design a new juvenile home building. Supervisor Frank Poorman of Buchanan, committee chairman, said an H-shaped ranch type structure estimated to cost between $60,000 and $70,000 is planned. It would house about 14 inmates, he said.

— 50 Years Ago —

Several Michigan projects are provided for in a bill introduced yesterday by Representative Busbee, of Mississippi, a Democrat on the House public buildings committee. It provides for an appropriation of $187,063,000 for the construction of more than 300 postoffice buildings in various parts of the country. In Michigan it includes Benton Harbor, $160,000, and eight other cities.

Buchanan — The Clark Equipment Co.'s business grew very fast in 1925. The company announces a bigger year for 1926. Freight nearly doubled in and out. A better railway service will be sought by the concern the coming year. An invitation has been extended by the Clark Equipment Co. to manufacturers of automobiles, trucks and accessories to visit their exhibit of axes and steel wheels for trucks and buses at the time of the automobile shows in New York and Chicago.

The St. Joseph city council at the special session last evening enacted an ordinance which will effectively stop the small boys from turning in fake police calls, a practice which has been common since the new system of police call bells were established in the city. The ordinance contains a standing reward of $10 for information leading to the capture and conviction of persons ringing the bell without cause.

The smoke nuisance was also discussed at the meeting of the St. Joseph city council last night and Clerk Townsend instructed to secure printed matter from the Gaul smoke consumer company of LaPorte, Ind. It is said that the two big hotels furnish more smoke than all the factories in the city combined.

Government By Harrassment

WASHINGTON — When composing the Declaration of Independence, the founders listed 26 specific charges against King George III, one of which was that he had "erected a multitude of new Offices and sent hither Swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their Substance."

George was not the first American ruler with this predilection, however, and not the last. Every monarch before and since 1776 has sent his officers to harass the people — especially since, the meddling having grown apace with the Republic.

The harassment has perhaps been largely well meaning. God save us from the government's good heart. In an effort to protect the people who buy automobiles, for example, official meddlers have cost them at least $15 billion over the past decade (the price of federally mandated industrial regulation) and some observers believe the pocket picking in the next decade may be as much as $150 billion.

One small illustration of the regulatory menace concerns the recent federal meddling in the matter of the last of America's covered wagons. The vehicles, part of the new world progress since the time of the pilgrims, have a timeless design and virtually unassailable durability that remains valuable even today in at least one industry, sheep herding. Built with a low center of gravity for stability, and with simplicity of architecture for economy, the covered wagon has been the shepherd's safe and snug mobile home for uncounted generations.

Now, however, the government is not satisfied with the wagon's composition. Though no one can cite a fair reason, Swarms of Officers are inspecting each of the vehicles left in America and harassing their owners. There are no windows in the wagons, for one thing, so the government has insisted such be placed to the rear of each vehicle, not less than 24 inches square. And the sleeping space for shepherds is also objectionable, say the Swarms. Thus the Labor Department has ruled that where two bunks in a wagon before, only one may do so henceforth.

Furthermore, gracious sakes, the wagon stoves burn wood whereas the government prefers propane, and the dated canvas coverings should certainly be replaced by aluminum. Never mind that propane causes fumes, and aluminum upsets wagon stability. The Swarms of Officers, none of whom are shepherds, have made up their minds and to hell with logic.

The harassments are not just pesky, of course, they are likewise expensive. It costs about $100 to install a — sigh — window in a wagon. Worse, the one man to a wagon regulation necessitates, in many cases, a doubling of the number of working wagons, at $1,500 to $2,000 per unit. This is an industry that is already shaky. In Idaho, for instance, hard times depleted the herd size by eight per cent last year, will probably do so again this year, making the flock the smallest in memory.

No doubt some woolgrowers will give up entirely now, rather than pay the government's price for struggling on. And so the Swarms of Officers will have truly eaten out their substance. Sad, As Idaho Sen. James McClure says it, this one small harassment "illustrates what the founders knew, that the heel of despots feels the same whether it is on the tyrant's boot or the shoes of numberless bureaucrats."

Openness, Candor Still Lacking

WASHINGTON — When he was inaugurated the nation's first appointed president a year and a half ago, Gerald Ford promised, "I expect to follow my instincts of openness and candor with full confidence that honesty is always the best policy in the end."

But his New Year's present from the National Press Club here was a study which reported that while the atmosphere at the White House is definitely less hostile than during the Nixon administration, the "openness" and "candor" leave something to be desired.

In terms of numbers, Ford is clearly ahead of the secretive Nixon in quantity of press conference and press interviews. He is, however, only running about even with Lyndon Johnson in his later years and far behind Johnson in the early years.

Yet it is the quality of the President's public remarks that is the real rub, not just the number of times he may say something.

Actually, it all sounds familiar and may mean that things are more normal in Washington than the country has reason to believe after the shocks of the past couple years. Presidents can't have friends and can't talk freely. They can only have interests. Ditto for press secretaries.

Every modern press secretary in turn (Ron Nessen is only the latest) has inevitably infuriated the reporters whose job it is to cover the President's activities. That's because his paid task is not to tell the public what they have a right to know but to tell only what the President thinks they ought to know, which is definitely not the same thing.

The National Press Club report protests that Nessen too often does not have adequate information to answer questions. "The daily press briefing has slid from adversary to antagonist," noted Bonnie Angelo of Time magazine in the report.

"I think the job any press secretary does is limited by the wishes and commands of his master," observed Robert Pierpoint of CBS.

It is a myth that Ford is any more frank about troublesome or embarrassing questions than were John Kennedy and Johnson. By comparison with Nixon, of course, he appears to be honesty personified. But that is not a responsible contrast, because Nixon had horrible secrets to hide beyond those of any other president.

Ford has not yet developed what might be called a "credibility gap," but he is not dealing with a war, as Johnson was, in which each over-optimistic claim, wrong assumption or misleading simplification became magnified a hundred times over. Ford's troubles are not yet big enough. But those troubles will grow as the presidential campaign develops.

Presidents (like most people) like the press when the reports are favorable and resent it when there is criticism. If Ford does well in the early primaries against Ronald Reagan, his press relations will probably be very pleasant; if he does badly, they will be rotten. You can bet on it.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Expanding Legislative Immunity

Article I of the U.S. Constitution in creating the powers and responsibilities of Congress says, among other things:

"And for any speech or debate in either House (the Senators and Representatives) shall not be questioned in any other place."

Through the years this clause has been utilized primarily as a defense against libel. The courts have construed it to confer an absolute privilege to suing a Congressman for what he may say in the course of official conduct regardless of how scurrilous the remarks may be.

Until a few months, days actually, ago, no one in the legal profession believed the clause applied to members of a state legislature. For that very apprehension most state constitutions incorporate similar wording.

The reason for the federal clause and its local counterparts is a policy matter. Legislators should be free to examine and debate a question bearing on the public interest irrespective of how they may tread upon private toes. Inhibiting such investigation by the threat of a libel or slander suit, or other legal maneuvering could hamper action on behalf of the public.

Last year the federal district attorney's office at Chicago brought criminal proceedings against three former members of the Illinois legislature charging them with using their official positions to extort kickbacks from car rental firms.

In May the district trial judge banned the introduction of the legislature's journal showing the voting records of the three defendants on certain propositions related to car leasing, as well as statements made by them in debate and committee sessions on the subject. The D.A. argued unsuccessfully that this line of conduct proved the indictment's assertion of illegal behavior.

This week the Court of Appeals at Chicago sustained the evidentiary suppression by a 2-1 vote.

The majority opinion scrapped the long held view within the legal profession that the limited wording in Article I is of restricted application.

Rather, stated the majority, the clause creates a federal common law privilege on speech and debate in the state legislatures.

Its opinion then proceeded to say, in effect, that unless Congress tries its hand at writing a constitutionally sound statute making abuse of a local office a federal offense, the responsibility lies with the states to maintain purity within their legislative halls.

The dissenting judge held the clause in Article I cannot be expanded into an umbrella for state legislators simply because its wording is directed specifically to members of Congress.

The D.A. announced he will appeal the verdict to the Supreme Court and until that august body may rule on the question, the appellate opinion actually applies only to the territorial expanse of that court. Appellate courts and trial judges in other circuits are free to disregard it.

If words are to be given the same meaning as they are written, the dissenting judge has the right of it.

His associates may have been impelled to add language where none exists as another exercise in judicial policy, namely, that local crime should be controllable at the local level and the responsibility ought not be shifted off to the federal government.

While the opinion does not say so in black and white, it is fairly detectable between the lines.

Should the Supreme Court accept the majority's view reasonably close to the opinion's reasoning, this might indicate the federal judiciary thinks it time to pull back Uncle Sam's nose from many of the local affairs into which it now intrudes.

Military Pay Tax Loopholes

With most local treasuries being in or close to a negative balance, the accountant's terminology for red ink, it is not surprising that the District of Columbia and many state tax collectors are hounding the Defense Department to install the withholding procedure on military pay.

Currently Uncle Sam pays out $17 billion a year to 2 million persons connected with the armed services.

The District of Columbia and 23 states tax military pay; 17 others, including Michigan, exempt that pay from their income taxes; and 10 states have no income tax.

The theory in Michigan and Illinois, which also exempts military pay from the state income tax, has been that military service by itself is a sufficient disruption in one's life style and should not be compounded by adding to it a civilian wage imposed upon their nonmilitary residents.

The assumption traces to the draft and since selective service is no longer in effect, necessarily loses much of its original force.

The revenue collectors in the District and the 23 taxing states claim their bailiwicks are losing $100 million annually in skipped payments.

Besides refusing thus far to institute withholding the Defense Department maintains no system of informing the taxing states what its employees do earn.

The Department contends withholding and information referral would add to what already is conceded to be intolerable volume of paper work.

Behind the official rationale, doubtless prevails the view in the Pentagon that this shielding is a fringe benefit to make military service appealing.

The shield may be punctured fairly soon.

The state collectors have bent President Ford's ear to the point where he is expected to recommend the Department start withholding shortly.

The action may help to some extent but possibly not to the degree that the Minnesota and Wisconsin collectors, who have been pressing hard on the issue, expect.

All of a sudden many of their people in uniform may transfer their residence, on paper at least, to Illinois, Michigan or other shelters.

WOULD LIKE SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED

For the record I am not opposed to the Hon. Chas. F. Joseph becoming a salaried Mayor. As a matter of fact I think it's a feasible idea inasmuch as being paid by the city relieves the Mayor of the burden of having to seek other employment which could possibly be a deterrent to his concentrating on the city as a priority.

To go further this sort of arrangement could also create a situation where the Mayor and his commission would be able to construct a better working relationship with the citizens. This type relationship is sorely needed. Perhaps then the people could gain some knowledge of what is really transpiring in city government. There are those who will say this knowledge can be gained by attending the weekly commission meetings. This however is only true in part for it is no secret that in the past these meetings have been for the most part spent airing personal differences, destructive criticism and other such trivial matters. This fellow citizens is not government, but as the Irish say, "blarney!"

I for one would much rather see a unified city government able and equipped to aid, assist, and inform its constituents.

I reiterate, I am not opposed to the Mayor, or even the commissioners being paid by the city, however I do believe in only paying for services delivered not for promises, personal vendettas, or meaningless rhetoric, but facts and results.

It is my feeling that before we as citizens sanction, or allow our ward representatives to sanction salaries for any city official, city manager, mayor, whatever, regardless of how large or how modest the salary may be, we should first of all have the answers to some very pertinent questions such as follows:

(1) What part did the general public play in the establishment of the "Pay Commission," and were they informed before or after its establishment?

(2) Was the general public or citizenry polled as to give an indication of their feelings regarding such a commission?

(3) Why is it that seemingly the same group or clique is always appointed to administer programs relating to the city with no regard to its success/failure ratio?

(4) Is there any truth to the rumor that city materials and equipment were used for campaign purposes and if so is this legal?

(5) What is the real deal concerning Chas. Morrison (alluded to in a recent letter to this paper written by Maurice Bishop) and why did the senior council members approve his re-appointment while the newly elected members oppose it?

The above are legitimate questions that deserve honest answers and which would quell all talk or plans for a recall. St. Joe Street System Changes Proposed Southwestern Michigan regional planners yesterday recommended to the St. Joseph planning commission some far reaching changes in the city street system.

The plans included a conditional recommendation for construction of a limited access crosstown I-94 business route connector.

The regional planners, assigned to make recommendations in updating the city's master plan, urged the city to develop a street classification system.

Streets would be classified as principal or minor arterial, collector and local. Specific changes were recommended to improve traffic flow in some instances or to protect residential neighborhoods from unwanted traffic in others.

Specifically the regional planners said: "It is recognized that a crosstown connector at this time is a volatile issue with many residents of St. Joseph. But it is seen that the development of this type of limited access facility along the river route is the most reasonable solution to the long term traffic congestion and neighborhood eroding problems of the city.

"Therefore, it is recommended that a crosstown connector along the river route be studied and implemented if found economically and environmentally feasible."

Specific recommendations aimed for improved arterial traffic flow included widening Napier avenue from Niles avenue to Riverwood Terrace to four lanes; allowing right turns on blinking red arrow off Napier onto Niles avenue and off Niles onto Napier; widening intersection at Niles and Main for easier turning; and installing physical divider on Niles avenue in the Southtown business area.

Final arterial improvement recommendation is to widen the intersection of Cleveland avenue and Hilltop road, install traffic signal and widen Hilltop to four lanes. The planners said this area is reaching critical proportions of over-congestion.

Under the classification of neighborhood preservation the planner's recommended closing St. Joseph drive and Lester avenue and making it inconvenient for motorists to use such residential (local) streets as Langley, Highland, Morton, Van Brunt, Columbia, Botham and State. This would be done by prohibiting trucks and sprinkling stop signs at many intersections.

The regional planners recommendations are strictly advisory. The regional planners' report was presented by James Muldoon and John Kowalskie.

BH Official New Chief Of Airport

Ronald Momany Chosen
By Ross Field Board

The Twin City Airport board Thursday appointed Ronald S. Momany, 38, as manager of Ross field to succeed retiring Edward S. Weisbrich. The appointment is effective Jan. 30. Momany said he will resign effective Jan. 28 as director of administrative services for the City of Benton Harbor. He has been a Benton Harbor city official since 1966.

Momany's salary as airport manager will start at the rate of $17,500 annually with a review after six months. Momany said his salary as city director of administrative services was $20,000 for this fiscal year. Weisbrich's salary was $18,200.

The airport board also voted a $200 monthly raise for Ross Spencer, assistant airport manager, setting his salary at $12,400 a year.

The board authorized retention of Weisbrich as a part-time consultant at $9 an hour to help break in Momany as new manager.

Momany's business career has been in finance and administration. John Banyon, airport board chairman, said, "We needed someone who was an administrator. A man with aviation experience was not essential."

Banyon noted the airport had enough aviation experience through other employees and board members. Banyon is a certified pilot. The airport also has a control tower manned by a federal crew.

Banyon said: "Our prime consideration in hiring a new manager was in getting a man with a proven track record in administration and financing."

The airport board's vote to name Momany was unanimous. Voting for his appointment were Banyon, Joe Carver, Don Ranum, Dr. Harzel Taylor, Edward Tiscornia, Gerald Hepler and E.A. Larson. Board members absent were Melvin Farmer Jr., acting Benton Harbor city manager, and Clinton Raines.

Momany has been director of administrative services for Benton Harbor since November, 1974. The job entailed being personnel director, administration of wage and classification plan, merit system and labor contracts.

He previously was the city's director of finance for five years and assistant director of finance from 1966 to 1969.

Momany was employed eight years by Farmers and Merchants National bank before joining the city staff. He was a teller, 1958 to 1963, and assistant cashier and manager of the Fairplain Plaza branch, 1963-66.

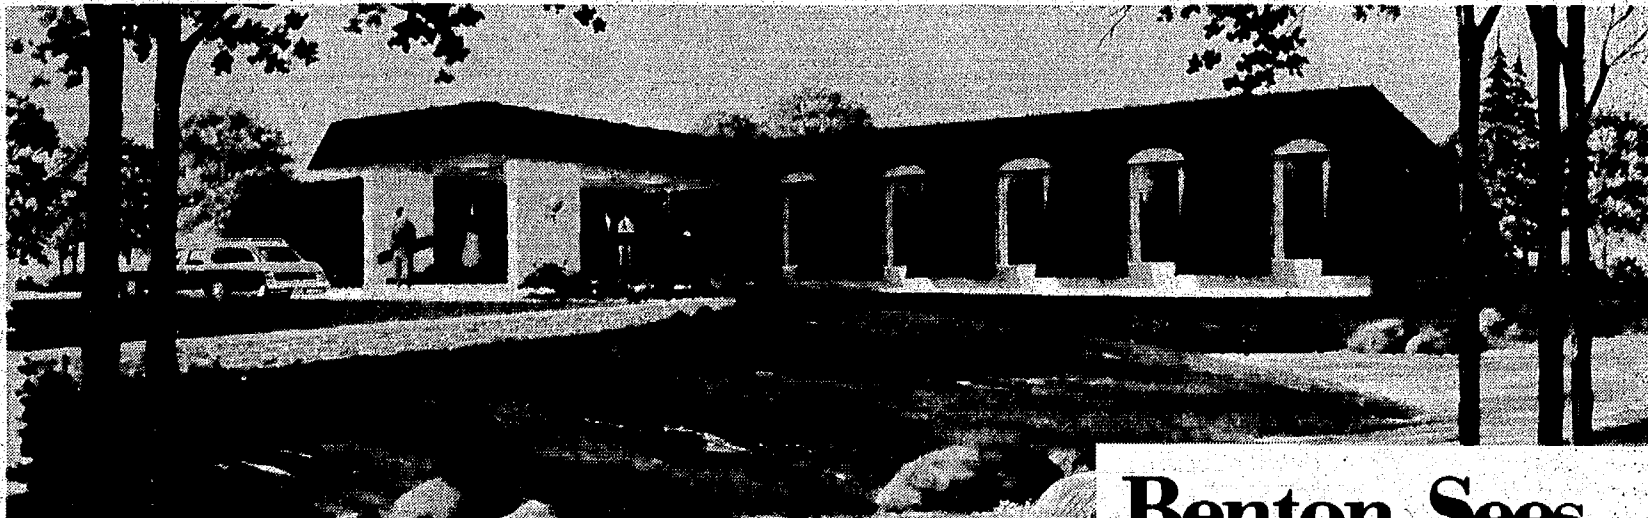

He is a graduate of Lake Michigan college and has taken courses in accounting, finance and business law many courses through the American Institute of Banking.

Momany will be the second high Benton Harbor official to leave office within a month. Charles A. Morrison was terminated as city manager Dec. 31 when his contract was not renewed.

Momany, his wife, Carol, sons, Timothy, 16 and Christopher, 14, live at 2800 Thayer drive, St. Joseph.

BH Advisers Begin Task Of Cutting U.S. Funds Pie

The Benton Harbor Community Development Citizens Advisory Board (CAB) is faced with the task of recommending how $1.4 million in federal funds should be spent from among requests totaling about $3.5 million.

The CAB last night began reviewing the requests for Community Development funds. The City of Benton Harbor expects to receive $1.4 million for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1976. The Community Development program is administered by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The 1974 federal act creating the program describes its purpose as "the development of viable urban communities including decent housing, a suitable living environment, and economic opportunity for persons of low and moderate income."

The CAB, which is required by federal law to provide citizen input into determining how the funds are spent, must make a final recommendation to the Benton Harbor city commission Feb. 2 on spending of the Community Development funds.

Arnold Smith, CAB chairman, said the board will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, on the second floor of the public library, to hold a hearing with agencies requesting funds and to debate the merits of each request. They will formulate their final recommendation at a meeting Jan. 22, Smith said.

The City of Benton Harbor, itself, has proposed programs which require more than $3 million in Community Development funds. The proposals include programs in code enforcement, rehabilitation, economic development, public works improvements and public service improvements.

Requests from various community agencies totaling over $400,000 were reviewed by the board last night. Those requesting funds include Atty. K. Morris Gavin legal services for indigents, $54,655; Berrien County Legal Services (also for indigents), $40,706; Senior Citizens Companion, $20,853; Can-Am games, $15,000; Community Parents Inc. Child Care center, $81,596; Benton Harbor Senior Citizens center, $71,318; Benton Harbor Minority Contractors Association, $50,000; Benton Harbor Bicentennial program-Morton House renovation, $40,000; Girl Scouts of Singing Sands, $11,449, and the Benton Harbor Theatrical Company, $31,500.

Making their appeal before the CAB last night for funds on behalf of their agencies were K. Morris Gavin, legal services; Harold Dockins, Neighborhood center; Guy Huddleston, Benton Harbor Minority Contractors Association; and Charles Henderson, Benton Harbor Theatrical Company.

Benton Sees Two Hearings Gather Steam

The Benton township planning commission last night accepted committee reports leading to public hearings on an adult foster home and an addition to an auto wrecking firm. The request of Thelma Thomas for a special use permit to operate a foster home at 1709 Wood avenue was reviewed by the planning commission's health committee. Dr. Charles Duncan, chairman of the health committee, recommended the home be limited to 10 adults. Dr. Duncan said the 17-room house, located on City of David property between Crystal and Euclid avenues, would be ideal for the use Mrs. Thomas proposes.

Mrs. Thomas told the commission she worked for Gateway center for the handicapped in Berrien Springs. The building on Wood avenue would house mentally-handicapped adults. State licensing is required.

The public hearing will be set later, Chairman James W. Benson said, probably within a month or six weeks. The planning commission debated but did not finally determine if the operation should come under special use permit or require rezoning as a commercial venture.

Abe Lieberman of August Pohl Auto Wreckers, 2870 Territorial road, was instructed to file a petition signed by 75 percent of the adjoining property owners within 500 feet of the building addition he is seeking.

Benson said the 100 by 60-foot all-metal building is in a non-conforming area. When the petition is filed a public hearing date will be set.

The request of Community Finance, 91 Wall street, Benton Harbor, to combine two lots at 1161 and 1169 Napier avenue was referred to the committee for a check. Dale C. Park, secretary of the firm, said a 5,200-square foot building is under construction on the two lots. Combining the two lots is a routine operation.

Community Finance will move its Wall street office to the new location later this year. It will continue to operate the Benton Heights office at 2225 Red Arrow highway.

The subdivision committee also will study the request of Lewis L. McCraven, 250 Burton street, Benton township, to combine two lots, one in Belmont subdivision and one in adjoining Leaside subdivision.

Benson told planning commissioners a new state law requiring elected and appointed officials from township to state level to file financial disclosure reports is in effect this year. The reports will be due by May 1, he said. He expects the State of Michigan to furnish forms.

Self-Evaluation Day Scheduled At BHHS

Benton Harbor high school students will be dismissed from classes at 10 a.m. Monday so that teachers and administrators may participate in a self-evaluation for the North Central Association, according to Wallace Dunn, high school principal.

North Central Association is the accrediting organization which specifies that individual schools meet minimum standards needed to assure quality education for students. Benton Harbor high school will be visited in April by a North Central accrediting team, according to Dunn.

Dunn said Monday's self-evaluation gives the high school staff an opportunity to examine the secondary program and suggest areas of strength and weakness before the 25-member North Central team arrives later in the spring.

The entire high school faculty has been divided into subcommittees to participate in the evaluation. Walter (Les) Rock, a social studies teacher, is general chairman.

Classes will resume at 8 a.m. Tuesday

WATERVLJET — Thomas Yore, Watervliet city assessor, announced that he will be at Watervliet city hall Saturday, Jan. 10 and 17, to assist veterans, the blind and senior citizens from the city in preparing their property tax exemption forms. Yore said he will be at city hall from 1 to 4 p.m. both days.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A program offering hot lunches to qualifying students at reduced prices was approved Thursday night by the school board here, but under protest.

Jon Schuster, school superintendent, said the board would also begin to consider whether the school system would have any hot lunch program. He said the board does not agree with the concept of offering free or reduced price lunches that are mandated under the federally-funded hot lunch program.

The reduced price lunches will begin Jan. 26. Cost of the lunches will be 20 cents. Prices for regular lunches range from 40 cents in the elementary grades to 55 cents for high school students. Free and reduced price lunches are provided low-income families.

In other business, the board approved the purchase of a 1976 Chevrolet station wagon from Don Sprung Chevrolet at a price of $4,360, the low of three bids submitted. Schuster said the vehicle will be used by the district to transport hearing-impaired students from around the county to the school's special education classes. He said the district would be reimbursed by the Berrien Intermediate School district over the next five years.

St. Joe Street System Changes Proposed

Southwestern Michigan regional planners yesterday recommended to the St. Joseph planning commission some far reaching changes in the city street system.

The plans included a conditional recommendation for construction of a limited access crosstown 1-94 business route connector.

The regional planners, assigned to make recommendations in updating the city's master plan, urged the city to develop a street classification system.

Streets would be classified as principal or minor arterial, collector and local. Specific changes were recommended to improve traffic flow in some instances or to protect residential neighborhoods from unwanted traffic in others.

Specifically the regional planners said: "It is recognized that a crosstown connector at this time is a volatile issue with many residents of St. Joseph. But it is seen that the development of this type of limited access facility along the river route is the most reasonable solution to the long term traffic congestion and neighborhood eroding problems of the city."

"Therefore, it is recommended that a crosstown connector along the river route be studied and implemented if found economically and environmentally feasible."

Specific recommendations aimed for improved arterial traffic flow included widening Napier avenue from Niles avenue to Riverwood Terrace to four lanes; allowing right turns on blinking red arrow off Napier onto Niles avenue and off Niles onto Napier; widening intersection at Niles and Main for easier turning; and installing physical divider on Niles avenue in the Southtown business area.

Final arterial improvement recommendation is to widen the intersection of Cleveland avenue and Hilltop road, install traffic signal and widen Hilltop to four lanes. The planners said this area is reaching critical proportions of over-congestion.

Under the classification of neighborhood preservation the planners recommended closing St. Joseph drive and Lester avenue and making it inconvenient for motorists to use such residential (local) streets as Langley, Highland, Morton, Van Brunt, Columbia, Botham and State. This would be done by prohibiting trucks and sprinkling stop signs at many intersections.

The regional planners recommendations are strictly advisory. The regional planners' report was presented by James Muldoon and John Kowalskie.

BH Official New Chief Of Airport

Ronald Momany Chosen
By Ross Field Board

The Twin City Airport board Thursday appointed Ronald S. Momany, 38, as manager of Ross field to succeed retiring Edward S. Weisbruch. The appointment is effective Jan. 30. Momany said he will resign effective Jan. 29 as director of administrative services for the City of Benton Harbor. He has been a Benton Harbor city official since 1966.

Momany's salary as airport manager will start at the rate of $17,500 annually with a review after six months. Momany said his salary as city director of administrative services was $20,000 for this fiscal year. Weisbruch's salary was $18,200.

The airport board also voted a $200 monthly raise for Ross Spencer, assistant airport manager, setting his salary at $12,400 a year.

The board authorized retention of Weisbruch as a part-time consultant at $9 an hour to help break in Momany as new manager.

Momany's business career has been in finance and administration. John Banyon, airport board chairman, said, "We needed someone who was an administrator. A man with aviation experience was not essential."

Banyon noted the airport had enough aviation experience through other employees and board members. Banyon is a certified pilot. The airport also has a control tower manned by a federal crew.

Banyon said: "Our prime consideration in hiring a new manager was in getting a man with a proven track record in administration and financing."

The airport board's vote to name Momany was unanimous. Voting for his appointment were Banyon, Joe Carver, Don Ranum, Dr. Harzel Taylor, Edward Tiscornia, Gerald Hepler and E.A. Larson. Board members absent were Melvin Farmer Jr., acting Benton Harbor city manager, and Clinton Raines.

Momany has been director of administrative services for Benton Harbor since November, 1974. The job entailed being personnel director, administration of wage and classification plan, merit system and labor contracts.

He previously was the city's director of finance for five years and assistant director of finance from 1966 to 1969.

Momany was employed eight years by Farmers and Merchants National bank before joining the city staff. He was a teller, 1958 to 1963, and assistant cashier and manager of the Fairplain Plaza branch, 1963-66.

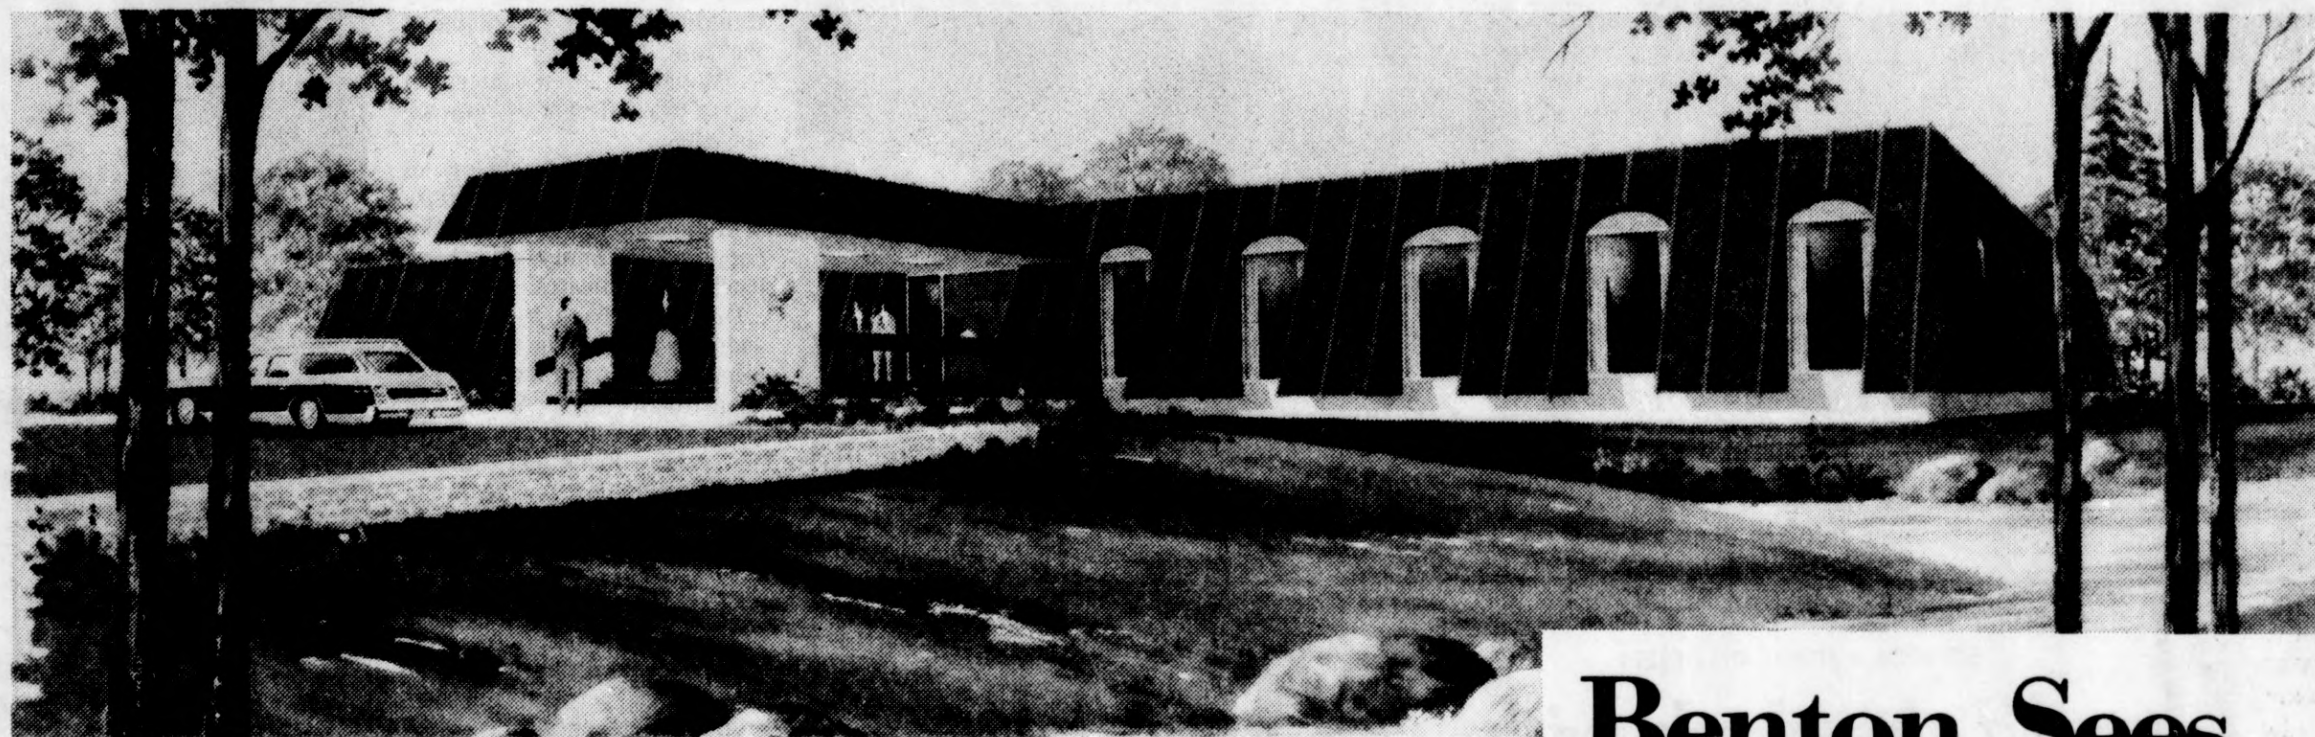

He is a graduate of Lake Michigan college and has taken courses in accounting, finance and business law many courses through the American Institute of Banking.

Momany will be the second high Benton Harbor official to leave office within a month. Charles A. Morrison was terminated as city manager Dec. 31 when his contract was not renewed.

SJ Teacher Works In Two Different Worlds

By MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

Evangeline Askin has one employer, the St. Joseph school system, but she works in two different worlds.

Mrs. Askin teaches kindergarten at Jefferson elementary school in the mornings. In the afternoons she changes worlds and teaches business classes at St. Joseph high school.

She says it's no problem making the mid-day change. Jefferson's principal, Daly Macgrayne, said one day as she was leaving Jefferson for the high school, "There goes Vangie, off to her other world." But Mrs. Askin says it's really not like that. "When I'm in the kindergarten room, my mind is consumed with kindergarten thinking. When I move to the high school room, I just give my thinking to what I'm doing at the time."

"Maybe it's even easier, going to two different extremes," she adds.

She holds a bachelor of science degree from University of Illinois, and has both secondary and elementary level teaching certificates.

Due to cutback in teachers and a decrease in the number of teachers needed in the business department, Mrs. Askin was given the two different jobs in the system. She's just finished credits in the last few years for her elementary certificate, and this is her first experience with the youngsters. She's taught at the high school level for several years.

There are differences and similarities between the age groups she teaches, according to Mrs. Askin. One of the major differences is the explaining or giving of assignments. At the high school level she can simply write instructions on the board, whereas in the kindergarten class much individual attention is needed for the children to grasp an idea. But both age groups, she says, seem to want to get right to the task and listen to as little talk about it as possible.

She says she gets to know a kindergarten student more personally than a high school student. She'd like to know her high school students better, but says it's difficult because she only sees them for one hour a day.

Also, with kindergarten

students there is so much they must learn in that first year and so many different basics she must teach to them, that she learns to understand the total personality of each student, whereas the high school is more task oriented.

Using her unusual job situation to the advantage of both age levels, Mrs. Askin came up with the idea of sending a high school child care class to work with her kindergartners one day a week, which has so far proven very successful.

A high school girl pairs up with the same kindergarten student each week to help with special projects, and consequently, both the youngster and young adult are benefited. The idea is also being used in Barbara DeVries' kindergarten class at Lincoln school in St. Joseph.

Mrs. Askin says she has at times recognized personality attributes in kindergarten students that are the same as some of her high school students', and now realizes, at the end of her first semester of teaching the youngsters, how especially important those first five years of a child's life are. She can see that their personalities at that age have already been basically formed. Mrs. Askin and her husband, Byron, reside in St. Joseph. They have two married daughters, a son at home, and one grandson.

She says she enjoys her unusual job situation. It has a lot of qualities that many people will never find in their jobs — variety, fast moving days, and rarely a "typically dull" moment.

CLUBS • CHURCH • FAMILY • FASHION SCHOOL • HOME • SOCIETY Around the clock with WOMEN

Roles Continue To Change

EAST LANSING — Literature, films and television might lead you to believe a woman's main role is that of homemaker and mother, but women's roles are changing, says Dr. Doris Lund, dean of Michigan State University's College of Human Ecology.

Speaking at MSU's Faculty Forum, Dean Lund shared facts that "revealed what is really happening today."

— In 1900, one of every 10 families was headed by a woman. In 1973, one in every eight families was headed by a woman. At latest count, a woman heads one in every 10 white families, and one in every three black families.

— There has been a sharp increase in the number of families reared by separated or divorced women and a sharper increase in the number of single (never married) women heading families.

— The median income of families headed by women has dropped six per cent since 1969, while the average income for all American families has increased 1.3 per cent.

— Women heads of families tend to hold lower-paying jobs, despite the fact they are better educated and their average employer is younger.

"A recent survey shows that women favor traditional marriage, but nearly half favor a marriage in which both spouses work, do household chores and raise the children," says Dr. Lund.

However, research shows that the woman, whether employed or not, still devotes much more time to family work than the man. The unemployed woman spends 56 hours per week for household tasks, while her husband only spends 11 hours. If the woman is employed, she contributes 42 hours a week in household work. However, the husband's 11-hour average contribution still does not increase.

Society "often" views motherhood as a woman's sole role. In actuality, only 12 per cent of a woman's life is spent in full time maternal care of preschool age children. But even though only seven of a woman's 65 adult years go to preschool child care, the traditional concept of women's work as "motherhood" tends to be held by both men and women. "More and more women are entering the labor force," stresses Dr. Lund. "In 1964, only 32 per cent of married women under age 35 worked. Ten years later, that rate increased to 48 per cent. And more women with children under three, are entering the work force."

Multiple-worker families are increasing rapidly. Today 57 per cent of all husband-wife families have at least one other family member (usually the wife) in the labor force, in addition to the head. "It is obvious that the traditional composition of the work force is changing. Married men still remain the largest component of the labor force, but their share is decreasing," confirms Dr. Lund.

Although affirmative action programs scored major victories for women in the job market, the recession has eroded many of these gains. Equal opportunity hiring has slowed to almost a standstill.

"On the whole, women are working in a man's world and are at the very bottom of the economic pyramid. The two major work barriers women experience are low wages and negative attitudes, held by both men and women," she adds.

Although research regarding women is being conducted more today than ever before, there are some drawbacks. "Too many of the research tools and techniques used were designed for use with men and are not functional with women. Researchers using different scientific methods arrive at completely different results," she says.

For example, some researchers conclude women are less aggressive than men, while others tell us no real difference exists.

Despite contradictions, most researchers have agreed on certain issues:

1. Women are people. At the beginning of this century women were regarded as not being able to make decisions by themselves.

2. Qualified women have lower status and lower incomes than men performing the same jobs.

3. Women can be more than wives and mothers.

4. From cradle to grave, women are discriminated against in the arenas of education and work.

"These research conclusions bring no earthshaking breakthroughs. But to get institutional changes, proof of discrimination and mistreatment is required. Research on women is beginning to provide not only the tools essential for achieving change, but the tools necessary for determining the direction the change must take to be effective," she emphasizes.

Dr. Lund believes the institutional changes will be made, but both men and women will have to compromise greatly.

"One of the greatest barriers to women's success is lack of confidence. Although it is important that men's attitudes adjust to include women's rights, it is equally as important that women believe in themselves," she stresses.

"Women's search for equality raises some very basic questions about the structure of society, about the organization of work, the justifications for men's generating potent pressure for social change. The social adjustments required will affect all of us, men and women alike," she concludes.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

SJ Teacher Works In Two Different Worlds

By MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

Evangeline Askin has one employer, the St. Joseph school system, but she works in two different worlds.

Mrs. Askin teaches kindergarten at Jefferson elementary school in the mornings. In the afternoons she changes worlds and teaches business classes at St. Joseph high school.

She says it's no problem making the mid-day change. Jefferson's principal, Daly Macgrayne, said one day as she was leaving Jefferson for the high school, "There goes Vangie, off to her other world." But Mrs. Askin says it's really not like that. "When I'm in the kindergarten room, my mind is consumed with kindergarten thinking. When I move to the high school room, I just give my thinking to what I'm doing at the time."

"Maybe it's even easier, going to two different extremes," she adds.

She holds a bachelor of science degree from University of Illinois, and has both secondary and elementary level teaching certificates.

Due to cutback in teachers and a decrease in the number of teachers needed in the business department, Mrs. Askin was given the two different jobs in the system. She's just finished credits in the last few years for her elementary certificate, and this is her first experience with the youngsters. She's taught at the high school level for several years.

There are differences and similarities between the age groups she teaches, according to Mrs. Askin. One of the major differences is the explaining or giving of assignments. At the high school level she can simply write instructions on the board, whereas in the kindergarten class much individual attention is needed for the children to grasp an idea. But both age groups, she says, seem to want to get right to the task and listen to as little talk about it as possible.

She says she gets to know a kindergarten student more personally than a high school student. She'd like to know her high school students better, but says it's difficult because she only sees them for one hour a day.

Also, with kindergarten

students there is so much they must learn in that first year and so many different basics she must teach to them, that she learns to understand the total personality of each student, whereas the high school is more task oriented.

Using her unusual job situation to the advantage of both age levels, Mrs. Askin came up with the idea of sending a high school child care class to work with her kindergartners one day a week, which has so far proven very successful.

A high school girl pairs up with the same kindergarten student each week to help with special projects, and consequently, both the youngster and young adult are benefited. The idea is also being used in Barbara DeVries' kindergarten class at Lincoln school in St. Joseph.

Mrs. Askin says she has at times recognized personality attributes in kindergarten students that are the same as some of her high school students', and now realizes, at the end of her first semester of teaching the youngsters, how especially important those first five years of a child's life are. She can see that their personalities at that age have already been basically formed. Mrs. Askin and her husband, Byron, reside in St. Joseph. They have two married daughters, a son at home, and one grandson.

She says she enjoys her unusual job situation. It has a lot of qualities that many people will never find in their jobs — variety, fast moving days, and rarely a typically "dull" moment.

Roles Continue To Change

EAST LANSING — Literature, films and television might lead you to believe a woman's main role is that of homemaker and mother, but women's roles are changing, says Dr. Doris Lund, dean of Michigan State University's College of Human Ecology.

Speaking at MSU's Faculty Forum, Dean Lund shared facts that revealed what is really happening today.

— In 1960, one of every 10 families was headed by a woman. In 1973, one in every eight families was headed by a woman. At latest count, a woman heads one in every 10 white families, and one in every three black families.

— There has been a sharp increase in the number of families reared by separated or divorced women and a sharper increase in the number of single (never married) women heading families.

— The median income of families headed by women has dropped six per cent since 1969, while the average income for all American families has increased 1.5 per cent.

— Women heads of families tend to hold lower-paying jobs, despite the fact they are better educated and their average employer is younger.

says Dr. Lund.

However, research shows that the woman, whether employed or not, still devotes much more time to family work than the man. The unemployed woman spends 56 hours per week for household tasks, while her husband only spends 11 hours. If the woman is employed, she contributes 42 hours a week in household work. However, the husband's 11-hour average contribution still does not increase.

Society often views motherhood as a woman's sole role. In actuality, only 12 per cent of a woman's life is spent in full time maternal care of preschool age children. But even though only seven of a woman's 65 adult years go to preschool child care, the traditional concept of women's work as "motherhood" tends to be held by both men and women.

"More and more women are entering the labor force," stresses Dr. Lund. "In 1964, only 32 per cent of married women under age 35 worked. Ten years later, that rate increased to 48 per cent. And more women with children under three, are entering the work force."

Multiple-worker families are increasing rapidly. Today 57 per cent of all husband-wife families have at least one other family member (usually the wife) in the labor force, in addition to the head.

"It is obvious that the traditional composition of the work force is changing. Married men still remain the largest component of the labor force, but their share is decreasing," confirms Dr. Lund.

Although affirmative action programs scored major victories for women in the job market, the recession has eroded many of these gains. Equal opportunity hiring has slowed to almost a standstill.

"On the whole, women are working in a man's world and are at the very bottom of the economic pyramid. The two major work barriers women experience are low wages and negative attitudes, held by both men and women," she adds.

Although research regarding women is being conducted more today than ever before, there are some drawbacks. "Too many of the research tools and techniques used were designed for use with men and are not functional with women. Researchers using different scientific methods arrive at completely different results," she says.

For example, some researchers conclude women are less aggressive than men, while others tell us no real difference exists.

Despite contradictions, most researchers have agreed on certain issues:

1. Women are people. At the beginning of this century women were regarded as not being able to make decisions by themselves.

2. Qualified women have lower status and lower incomes than men performing the same jobs.

3. Women can be more than wives and mothers.

4. From cradle to grave, women are discriminated against in the arenas of education and work.

"These research conclusions bring no earthshaking breakthroughs. But to get institutional changes, proof of discrimination and mistreatment is required. Research on women is beginning to provide not only the tools essential for achieving change, but the tools necessary for determining the direction the change must take to be effective," she emphasizes.

Dr. Lund believes the institutional changes will be made, but both men and women will have to compromise greatly.

"One of the greatest barriers to women's success is lack of confidence. Although it is important that men's attitudes adjust to include women's rights, it is equally as important that women believe in themselves," she stresses.

"Women's search for equality raises some very basic questions about the structure of society, about the organization of work, and the justified pressure for social change. The social adjustments required will affect all of us, men and women alike," she concludes.

Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Glads For 1976

Four new glads have been given the 1976 All-America Award, according to the All-America Gladiolus Selections, Inc., a non-profit corporation dedicated to the improvement of gladiolus.

Three of the winners, America, Spectacular and Lambkin, were created by internationally known hybridizer Carl Fisher of Noweta Gardens, St. Charles, Minn. Rudolph was originated by Dr. R.A. Griesbach, professor of genetics in the department of biological sciences at De Paul university, Chicago.

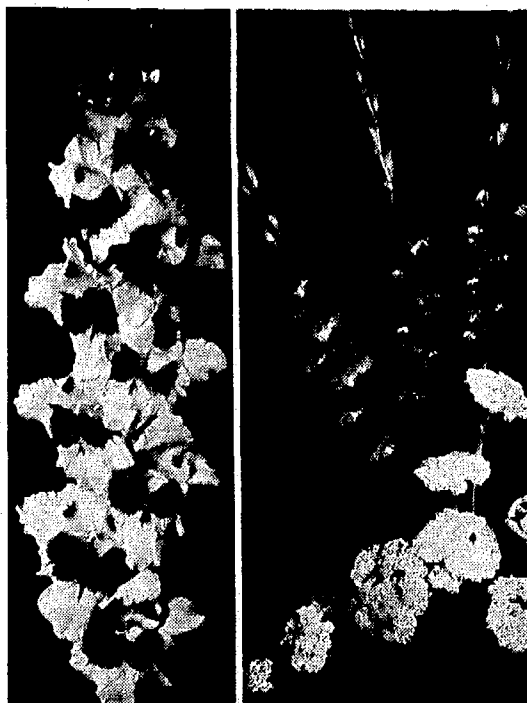

America, an early-blooming glad with five-foot spikes, is chalky-white with intense blood-red markings.

Golden yellow blooms edged with rose-red are found on Spectacular's five-foot stems.

Lambkin and Rudolph were named All-America miniatures. Lambkin features ivory-white florets and Rudolph is red with white stamens.

According to the All-America Gladiolus Selections, Inc., the glads are easy to grow and have been tested for home gardeners by the organization.

The judging is done by experts who donate their time and garden space. All entries are identified by number only. The few varieties that meet the demands of the rigorous test are awarded the honor — All-America Gladiolus.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Does Sexy Dress Invite Rape?

Dear Ann Landers: So often we hear people criticize women for looking sexy in their tight pants, see-through blouses, and short, short skirts. The thrust of the criticism is that they are inviting trouble. One of your readers wrote, "No wonder so many women get raped. The way they dress, they are asking for it."

I would like to quote an authority. She is Dr. Dorothy Hicks, Director of the Rape Treatment Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, Fla. According to Dr. Hicks, a woman's attractiveness has nothing to do with her chances of getting raped. "Rape is a crime of violence, not sex," says Dr. Hicks. "Some men rape as many as three women a week. Many have no idea what their victims looked like. For the most part, the rapist is an angry man who feels the need to abuse a woman in order to get even with a female he hates — usually a figure that goes back to his youth."

Dr. Hicks says women who are raped are the victims of

Dear Straight: Dr. Dorothy Hicks is indeed a respected authority, but she is talking about the classic rapist, the nut who rapes several times a week. There is another kind of rapist — the one who knows his victim, and most rapes fall into this category. These males DO know what the women look like and the rape is sometimes triggered by a see-through blouse, those short, short skirts and tight pants.

Louay Pets

Dear Ann Landers: I enjoy your column, but I don't always agree with your advice. Like today.

You missed a good opportunity to tell people not to give mice or ANY rodents as gifts. I learned my lesson with hamsters. My husband gave me a pair for my birthday. We thought they were so cute. But we didn't know a darned thing about their habits.

Soon we had 16. We gave the babies to everyone we could count on taking them. It wasn't easy. We still had more left than we wanted.

One evening my husband took three of the hamsters out of the cage to play with. One little devil disappeared. We looked for him for three days. When we finally found him he had already made a nest in my closet and chewed his way through a large box of stored sweaters and skirts. He also ate a hunk out of my finest bedspread. The hole was so big you could have put your head through it.

Rodents make rotten pets. Ask me — I know.

Dear Know: So does my daughter. When she bought her children hamsters she also took in a cat. I won't give the details, but they were grisly. Today she has neither hamsters nor cat.

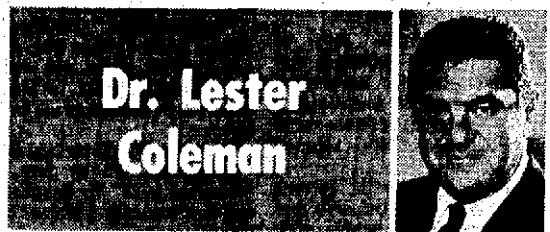

ANN LANDERS

The children are quite content with their dog, "Tosh."

CONFIDENTIAL to Searching And Not Finding: I'm not surprised. Happiness can't be found in any specific place. It isn't something you can capture and put in a jar like a butterfly. It's a state of mind that flows like water and shifts like the sands. The happiest people I know are too busy to ask themselves if they are happy.

Ann Landers discusses teenage drinking — its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope (13 cents now) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Dr. Lester Coleman

A few months ago, as she was leaving my office, she turned to me and said, "Even though you don't do anything for me, you make me feel good, so I love you."

This statement, explicitly defines for me the total psychosomatic concept of modern medicine. Although it cannot possibly be interpreted as a testimonial to my medical wizardry, it does highlight the important sub-structure of interpersonal communications between physicians and their patients.

The psyche (the mind) and the soma (the body) are a firmly bonded entity. They cannot be separated from each other in any phase of the practice of medicine and surgery.

Many people present themselves to their doctors overwhelmed by a sense of fear about the illnesses they may have or suspect they may have. Fear itself then becomes a debilitating illness which can erode and destroy personal happiness and tranquility.

Physicians today are aware of the ever-present aspects of anxiety and fear. They take them into consideration in every problem that is presented to them.

When the emotional forces in a medical problem are overlooked or neglected, the chances become greater that illness will be prolonged. Physicians agree that they rarely see a child, an adolescent or an adult who does not give evidence of some underlying fear.

Sometimes this fear is obvious. Often the physician must dig deeply into the emotional and social structure of the patient in order to bring his fear and anxiety to the surface.

The art of medicine frequently revolves about "doing nothing" but alleviating the distress that is so devastating.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

That's Style

If there is anything I admire in this world, it's people with "style."

Like the guy I read about last week who broke out of prison, secured a horse at the gate, and galloped down the road to freedom like a country gentleman.

That's "style."

Some of us go through life with the labels hanging out of our dresses, and our stomachs rumbling like a volcano during benediction. Our fresh chickens leak through the bottom of our grocery bags. Our curlers make creases in our faces that only surgery can erase, and on the first day we wear white shoes, we get an unseasonal snowfall.

I have a friend with "style." Her name is Wheezie. Wheezie has a snout full of style and confidence. When she sees a line, she goes to the head of it. Whenever she drives to the supermarket, she aims for a space right outside the door (and gets it).

One day as I slid into the car next to Wheezie, she said, "Your belt is caught in the door and is flapping on the outside."

I opened the door and reeled it in. Suddenly I became resentful. "Wheezie, do you know what it is like to go through life with your pantyhose on backward?"

"What are you talking about?" she asked.

"I'm talking about you. You never perspire. You never bite into a ham sandwich and get a clump of fat. You always have the right change for the restroom. You never rush up to a familiar face at the airport and say, 'Hi there. Nice to see you again,' and realize it's the man who cleaned your septic tank. You always realize you have a drink in your hand before you shake hands. You always unplug your iron when you go on vacation. You remember the names and ages of your kids."

"Oh, come on..." she said.

"Shut up, Wheezie!" I snapped. "I've got to get this out of my system. Do you remember when we went to a luncheon and I had to introduce a speaker? I got two celery seeds stuck in my front teeth that looked like cavities."

"I suppose so," she shrugged.

"Do you know what I think? I think if you escaped from prison, you'd con someone out of a horse at the gate and ride too; instead of crawling along the ditches."

"Don't be ridiculous, darling," she laughed. "I'd call a cab."

How do you use the Jacoby transfer on your way to a slam? You start with the transfer and then bid a new suit. This new suit call is a game force. It may show a two-suit hand. It may just show a feature.

South starts with a transfer to two hearts. His next bid of three diamonds is a game force. North has just 16 points for his notrump, but if South actually has both red suits, North's hand becomes very slammy. His second rebid of three spades shows this slam interest. Without slam interest North would rebid three hearts, three notrump or four diamonds.

South merely goes to four diamonds next to confirm the fact that he really holds a heart-diamond two-suit hand.

North is really encouraged now and bids five clubs as a cue bid at the five level.

South does not know whether North likes diamonds or hearts. It does not matter to him. He jumps to six diamonds, knowing that North will go to six hearts if he likes that suit.

The slam with 16 opposite 12 is a cinch even though neither hearts nor diamonds break evenly.

The bidding is opened to your left with one spade; your partner bids two clubs and right-hand opponent two spades.

We take a decisive stand here and either pass or bid three hearts. We do have a slight preference for the pass.

Does Sexy Dress Invite Rape?

Dear Ann Landers: So often we hear people criticize women for looking sexy in their tight pants, see-through blouses, and short, short skirts. The thrust of the criticism is that they are inviting trouble. One of your readers wrote, "No wonder so many women get raped. The way they dress, they are asking for it."

I would like to quote an authority. She is Dr. Dorothy Hicks, Director of the Rape Treatment Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, Fla. According to Dr. Hicks, a woman's attractiveness has nothing to do with her chances of getting raped. "Rape is a crime of violence, not sex," says Dr. Hicks. "Some men rape as many as three women a week. Many have no idea what their victims looked like. For the most part, the rapist is an angry man who feels the need to abuse a woman in order to get even with a female he hates — usually a figure that goes back to his youth."

Dr. Hicks says women who are raped are the victims of

Dear Straight: Dr. Dorothy Hicks is indeed a respected authority, but she is talking about the classic rapist, the nut who rapes several times a week. There is another kind of rapist — the one who knows his victim, and most rapes fall into this category. These males DO know what the women look like and the rape is sometimes triggered by a see-through blouse, those short, short skirts and tight pants.

Lousy Pets

Dear Ann Landers: I enjoy your column, but I don't always agree with your advice. Like today.

You missed a good opportunity to tell people not to give mice or ANY rodents as gifts. I learned my lesson with hamsters. My husband gave me a pair for my birthday. We thought they were so cute. But we didn't know a darned thing about their habits.

Soon we had 16. We gave the babies to everyone we could get into taking them. It wasn't easy. We still had more left than we wanted.

One evening my husband took three of the hamsters out of the cage to play with. One little devil disappeared. We looked for him for three days. When we finally found him he had already made a nest in my closet and chewed his way through a large box of stored sweaters and skirts. He also ate a hunk out of my finest bedspread. The hole was so big you could have put your head through it.

Rodents make rotten pets. Ask me — I know.

Dear Know: So does my daughter. When she bought her children hamsters she also took in a cat. I won't give the details, but they were grisly. Today she has neither hamsters nor cat.

CONFIDENTIAL to Searching And Not Finding: I'm not surprised. Happiness can't be found in any specific place. It isn't something you can capture and put in a jar like a butterfly. It's a state of mind that flows like water and shifts like the sands. The happiest people I know are too busy to ask themselves if they are happy.

Ann Landers discusses teenage drinking — its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope (13 cents now) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

An 89-year-old woman who had been a patient of mine for 20 years recently exhibited to me the ultimate that I could hope for in a doctor-patient relationship.

I had operated on her, and for many years since she has returned for an occasional check-up. For a woman of her age she is in excellent health and needs only special assurances to relieve her anxiety.

A few months ago, as she was leaving my office, she turned to me and said, "Even though you don't do anything for me, you make me feel good, so I love you."

This statement explicitly defines for me the total psychosomatic concept of modern medicine. Although it cannot possibly be interpreted as a testimonial to my medical wizardry, it does highlight the important sub-structure of interpersonal communications between physicians and their patients.

The psyche (the mind) and the soma (the body) are a firmly bonded entity. They cannot be separated from each other in any phase of the practice of medicine and surgery. Many people present themselves to their doctors overwhelmed by a sense of fear about the illnesses they may have or suspect they may have. Fear itself then becomes a deactivating illness which can erode and destroy personal happiness and tranquility.

Physicians today are aware of the ever-present aspects of anxiety and fear. They take them into consideration in every problem that is presented to them.

When the emotional forces in a medical problem are overlooked or neglected, the chances become greater that illness will be prolonged. Physicians agree that they rarely see a child, an adolescent or an adult who does not give evidence of some underlying fear.

Sometimes this fear is obvious. Often the physician must dig deeply into the emotional and social structure of the patient in order to bring his fear and anxiety to the surface.

The art of medicine frequently revolves about "doing nothing" but alleviating the distress that is so devastating.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

That's Style

If there is anything I admire in this world, it's people with "style."

Like the guy I read about last week who broke out of prison, secured a horse at the gate, and galloped down the road to freedom like a country gentleman.

That's "style." Some of us go through life with the labels hanging out of our dresses, and our stomachs rumbling like a volcano during benediction. Lawmaker: PSC 'Error' Costly

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In a second volley over a so-called Michigan Bell overcharge to its customers, state Rep. Howard Wolpe on Thursday called the incident "a very costly error to the ratepayer."

Wolpe charged state Public Service Commission (PSC) chairman Daniel Demlow with "responding defensively to protect his staff," which Wolpe says knew of an accounting discrepancy, but did not speak up about it.

Wolpe, who heads a legislative committee probing PSC activities, says that negligence led to PSC approval of a $24.7 million Michigan Bell rate increase in December 1973. The increase was too high, and overcharged Bell's 1974 customers by $10 to $12 million, he says.

But Demlow said Thursday, "I think it's ridiculous for Howard to continue this asinine exchange. This is no different than 50 or 100 other issues before the commission in every rate case."

He said the issue was too complex to be treated so simply. Typical PSC policy is to pass on ("flow through") to consumers any tax benefits Michigan Bell enjoys. Customers benefit by getting lower rates.

The exceptions are certain categories of benefits that must be "deferred" in a company's accounts in order for the company to benefit.

In December 1973, shortly before the PSC ruled on Bell's rate request, PSC accountants noticed a new tax benefit listed on Bell's books. The benefit was related to removing equipment from operation.

Since this was the first time that tax benefit was on the Bell books, Demlow says, PSC accountants weren't sure whether it was an exception to PSC policy or not.

Wolpe says the issue is clear: "The policy was flow-through unless the company asked permission to list it otherwise." PSC accountants violated PSC policy, Wolpe says, by not pointing out the situation to the commissioners and asking that a decision on the case be postponed.

But Demlow says PSC accountants knew little about how the new tax benefit should be listed, or what instructions the Internal Revenue Service or Federal Communication Commission would give on it.

He said a decision on the Bell rate case would have had to be delayed by several months until accountants got a clear idea of which listing was proper.

The PSC will decide a formal policy on the matter in pending cases, and rebates are possible only if it decides the benefits should be "flowed through," Demlow said Thursday.

Fugitive Warrant Issued For Payroll Firm's Chief

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The U.S. Attorney's office on Thursday issued a fugitive warrant for James Robert Redican, president of a payroll accounting firm which issued bad checks and then closed.

The action means the FBI can now join the nationwide search for Redican, whom authorities believe may have left the state.

Redican, 37, is sought for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Reports on Redican's whereabouts were as confusing as his real identity and his firm's operations.

Authorities spent almost two days seeking a Thomas J. Redican, 42, in connection with the closing of Computer Payroll & Accounting Services before learning they were after the wrong man.

Not until officials from seven counties, State Police and the FBI sat down together Wednesday was it disclosed the man sought had borrowed the name and age of an elder brother during the three to five years the business had been in operation.

Donald Johnston, deputy Kent County prosecutor and spokesman for the law enforcement agencies involved in the complex case, said the real Thomas J. Redican is believed to be living in Hawaii.

Johnston said Wednesday that Redican was reported heading toward New York, where he may have relatives. But hours later, Johnston reported new information indicated Redican may be in the Lansing area.

Jack Redican has not been available at his business in the last two days and efforts to reach him at home have been unsuccessful.

James Redican is sought on a Kent County larceny warrant involving the $6,899 payroll for a non-profit nursing home in Grand Rapids. Johnston said more charges may follow but so far it appears only Redican was involved.

The search of company records was conducted under the eyes of Maurice A. Edleman, a receiver appointed by U.S. Bankruptcy Court Judge David Nims Jr. said he took the unusual action to make sure any assets of Redican and his firm are secure in case no one was left to protect them.

Computer Payroll paid employees of its clients with its own checks, then was reimbursed by the clients and received a bookkeeping fee. All its checks were handled originally through a single account at Kentwood National Bank.

When checks began bouncing in mid-December, most clients had to pay their workers again from their own funds. One Kalamazoo firm reported being out $70,000 for a single payroll. Total losses remained shrouded in mystery Thursday although the official probe into the firm's activities started eight days earlier.

Authorities still are unable to say how many customers the firm had through its offices in Kentwood, Lansing and Kalamazoo.

Fugitive Warrant Issued For Payroll Firm's Chief

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The U.S. Attorney's office on Thursday issued a fugitive warrant for James Robert Redican, president of a payroll accounting firm which issued bad checks and then closed.

The action means the FBI can now join the nationwide search for Redican, whom authorities believe may have left the state.

Redican, 37, is sought for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Reports on Redican's whereabouts were as confusing as his real identity and his firm's operations.

Authorities spent almost two days seeking a Thomas J. Redican, 42, in connection with the closing of Computer Payroll & Accounting Services before learning they were after the wrong man.

Not until officials from seven counties, State Police and the FBI sat down together Wednesday was it disclosed the man sought had borrowed the name and age of an elder brother during the three to five years the business had been in operation.

Donald Johnston, deputy Kent County prosecutor and spokesman for the law enforcement agencies involved in the complex case, said the real Thomas J. Redican is believed to be living in Hawaii.

Johnston said Wednesday that Redican was reported heading toward New York, where he may have relatives. But hours later, Johnston reported new information indicated Redican may be in the Lansing area.

Jack Redican has not been available at his business in the last two days and efforts to reach him at home have been unsuccessful.

James Redican is sought on a Kent County larceny warrant involving the $6,800 payroll for a non-profit nursing home in Grand Rapids. Johnston said more charges may follow but so far it appears only Redican was involved.

The search of company records was conducted under the eyes of Maurice A. Edleman, a receiver appointed by U.S. Bankruptcy Court. Judge David Nims Jr. said he took the unusual action to make sure any assets of Redican and his firm are secure in case no one was left to protect them.

Computer Payroll paid employees of its clients with its own checks, then was reimbursed by the clients and received a bookkeeping fee. All its checks were handled originally through a single account at Kentwood National Bank.

When checks began bouncing in mid-December, most clients had to pay their workers again from their own funds. One Kalamazoo firm reported being out $70,000 for a single payroll.

Total losses remained shrouded in mystery Thursday although the official probe into the firm's activities started eight days earlier.

Authorities still are unable to say how many customers the firm had through its offices in Kentwood, Lansing and Kalamazoo.

Lawmaker: PSC 'Error' Costly

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In a second volley over a so-called Michigan Bell overcharge to its customers, state Rep. Howard Wolpe on Thursday called the incident "a very costly error to the ratepayer."

Wolpe charged state Public Service Commission (PSC) chairman Daniel Demlow with "responding defensively to protect his staff," which Wolpe says knew of an accounting discrepancy, but did not speak up about it.

Wolpe, who heads a legislative committee probing PSC activities, says that negligence led to PSC approval of a $24.7 million Michigan Bell rate increase in December 1973. The increase was too high, and overcharged Bell's 1974 customers by $10 to $12 million, he says.

But Demlow said Thursday, "I think it's ridiculous for Howard to continue this asinine exchange. This is no different than 50 or 100 other issues before the commission in every rate case."

He said the issue was too complex to be treated so simply. Typical PSC policy is to pass on ("flow through") to consumers any tax benefits Michigan Bell enjoys. Customers benefit by getting lower rates.

The exceptions are certain categories of benefits that must be "deferred" in a company's accounts in order for the company to benefit.

In December 1973, shortly before the PSC ruled on Bell's rate request, PSC accountants noticed a new tax benefit listed on Bell's books. The benefit was related to removing equipment from operation.

Since this was the first time that tax benefit was on the Bell books, Demlow says, PSC accountants weren't sure whether it was an exception to PSC policy or not.

Wolpe says the issue is clear: "The policy was flow-through unless the company asked permission to list it otherwise."

PSC accountants violated PSC policy, Wolpe says, by not pointing out the situation to the commissioners and asking that a decision on the case be postponed.

But Demlow says PSC accountants knew little about how the new tax benefit should be listed, or what instructions the Internal Revenue Service or Federal Communication Commission would give on it.

He said a decision on the Bell rate case would have had to be delayed by several months until accountants got a clear idea of which listing was proper. The PSC will decide a formal policy on the matter in pending cases, and rebates are possible only if it decides the benefits should be "flowed through," Demlow said Thursday.

Meanwhile, Reagan was to take his campaign to Florida in his quest for the Republican nomination. President Ford's campaign manager, Howard H. Callaway, attacked Reagan's budget-cutting proposals on Thursday, calling the plan "a $80-billion boondoggle."

Regarded as one of the Senate's master tacticians, Byrd, 57, has been Senate Democratic whip — assistant majority leader — since he wrested the post from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in 1971.

Byrd has been testing the political waters for a possible presidential bid for some time, casting himself as a potential dark horse who might capture the nomination in the event of a convention deadlock.

Last week, Byrd authorized a campaign finance committee to work in his behalf and set up a campaign headquarters in Washington.

Byrd generally is regarded as a middle-of-the-road Democrat, although he is distrusted by some Senate liberals because of conservative positions he has taken on some issues and a background that included membership in the Ku Klux Klan in the 1940s — membership he now says he deeply regrets.

SEPARATED: Henry Ford II, 58, and his wife, Cristina, 48, have separated and are now living apart, according to Ford's attorney, Alan Schwartz. The Fords were married in 1965 and have no children. He's Off Wanted List

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fugitive believed to be a member of the elusive Weather Underground was in jail today, facing charges in the fatal University of Wisconsin bombing that put him on the FBI's most-wanted list for more than five years.

David Sylvan Fine, once a member of a campus radical group that spawned the revolutionary Weather Underground, waived a removal hearing here Thursday, one day after his arrest.

U.S. Magistrate Richard Goldsmith set bail at $1 million and ordered Fine returned to Wisconsin to face federal charges of sabotage, destruction of property and interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

Fine also is charged with murder in a Wisconsin warrant stemming from the bombing.

An anonymous tip from someone who recognized Fine from a wanted poster led FBI agents to a rented room where the slightly built, 23-year-old, apparently lived alone, federal authorities said.

Russian Cruiser Due In Angola?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet guided-missile cruiser is reported steaming southward along the West African coast, raising the possibility that it could eventually join other Russian Navy vessels in the Angola area.

The heavily armed Kresta 11 cruiser, which sailed out of the Mediterranean, was last reported off Mauritania.

Pentagon sources said the cruiser is expected to reach Conakry, Guinea, this weekend. Soviet naval vessels have operated out of Conakry for about three years, but defense officials said they do not yet know whether the cruiser will stop there or sail on south toward Angola to reinforce a destroyer and two other Russian ships already in those waters.

In any event, the appearance of the cruiser adds to the Soviet naval presence off Africa at a time when the United States is urging all outside parties to withdraw from Angola and leave settlement of the newly independent country's future to the Angolans.

The Pentagon underscored the Ford administration's concern Thursday while discussing the movements of a Soviet guided missile destroyer, a supporting tanker and an amphibious landing ship in the vicinity of Angola.

The Kotlin class destroyer and the tanker were about 100 miles off Gabon late Thursday and moving slowly southeastward. The tank landing ship, which has been in those waters for about a month, was said to be near Pointe Noir. This port in the Congo Republic has been a major inlet for Cuban and Soviet arms aid to neighboring Angola, according to U.S. intelligence.

The landing ship has between 100 and 150 Russian naval infantrymen aboard but no tanks, Pentagon spokesman William Greener said. Soviet naval infantrymen are similar to U.S. Marines and have been deployed routinely with Russian amphibious vessels at Conakry, in the Mediterranean and in the Indian Ocean.

Greener did not claim any military significance so far as the outcome of the Angola civil war is concerned, in the presence of the destroyer, landing ship and tanker at sea off the African coast.

Instead, Greener stressed concern that the presence of these Russian ships might be a signal of increased Soviet support for the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA). U.S. officials have accused Russia of pouring massive arms aid into Angola for MPLA forces battling anti-Soviet factions supported by the United States, several black African countries and white-ruled South Africa.

Phosgene, used in World War I as a poison gas, breaks down into hydrogen chloride and carbon monoxide.

"The air pollution hazard seems to be over," Smith said. "But I can't speak with authority until I get the final report from the field."

A spokesman for the state fire marshal's office said the cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Following the explosion, authorities said glass in cars in the plant's parking lot popped from the heat. Smoke was visible in South Bend, about 10 miles west of Elkhart, and a large pall of smoke drifted over Goshen, 10 miles south.

Searchers Find Human Remains In Rubble Of Elkhart Factory

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — Human remains were found Thursday by searchers probing the rubble of an aerosol packaging plant leveled by an explosion and fire, officials said.

Missing after the explosion hit the Accra Pac company about noon was Gail Parnell, 28 of Elkhart. Witnesses told police that they had seen the woman with her clothes aflame shortly after the first of a series of explosions that demolished the plant.

Another employee, Piyush Patel, 27, died in St. Joseph's Hospital in Fort Wayne from burns, state police said. He was one of six persons rushed to the burn center there in critical condition following the blast.

Officials of Accra Pac Inc. estimated damage in excess of $1 million and said the building would have to be rebuilt from the ground up.

A state police spokesman said a crane was being used to clear away most of the debris, but added clean-up operations were being hindered by light snow and slick roads.

Woodward Smith, acting chief of the air monitoring branch of the Indiana Board of Health's Air Pollution Control Division said the threat of toxic gasses appeared to be over for the area.

The board's Emergency Chemical Response Team was sent to the plant Wednesday because of the danger that normally harmless freon gas used in aerosols being converted to deadly fluorine and phosgene gases.

Tart Marketing Order Renewal Is Prime Goal, New CAB Manager Says

Amendments to the Federal Red Tart Cherry Marketing Order will be considered only if the order is renewed in March by grower referendum, says the acting general manager of the Cherry Administrative Board.

This course is opposed to one suggested by Frank Owen, former general manager of the board, who said last month that the order certainly needs amendment and that the board should at least suggest its proposed amendments before asking growers to continue the order for another five years.

Named to replace Owen between December and the March referendum was Del Rasmussen. He is a marketing specialist with the United States Department of Agriculture. The tart cherry order is one of four that he administered for USDA. He is on leave from Washington, D.C.

Rasmussen explained that the board has appointed a committee to suggest amendments to the act. The committee, however, will not meet until the results of the grower vote are known.

Among amendments informally discussed by the board are:

- Getting growers in the tart cherry growing states out West to join the order. Such a move would give the board more control of production and marketing, Rasmussen said.
- Changing the rules for diversion (leaving cherries unharvested in lieu of putting them into the reserve pool) so that losses from a natural disaster, such as this spring's blight of brown rot, would count as diversion.
- Exempting small growers from the order.

Owen, who resigned in December to become a consultant, further suggested that four reserve pools be established instead of the present one for frozen tarts. A simple majority of voters and tonnage is needed to continue the order; two-thirds of the voters must approve amendments.

DEL RASMUSSEN
Heads CAB

If the order is renewed, Rasmussen will decide whether to take the general manager's position full-time, he said.

He said the board asked him to fill in for Owen because it didn't want to hire and train an unfamiliar person for a job that could abruptly end in the spring. He is 40 and his wife and two children are still living in Washington, D.C.

To Curb Apple Tax Evasion

MAC Will Enforce New Law

Next apple season the Michigan Apple Committee will begin enforcing a law under which growers who avoid paying apple tax could be fined up to $100 a day.

Fred Hasler, manager of the committee, said plans are being made to hire an inspector for the apple season. It is hoped that the spot check inspector will be able to curb evasions of paying the tax which occurred this past season, he added.

Last fall, Hasler continued, an "influx" of out-of-state truckers came to Michigan, bought apples right on the farm and returned to their home states.

Farmers selling to these small operators, (who were buying fresh market apples) avoided paying the apple tax required under state law for use in advertising apples, Hasler stated.

"We really don't know how great the problem was," he said of the alleged failure of some growers to pay apple taxes. He said that growers in some areas are concerned that the problem was significant enough to do something.

The Enabling Act (P.A. 324) of 1965, under which the growers of apples and other commodities were allowed to organize for marketing purposes, was amended in December of 1974, he said. Before the amendment was passed penalties for dodging tax payment couldn't be enforced because the law was poorly written.

Now, according to Hasler, evasion of tax payment can result in a fine not greater than $100 for each day the tax remains unpaid. The penalty for late payment remains the same: an interest charge of one per cent for each month the tax is unpaid.

Hasler said that the evasion penalty was not leveled against any grower this past apple season.

If Food Inspection Division of Michigan Department of Agriculture is forced for financial reasons to lay-off inspectors this summer, the committee will hire one "on a temporary basis," Hasler said.

Inspectors from food inspection now inspect apples for quality and to see that the tax has been paid, along with their other duties, he added.

Fieldmen Will Meet

The Michigan Canners and Freezers Association will hold its annual Raw Products Conference Jan. 12 through 14 at the Hospitality Inn, Lansing.

Following combined Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning sessions, concurrent sessions dealing with cucumbers, and fruits and vegetables, will be held Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

Meets Set For Sheep Farmers

Meetings for sheep farmers will be held Jan. 12 and 13 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Martin high school, Allegan county.

Sheep Specialist Stephen Baertsche will discuss economics of a small ewe flock, nutrition and drenching on Jan. 12, and ewe nutrition during lambing, care of lambs and creep feeding Jan. 13. A registration fee of $2 will be collected.

Berrien Gets $40,000 In Conservation Funds

Berrien's cut of the $4 million allocated for carrying out soil and water conservation practices in Michigan will be about $40,000 this year, according to Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) gets its money from United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C. Nationwide, $85 million will be available for ACP practices.

Practices, approved by each county's ASC committee, grant farmers from 50 to 75 per cent of the cost of making approved improvements, Francis said.

Before a farmer is eligible for cost-share assistance, his proposed improvement must be approved by the county committee, Francis noted.

This year farmers who carry out any of 13 specific soil or water conservation measures are eligible for cost-share help, Francis said. Approved by the county committee this week were the following practices:

- For soil conservation, no-till planting for permanent sodding (not row crops), planting trees, improving a forest, planting an interim cover crop, liming, laying underground tile, establishing a permanent cover crop, constructing water diversions, erosion control structures or sod waterways.
- For water conservation, building a farm pond, animal waste storage facility or open ditches.

'Pregnosticator' To Be Explained At Swine Producers Meeting

The pregnosticator (also known as the sonoscope), a tool useful for the early detection of pregnancy in sows, will be shown Jan. 16 at Southwestern Michigan Swine day.

E. Dale Purkhiser, Southwestern Michigan extension swine specialist, said the $1,600 instrument which is the size of a big desk dictionary will be shown at the all-day meeting beginning at 10 a.m. at Armstrong Hall, Three Rivers.

Built in the late 1950's to measure meat characteristics of live animals (such as backfat thickness), it was discovered about five years ago that if the sonoscope is placed on the stomach of a sow and aimed at the uterus, pregnancy can be detected about 40 days after inception, Purkhiser said.

Normally, one cannot detect pregnancy in a sow until 75 to 90 days after inception, he added.

Named the pregnosticator, the instrument transmits sound waves through the animal and works like sonar: it shows whether a fetus is present in the animal's womb.

Purkhiser said none of the instruments are in the hands of Berrien swine producers. At the meeting farmers who have used the instrument will tell how its use can improve breeding efficiency. A number of other topics will be discussed.

Weed Control Meeting Jan. 13 At Galien High

Methods of controlling weeds in corn, soybeans, alfalfa and small grains will be discussed at a meeting at Galien high school, according to Clare Musgrove, Berrien extension director.

The meeting will be held Jan. 13 at 8 p.m. in the agriculture room, Musgrove said.

Van Buren Elects ASC Committees, Officers

Marshall Mohney, of Lawton, was elected chairman of the Van Buren county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee at the annual meeting recently.

The convention followed the election of Van Buren ASC township committees. Elected to each township committee, in order of chairman, vice chairman and member, were:

Smaller Wheat Crop This Summer

Based on the condition of Michigan wheat Dec. 1, a 1976 crop, five per cent smaller than the 1975 crop is forecast by the Michigan Crop Reporting service.

The service reports that Michigan farmers seeded one million acres of winter wheat in the fall, a three per cent drop from the 1,030,000 acres seeded in the fall of 1974.

Poor weather for planting and seed germination through the fall accounts for the predicted yield which is less than would otherwise be expected.

The nation's winter wheat seedlings for the 1976 crop are 57,237,000 acres, up two per cent from 1975 crop seedings. Estimates of next year's production call for a 1.5 billion bushel crop, nine per cent below the record 1975 crop. Planting weather is blamed for the reduction.

Michigan farmers produced 38.7 million bushels of wheat in 1975, three per cent more than in 1974. A nine per cent increase in acreage for harvest was offset by a two bushel decrease in the average yield per acre.

The yield per acre fell in 1975 because wheat suffered more damage than usual during the winter and cold weather in early spring caused wheat to green up slowly.

Yield per acre was 39.6 bushels for the 1974 crop, 37.6 bushels for the latest crop and is predicted at 37 for this summer's harvest.

Price per bushel and total value of the crop both fell in '75. In '75 farmers were paid an average of $3.10 a bushel, compared to the '74 average of $3.64. Value of the '75 crop was therefore $120 million, compared to the $136 million in 1974.

Tart Marketing Order Renewal Is Prime Goal, New CAB Manager Says

Amendments to the Federal Red Tart Cherry Marketing Order will be considered only if the order is renewed in March by grower referendum, says the acting general manager of the Cherry Administrative Board.

This course is opposed to one suggested by Frank Owen, former general manager of the board, who said last month that the order certainly needs amendment and that the board should at least suggest its proposed amendments before asking growers to continue the order for another five years.

Named to replace Owen between December and the March referendum was Del Rasmussen. He is a marketing specialist with the United States Department of Agriculture. The tart cherry order is one of four that he administered for USDA. He is on leave from Washington, D.C.

Rasmussen explained that the board has appointed a committee to suggest amendments to the act. The committee however, will not meet until the results of the grower vote are known.

Among amendments informally discussed by the board are:

— Getting growers in the tart cherry growing states out West to join the order. Such a move would give the board more control of production and marketing, Rasmussen said.

— Changing the rules for diversion (leaving cherries unharvested in lieu of putting them into the reserve pool) so that losses from a natural disaster, such as this spring's blight of brown rot, would count as diversion.

— Exempting small growers from the order.

Owen, who resigned in December to become a consultant, further suggested that four reserve pools be established instead of the present one for frozen tarts. According to Rasmussen, the board hasn't mentioned that possibility.

Votes to renew the order and to amend it won't be held at the same time because different majorities are needed for passage, he said. A simple majority of voters and tonnage is needed to continue the order; two-thirds of the voters must approve amendments.

DEL RASMUSSEN
Heads CAB

If the order is renewed, Rasmussen will decide whether to take the general manager's position full-time, he said.

He said the board asked him to fill in for Owen because it didn't want to hire and train an unfamiliar person for a job that could abruptly end in the spring. He is 40 and his wife and two children are still living in Washington, D.C.

To Curb Apple Tax Evasion

MAC Will Enforce New Law

Next apple season the Michigan Apple Committee will begin enforcing a law under which growers who avoid paying apple tax could be fined up to $100 a day.

Fred Hasler, manager of the committee, said plans are being made to hire an inspector for the apple season. It is hoped that the spot check inspector will be able to curb evasions of paying the tax which occurred this past season, he added.

Last fall, Hasler continued, an "influx" of out-of-state truckers came to Michigan, bought apples right on the farm and returned to their home states.

Farmers selling to these small operators (who were buying fresh market apples) avoided paying the apple tax required under state law for use in advertising apples, Hasler stated.

"We really don't know how great the problem was," he said of the alleged failure of some growers to pay apple taxes. He said that growers in some areas are concerned that the problem was significant enough to do something.

The Enabling Act (P.A. 324) of 1965, under which the growers of apples and other commodities were allowed to organize for marketing purposes, was amended in December of 1974, he said. Before the amendment was passed penalties for dodging tax payment couldn't be enforced because the law was poorly written.

Now, according to Hasler, evasion of tax payment can result in a fine not greater than $100 for each day the tax remains unpaid. The penalty for late payment remains the same: an interest charge of one per cent for each month the tax is unpaid.

Hasler said that the evasion penalty was not leveled against any grower this past apple season.

If Food Inspection Division of Michigan Department of Agriculture is forced for financial reasons to lay-off inspectors this summer, the committee will hire one "on a temporary basis," Hasler said. Inspectors from food inspection now inspect apples for quality and to see that the tax has been paid, along with their other duties, he added.

Berrien Gets $40,000 In Conservation Funds

Berrien's cut of the $4 million allocated for carrying out soil and water conservation practices in Michigan will be about $40,000 this year, according to Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) gets its money from United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C. Nationwide, $85 million will be available for ACP practices.

Practices, approved by each county's ASC committee, grant farmers from 50 to 75 per cent of the cost of making approved improvements, Francis said. Before a farmer is eligible for cost-share assistance, his proposed improvement must be approved by the county committee, Francis noted.

This year farmers who carry out any of 13 specific soil or water conservation measures are eligible for cost-share help. Francis said. Approved by the county committee this week were the following practices:

— For soil conservation, no-till planting for permanent sodding (not row crops), planting trees, improving a forest, planting an interim cover crop, liming, laying underground tile, establishing a permanent cover crop, constructing water diversions, erosion control structures or sod waterways.

— For water conservation, building a farm pond, animal waste storage facility or open ditches.

Smaller Wheat Crop This Summer

Based on the condition of Michigan wheat Dec. 1, a 1976 crop five per cent smaller than the 1975 crop is forecast by the Michigan Crop Reporting service.

The service reports that Michigan farmers seeded one million acres of winter wheat in the fall, a three per cent drop from the 1,030,000 acres seeded in the fall of 1974.

Poor weather for planting and seed germination through the fall accounts for the predicted yield which is less than would otherwise be expected.

The nation's winter wheat seedings for the 1976 crop are 57,227,000 acres, up two per cent from 1975 crop seedings. Estimates of next year's production call for a 1.5 billion bushel crop, nine per cent below the record 1975 crop. Planting weather is blamed for the reduction.

Michigan farmers produced 38.7 million bushels of wheat in 1975, three per cent more than in 1974. A nine per cent increase in acreage for harvest was offset by a two bushel decrease in the average yield per acre.

The yield per acre fell in 1975 because wheat suffered more damage than usual during the winter and cold weather in early spring caused wheat to green up slowly.

Yield per acre was 39.6 bushels for the 1974 crop, 37.6 bushels for the latest crop and is predicted at 37 for this summer's harvest.

Price per bushel and total value of the crop both fell in '75. In '75 farmers were paid an average of $3.10 a bushel, compared to the '74 average of $3.64. Value of the '75 crop was therefore $120 million, compared to the $136 million in 1974.

'Pregnosticator' To Be Explained At Swine Producers Meeting

The pregnosticator (also known as the sonoscope), a tool useful for the early detection of pregnancy in sows, will be shown Jan. 16 at Southwestern Michigan Swine day.

E. Dale Purkhiser, Southwestern Michigan extension swine specialist, said the $1,600 instrument which is the size of a big desk dictionary will be shown at the all-day meeting beginning at 10 a.m. at Armstrong Hall, Three Rivers.

Built in the late 1950's to measure meat characteristics of live animals (such as backfat thickness), it was discovered about five years ago that if the sonoscope is placed on the stomach of a sow and aimed at the uterus, pregnancy can be detected about 40 days after conception, Purkhiser said.

Normally, one cannot detect pregnancy in a sow until 75 to 90 days after conception, he added. Named the pregnosticator, the instrument transmits sound waves through the animal and works like sonar: it shows whether a fetus is present in the animal's womb.

Purkhiser said none of the instruments are in the hands of Berrien swine producers. At the meeting farmers who have used the instrument will tell how its use can improve breeding efficiency. A number of other topics will be discussed.

Weed Control

Meeting Jan. 13

At Galien High

Methods of controlling weeds in corn, soybeans, alfalfa and small grains will be discussed at a meeting at Galien high school, according to Clare Musgrove, Berrien extension director.

The meeting will be held Jan. 13 at 8 p.m. in the agriculture room, Musgrove said.

Short Course On Horses Scheduled

Cass county 4-H will host the Area Horse Science short course at Southwestern Michigan college Jan. 20 and 27 and Feb. 3, 10 and 17. Sessions will run from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Topics to be covered are: selecting a horse, nutrition, diseases and parasites, breeding and foaling, hauling horses and first aid. According to the 4-H office, registration fee is $10. Persons must be at least 14 to enroll.

Chinese Mourn Premier's Death

TOKYO (AP) — China today began a week of mourning for Premier Chou En-lai amid expectations that Teng Hsiao-ping, his 71-year-old first deputy, will succeed him as premier. But Chou's more powerful second son in the Communist party hierarchy may go to 39-year-old Wang Hung-wen, a vice chairman of the party and the boy wonder of Chinese politics. Chou, China's premier since the Communist victory in 1949 and one of the outstanding statesmen of the century, died Thursday at the age of 78. The announcement of the death was delayed for 16 hours. He had been in the hospital since he had a heart attack in May 1974, but cancer was given as the cause of death.

The Chinese Embassy in Tokyo said the funeral would be held in Peking Jan. 15. Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, announced a 107-member funeral committee headed by Mao Tse-tung, the 82-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party and for 40 years Chou's mentor.

Japanese correspondents in Peking reported that Communist party leaders met Thursday night at the Great Hall of the People. There was speculation that the central committee of the party was deciding on Chou's successor.

Observers believed the choice was sure to be Teng, a protégé of Chou who was purged in 1967 during the Great Cultural Revolution, returned to power in 1973 and has been running the government since the premier became ill.

Teng is considered a strong advocate of relations between China and the United States, and U.S. officials said because of this Chou's death was not expected to have an adverse effect on contacts between Washington and Peking. Teng became known to American television audiences when he was President Ford's host last month.

The news of Chou's death was announced to the Chinese people by a radio broadcast early today. The people of Peking were reported stunned and subdued even though they knew for

High Court Denies New Trial For Whalen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Supreme Court today denied former state Supreme Court Justice John Whalen's appeal for a new trial on a 1974 burglary conviction.

The court's action erases any possibility that Whalen might be released or retried for a 1969 jewelry store burglary on order of a state court.

But Whalen's attorney, N.C. Deday LaRene, said earlier he would take the case to federal court if the Supreme Court refused to grant Whalen another trial.

Whalen, the government's top witness against former state Supreme Court Justice John Swainson in a perjury bribery-conspiracy case, has been convicted twice on the burglary charge.

He now reportedly is in the custody of federal authorities in an undisclosed federal prison after a Lenawee County Circuit Court judge issued a bench warrant for his arrest last month.

LaRene was not immediately available to say if the state Supreme Court's decision would speed up his imprisonment in Michigan.

The Whalen story has recently included arson at his St. Clair Shores home. He also was taken briefly into custody after police found a $6,000 diamond necklace in his car, although no charges were filed.

Whalen also claimed he was abducted and tortured, and a government attorney charged in court that Swainson's attorney hired a man to intimidate Whalen.

Swainson was convicted of perjury, resigned from the Supreme Court, and is appealing his conviction. He was acquitted on bribery conspiracy charges.

In December, 1973, the Supreme Court — with Swainson on the bench — granted Whalen a new trial for a 1969 Adrian jewelry store burglary.

He was again convicted, and the Court of Appeals upheld the ruling. That action was agreed to in today's Supreme Court order.

"The high court said it was not persuaded that 'questions presented should be reviewed by this court.'"

Technically, the court's decision puts into immediate effect the Court of Appeal's November order to lift Whalen's $50,000 bond and imprison him on his six-to-10 year term.

Federal agents have agreed to let him assume another name during his imprisonment to avoid harassment.

In Adrian, Lenawee County Prosecutor Harvey Koselka said he was pleased by the ruling. He was contacted by the court moments after the decision was made public.

Koselka said the high court denied three motions filed by LaRene.

One request was for a lower bond, the second sought disqualification of the high court because of Swainson's former membership, and the third sought the other appeal, Koselka said.

Under an agreement with the government, time Whalen serves in protective custody will go towards his burglary sentence, officials reported.

Milliken Pay: $45,000

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken, who once ranked 11th among the state's highest paid executives, now is tied for the top salary at $45,000 a year. Also making that amount are Secretary of State Richard Austin and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Milliken ranked 11th because a year ago he reduced his pay to symbolize the state's need for austerity. That took it down to $42,525, instead of the $47,250 authorized by the state Officers Compensation Commission. At that pay, Milliken was exceeded by Austin, Kelley, the director of the Department of Mental Health and all seven Supreme Court justices. Mental Health Director Donald Smith is at $43,800, while high court justices make $43,500.

But in the current budget, Milliken indicated his pay should be pegged at "the previously authorized level" — which was taken to be the $45,000 set by the compensation commission for 1973-74.

Cleared Lawyer Hits Back

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney for former Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson says a federal prosecutor "degraded and demeaned" him by calling him before a grand jury. Attorney Konrad Kohl leveled the accusation Thursday at Robert Ozer, chief of the Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit.

Kohl appeared before the grand jury Wednesday, and Ozer later said the attorney had been cleared of any wrongdoing during Swainson's trial last fall. "I did nothing wrong at all," said Kohl, adding that "a mere accusation can be devastating in the public mind, mere accusation causes irreparable harm and damage."

Kohl said he did not plan to pursue the matter further, although Swainson said Wednesday he may sue Ozer.

Bicentennial Welfare Checks

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Bicentennial will stare Michigan welfare recipients in the face this year from the front of their welfare checks. The millions of welfare checks and state employee payroll checks that will be distributed in 1976 have a big '76' on their faces. Inside the loop of the '6' is an outline of Michigan's two peninsulas. "It's just something to indicate that the Treasury Department recognizes it's a Bicentennial year," said State Treasurer Allison Greene, who approved the design on the printing of the State Bicentennial Commission. The logotype, which replaces a drawing of the State Capitol on the checks, is identical to the commission's logo.

Some 14 million checks were issued to employees and welfare recipients in 1975.

Error May Mean More Cash

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State officials are deciding whether to appeal a court ruling that could grant $74,363 to some intermediate school districts because of an error in computing 1973-74 school aid. The Court of Appeals said Thursday state officials withheld too much money — $23,944 — from Oakland Intermediate Schools in 1973-74. The ruling applied specifically to one case. But state school officials said the same method also was used to compute aid for 25 other intermediate districts. If the state is not successful in its appeal of the decision, it may have to divide a total of $74,363 among the 26 districts, officials said. The court ruled the state erred in reducing pro-rata the state aid to intermediate districts. Such a reduction violated requirements of the state School Aid Act that the districts receive an increase of not more than $1.50 per pupil but at least 10 per cent more than their 1972-73 allocation.

Jan. 15 Is Critical In LA Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strength of the doctors' slowdown in Southern California, protesting rising malpractice insurance rates, won't be known for sure until Jan. 15, officials say.

That's when the area's 10,000 or so doctors must pay insurance rates that have been increased, on the average, by 400 per cent. Some physicians would pay $40,000 a year for coverage.

The doctor's slowdown, involving decreased services or outright refusal to provide patient care except in emergencies, began Jan. 1. Patients refused treatment at private hospitals, hardest hit by the protest, have turned to the area's public facilities, swelling many beyond normal capacity.

The doctors say they — and, in turn, their patients — can't afford the insurance and that they dare not practice without.

Nilesite Acquitted Of Rape Charge

A Niles man accused of raping a 22-year-old woman was acquitted yesterday in Berrien Circuit court.

Jurors in Judge Chester J. Byrns' courtroom deliberated eight hours Wednesday afternoon and yesterday before returning the innocent verdict for Floyd Freeman Davis, Jr., 27, of 2254 Mulder drive, Niles.

Davis went to trial on a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct (rape), and was accused of using a knife to threaten the woman June 21 in Niles. Davis took the stand and admitted trying to have sexual relations with the victim, but said there was no knife and claimed the woman got angry when he failed to pay for the relations.

Opposing counsel during the three-day trial were St. Joseph Atty. Paul Jancha and Asst. Prosecutor Robert McDowell.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at the Robbins Brothers funeral home, Benton Harbor.

The normally quiet South Haven area has been wracked by two other violent deaths in the past six weeks. Mrs. Aretta Lou Ingraham, wife of a South Haven councilman and grocer, was shot and killed Dec. 1 as she attempted to call police during a holdup in the store. Miss Debra Knapp, a Michigan State university sophomore home for the Christmas holidays, was slain by a vicious knife attack on the night of Dec. 23.

According to the Associated Press, temperatures dipped into the middle and upper 20s in northern Florida and would remain cold again tonight. It was expected that citrus crops would not be harmed, but grove operators geared up to take whatever protective measures they could.

State Won't Extend Hours At Three Oaks License Office

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo township board learned last night that the Three Oaks license plate office operated by the secretary of state will continue to be open only on Wednesdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The information came in a letter from the secretary of state's office in Lansing which was a response to a letter from the board expressing concern over the fact that hours were curtailed at the Three Oaks office since last November.

The letter from Lansing noted that the secretary of state, Richard Austin, is attempting to reduce the number of contractual license plate offices in the state in favor of state-operated offices.

The Balsanek Insurance agency, New Buffalo, was awarded purchase of a township duplicating machine for $75. The firm was the highest of two bidders.

The board scheduled a special meeting for Monday, Jan. 12, to consider several matters including: a parks and recreation master plan being prepared by the engineering firm of Williams and Works, Grand Rapids; the appointment of a deputy treasurer; consideration of sending the supervisor, clerk and treasurer to a Michigan Township association budget seminar; and to hear the treasurer's report.

In other areas, the board approved an agreement with the cemetery board under which the township will have two streetlights installed at the cemetery to help protect against vandalism.

The township will bill the cemetery board on a quarterly basis for the cost of power for the lights, which was estimated at $9.20 a month.

Vocational Center Gets $912,000

CASSOPOLIS — The Lewis Cass intermediate school district has been awarded a $912,000 grant to be used toward construction of a proposed vocational skills center for high school students, according to Arthur Towe, superintendent. Towe said the grant was awarded by the state board of education as 50 per cent of the cost of the facility. The other 50 per cent would have to be raised locally, he said.

The grant was approved Tuesday night in Lansing by the state board, Towe said.

He said an election has been scheduled for March 15 in the intermediate district during which voters will be asked to approve a 1.9 mill levy to raise funds for the local share of the facility's cost.

The intermediate district embraces the four principal school districts in Cass county which are Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Marcellus and Edwardsburg.

Towe said that if the millage is approved the center would be built on a 10-acre site at Southwestern Michigan college in Dowagiac and would tentatively be completed in September, 1979.

Chinese Mourn Premier's Death

TOKYO (AP) — China today began a week of mourning for Premier Chou En-lai amid expectations that Teng Hsiao-ping, his 71-year-old first deputy, will succeed him as premier. But Chou's more powerful second son in the Communist party hierarchy may go to 39-year-old Wang Hung-wen, a vice chairman of the party and the boy wonder of Chinese politics. Chou, China's premier since the Communist victory in 1949 and one of the outstanding statesmen of the century, died Thursday at the age of 78. The announcement of the death was delayed for 16 hours. He had been in the hospital since he had a heart attack in May 1974, but cancer was given as the cause of death.

The Chinese Embassy in

Tokyo said the funeral would be held in Peking Jan. 15. Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, announced a 107-member funeral committee headed by Mao Tse-tung, the 82-year-old chairman of the Chinese Communist party and for 40 years Chou's mentor.

Japanese correspondents in Peking reported that Communist party leaders met Thursday night at the Great Hall of the People. There was speculation that the central committee of the party was deciding on Chou's successor.

Observers believed the choice was sure to be Teng, a protégé of Chou who was purged in 1967 during the Great Cultural Revolution, returned to power in 1973 and has been running the government since the premier became ill.

Teng is considered a strong advocate of relations between China and the United States, and U.S. officials said because of this Chou's death was not expected to have an adverse effect on contacts between Washington and Peking. Teng became known to American television audiences when he was President Ford's host last month.

The news of Chou's death was announced to the Chinese people by a radio broadcast early today. The people of Peking were reported stunned and subdued even though they knew for months he was gravely ill.

Messages of condolence came from all over the world. Among the senders were former President Nixon, who worked with Chou to bring an end to two decades of Chinese-American hostility, and President Ford.

Ford said Chou "left his imprint not only on the history of modern China but also on the world scene." Nixon said "only a handful of men in the 20th century will match Premier Chou's impact on world history."

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, whose negotiations with Chou cleared the way for Nixon's historic 1972 visit to China, said he was "one of the remarkable statesmen of modern times."

Toilet Explosions Plague Town

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Iowa (AP) — Mrs. Guy McCall says she's getting tired of cleaning up after her exploding toilet.

She's one of four residents of this southeast Iowa town of 300 plagued by mysterious septic tank explosions that cause water to shoot out of their toilets.

The first explosion came in late November when a loud boom sounded at the McCall home. Since then, she says, she has "stopped counting how often it happens." The explosions came three times last week and five times previously in a single evening, she says.

Three other residents in the same block have reported similar incidents. So far, little damage has been done, and no one has been hurt.

State officials have taken water samples for tests, but no answers have been found. The closest thing to a clue turned up when the local grain elevator discovered its LP gas tank was nearly empty.

Meanwhile, Mrs. McCall says all the residents are grateful for this week's sub-zero weather, which seems to have put at least a temporary stop to the blasts.

"When it warms up, we have trouble," she said. "This week has been so nice and cold and quiet."

High Court Denies New Trial For Whalen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Supreme Court today denied informer John Whalen's appeal for a new trial on a 1974 burglary conviction.

The court's action erases any possibility that Whalen might be released or retried for a 1969 jewelry store burglary on order of a state court.

But Whalen's attorney, N.C. Deday LaRene, said earlier he would take the case to federal court if the Supreme Court refused to grant Whalen another trial. Whalen, the government's top witness against former state Supreme Court Justice John Swainson in a perjury bribery-conspiracy case, has been convicted twice on the burglary charge.

He now reportedly is in the custody of federal authorities in an undisclosed federal prison after a Lenawee County Circuit Court judge issued a bench warrant for his arrest last month.

LaRene was not immediately available to say if the state Supreme Court's decision would speed up his imprisonment in Michigan.

The Whalen story has recently included arson at his St. Clair Shores home. He also was taken briefly into custody after police found a $6,000 diamond necklace in his car, although no charges were filed.

Whalen also claimed he was abducted and tortured, and a government attorney charged in court that Swainson's attorney hired a man to intimidate Whalen.

Swainson was convicted of perjury, resigned from the Supreme Court, and is appealing his conviction. He was acquitted on bribery conspiracy charges.

In December, 1973, the Supreme Court — with Swainson on the bench — granted Whalen a new trial for a 1969 Adrian jewelry store burglary.

He was again convicted, and the Court of Appeals upheld the ruling. That action was agreed to in today's Supreme Court order.

The high court said it was not persuaded that "questions presented should be reviewed by this court."

Technically, the court's decision puts into immediate effect the Court of Appeals' November order to lift Whalen's $50,000 bond and imprison him on his six-to-10 year term.

Federal agents have agreed to let him assume another name during his imprisonment to avoid harassment.

In Adrian, Lenawee County Prosecutor Harvey Koselka said he was pleased by the ruling. He was contacted by the court moments after the decision was made public.

Koselka said the high court denied three motions filed by LaRene.

One request was for a lower bond, the second sought disqualification of the high court because of Swainson's former membership, and the third sought the other appeal, Koselka said.

Under an agreement with the government, time Whalen serves in protective custody will go towards his burglary sentence, officials reported.

Milliken Pay: $45,000

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken, who once ranked 11th among the state's highest paid executives, now is tied for the top salary at $45,000 a year. Also making that amount are Secretary of State Richard Austin and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. Milliken ranked 11th because a year ago he reduced his pay to symbolize the state's need for austerity. That took it down to $42,525, instead of the $47,250 authorized by the state Officers Compensation Commission. At that pay, Milliken was exceeded by Austin, Kelley, the director of the Department of Mental Health and all seven Supreme Court justices. Mental Health Director Donald Smith is at $43,800, while high court justices make $43,500. But in the current budget, Milliken indicated his pay should be pegged at "the previously authorized level" — which was taken to be the $45,000 set by the compensation commission for 1973-74.

Cleared Lawyer Hits Back

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney for former Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson says a federal prosecutor "degraded and demeaned" him by calling him before a grand jury. Attorney Konrad Kohl leveled the accusation Thursday at Robert Ozer, chief of the Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit. Kohl appeared before the grand jury Wednesday, and Ozer later said the attorney had been cleared of any wrongdoing during Swainson's trial last fall. "I did nothing wrong at all," said Kohl, adding that "a mere accusation can be devastating in the public mind, mere accusation causes irreparable harm and damage." Kohl said he did not plan to pursue the matter further, although Swainson said Wednesday he may sue Ozer.

Bicentennial Welfare Checks

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Bicentennial will stare Michigan welfare recipients in the face this year from the front of their welfare checks. The millions of welfare checks and state employee payroll checks that will be distributed in 1976 have a big "76" on their faces. Inside the loop of the "6" is an outline of Michigan's two peninsulas. "It's just something to indicate that the Treasury Department recognizes it's a Bicentennial year," said State Treasurer Allison Greene, who approved the design on the printing of the State Bicentennial Commission. The logotype, which replaces a drawing of the State Capitol on the checks, is identical to the commission's logo.

Some 14 million checks were issued to employees and welfare recipients in 1975.

Error May Mean More Cash

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State officials are deciding whether to appeal a court ruling that could grant $74,363 to some intermediate school districts because of an error in computing 1973-74 school aid. The Court of Appeals said Thursday state officials withheld too much money — $23,944 — from Oakland Intermediate Schools in 1973-74. The ruling applied specifically to one case. But state school officials said the same method also was used to compute aid for 25 other intermediate districts. If the state is not successful in its appeal of the decision, it may have to divide a total of $74,363 among the 26 districts, officials said. The court ruled the state erred in reducing pro-rata the state aid to intermediate districts. Such a reduction violated requirements of the state School Aid Act that the districts receive an increase of not more than $1.50 per pupil but at least 10 per cent more than their 1972-73 allocation.

JORGE L. BORGES
Nobel contender

Latin 'Artist In Residence' At MSU Says He Loves U.S.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — His apartment mailbox lists him as "Borges, Jorge L." — Argentina's elderly, self-described "household pet" who likes westerns and the Marx Brothers but hates Charlie Chaplin.

The blind, courtly, 70-year-old linguistics buff is also a prize-winning writer of philosophical and metaphysical fiction. He is especially known for his collections of stories entitled "Labyrinths" and "Ficciones," and has long been considered a top contender for the Nobel Prize.

Borges is artist-in-residence this winter at Michigan State University, where he and an assistant are living in graduate student housing. He will conduct a graduate seminar and give free public lectures on literature. "The reason I am here is emotional," the soft-spoken Borges explained, a knobby cane resting near his leg. "I love the United States. My introduction came by way of Huckleberry Finn. The first books I ever read were by Mark Twain."

'Victims' Accused

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state attorney general has filed charges against six persons who allegedly staged a phony traffic accident and then sued the state uninsured motorist fund.

Agents of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's organized crime division and Detroit police arrested two persons on Thursday and were seeking three others. Authorities refused to identify those being sought, and said the identity of one alleged participant is still unknown. Arrested were Mildred Turner, 44, and Valinda Mallory, 23. They and the others were charged with conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses, which could carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine. The charges were filed in Detroit Recorder's Court.

The six were accused of filing a false suit of $112,000 against the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Two Berrien Sites Eyed For New Armory

Stevensville village council last night was told that a 10-acre tract within the village was one of two being considered as the site for a new National Guard armory.

Councilman Charles "Bud" Kerlikowski said National Guard officials will meet with him Jan. 22 to inspect the property, located off Ridge road, which he has offered to donate for the site. The other site under consideration is near Bridgman.

Kerlikowski said at present there is no access to his property but a road could be constructed off Pine street. Possible encumbrances are also being negotiated with nearby property owners George Ball or James Florian Sr.

"A decision on the site will be made by the end of this month, with construction to begin sometime this year," he said.

Kerlikowski first introduced the idea of a new armory to be built in the area at a September, 1974 meeting. At that time he said he was "97 per cent sure" the state and federal government would finance a $500,000 to $750,000 structure to be erected in the next five years.

No approximate cost for the proposed building was given last night, but the trustee did report facilities would include a large drill or meeting hall, kitchen and parking lot.

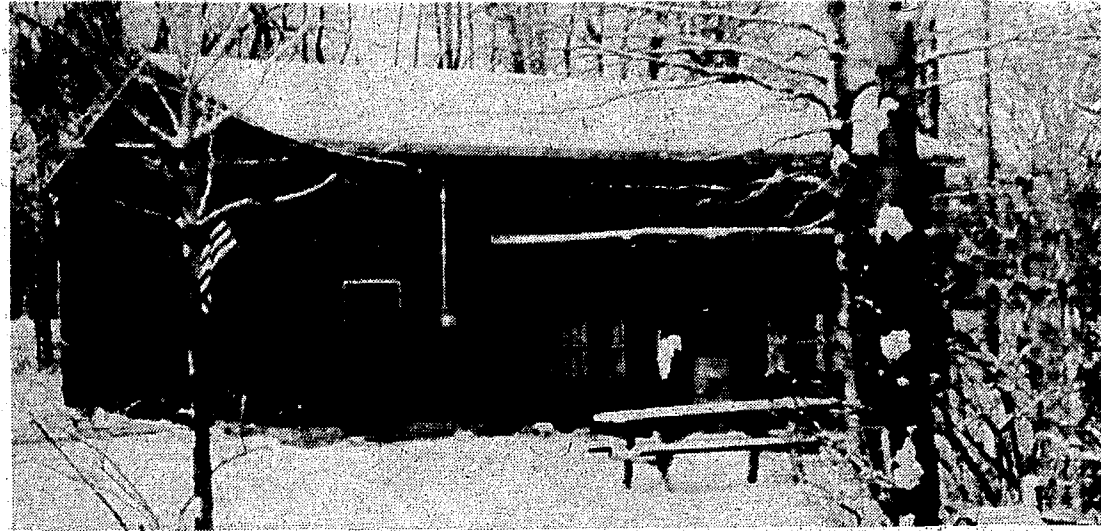

A plea to area governmental agencies to pledge additional funds over the next five years, to expand the size of the proposed armory to serve as an area-convention and civic auditorium as well as thus far failed, Kerlikowski said. No additions will be made to the structure once it is completed, he added.

The trustee stated National Guard officials in 1974 expressed dissatisfaction with their present facilities on Naval reserve property on the north pier in St. Joseph, near the St. Joseph river Coast Guard station, triggering the search for a new location.

In other business Richard Beck, police chief, reported he has removed the through-traffic directional sign at the Red Arrow highway-John Beers road intersection. Drivers may now use either lane to cross the highway, he said.

Permission was granted to the Miss Stevensville Blossom queen contest committee to erect a banner on John Beers road.

Nothing Really Impossible With A Little Help

Nino D'Agostino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic D'Agostino, Red Arrow highway, Bridgman, has learned how to solder and hopes to go into business for himself soon repairing refrigeration equipment.

That's unusual because D'Agostino, 22, is totally blind and has been since birth.

He completed a refrigerator and repair service course at Lake Michigan College last year. He then began looking for a welder who would teach him how to solder for repairing refrigeration equipment. No welder would take him; they said it was impossible to teach a blind person to solder.

"A lot of people told me I couldn't do it," D'Agostino said. "I almost gave up."

A friend of D'Agostino's contacted Carl Callaway, who has been in the welding business for more than 35 years and recently opened C & M Welding shop at 1301 East Empire, Benton township.

"I first felt that there was no way it could be done," Callaway, a retired general superintendent for Benton Harbor Engineering, said. But Callaway agreed to meet with D'Agostino and decided "If he can do the things he does, I can at least try to help him."

The pair tried a variety of methods in attempting to teach D'Agostino how to silver solder. Callaway first tried working with his eyes closed to simulate working blind. "I could see that it wasn't going to be easy," he said.

After several futile meetings, Callaway designed a steel cylinder device that fits like a sleeve on copper pipe to be soldered and guides the soldering wand around the area being soldered.

The idea worked and D'Agostino soon learned to solder copper tubing in refrigeration equipment. He now hopes to go into business repairing refrigeration equipment in the spring.

Despite his handicap, D'Agostino has also taken on other difficult challenges. He plays the organ and has taken skydiving lessons. He expects to take his first jump from an airplane soon, guided by a radio to direct him where to land.

Rat-Fighters Taking Aim At Downtown Niles Site

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Berrien county and state health officials will launch a rat eradication campaign in a small area near downtown Niles in two weeks.

Harry Adrounie, director of the environmental health division of the county health department, said yesterday the program will be launched Tuesday, Jan. 20.

The area consists of some four lots about one and one-half blocks south of the city police station on Third street.

Adrounie said the health department is acting on complaints from residents of the area. He said no major health problems have resulted from rats infesting a ravine located behind houses in the area.

Niles Mayor Robert Woodbridge said city officials began receiving complaints about rats in their yards about eight months ago. There have been no reports of rat bites, he said.

Adrounie said trash and garbage has been dumped in the ravine, serving as a haven for the rats. He said state and county officials would place poison in the ravine to eradicate the rats and then ask that trash be removed or covered so that the rats will not return.

Berrien Health Office Offers Parent Classes

The Berrien county health department will offer free "parenting skills" classes beginning Monday at the department offices, 789 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor.

Jerome Erickson, acting health department director, said the classes will include topics on parent-child relationships, communication, personal hygiene, infant care, dental health, and discipline. The classes will be informal, and will include a movie or filmstrip and discussions led by registered nurses.

Erickson said the classes, sponsored under the Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis, and Treatment program, are designed to help parents with their children and create a stable home environment.

Daily one-hour classes will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m., and health officials asked that citizens make an appointment for a session by calling the department.

Dowagiac Gets $381,375 Grant

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The federal Environmental Protection agency has formally approved $381,375 in additional grant money for construction of added sewer plant facilities in Dowagiac.

Approval of the increase was announced by Fourth Dist. Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-St.

Joseph).

The increase was based on construction bids that ran higher than what had been estimated, a spokesman for Hutchinson said.

The EPA approved a $2,582,230 grant in December. The additional grant funds brings to $2,963,625 the amount of money the city is to receive from the EPA.

Total cost of the project has been estimated by the EPA at $3,951,500.

The city also has an $800,000 low-interest loan from the federal Farmer's Home administration and a $197,575 grant from the Michigan

Petition Technicalities Delay Ruling On Central School

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A state ruling anticipated this month on whether the Berrien Intermediate school district will build a centralized school for the education of mentally impaired youngsters has been postponed.

The intermediate school board learned last night a decision by the State Board of Education has been delayed because objections to the centralized plan filed by the Parents Advisory Committee (PAC) were incorrectly adopted by the PAC.

A spokesman for the PAC reported the objections were re-adopted last night to put them in accordance with PAC bylaws and meet the deadline the state department of education had set for today.

The PAC objects to the centralized school plans and favors retention of two schools in St. Joseph and Niles. The plan is part of the intermediate district's overall special education plan, which must be approved by the state board of education before the intermediate district can build the facility in Berrien Springs.

Intermediate officials said the state education department's staff is studying the special education plans, and previously hoped to place its recommendation of the plans before the state board for consideration this month.

"Now it looks like late February or early March before we'll get a decision," Supt. Raymond Sreboth told this newspaper.

Special Education Director Walter Wend told the board last night the state education department found the PAC's objections were not adopted in accordance with the PAC's own bylaws.

The intermediate district wants to build a $2 million school in Berrien Springs to replace facilities now used for the education of mentally handicapped youngsters at Lakeview-Gard school in St. Joseph and Fairland school in Niles. The PAC favors upgrading those two schools rather than the central school.

In another matter, Sreboth told the board he anticipates a 1976-77 general operating budget of about $653,000, up about $30,000 from the present operating budget. He said the main reasons for the increase are because the district must now pay unemployment compensation and there will be an increased rental on data processing equipment.

Sreboth noted, however, the $653,000 figure is subject to paring by the board. He also added the budget will be reviewed and voted on when representatives of the intermediate district's constituent districts meet at the intermediate office on Feb. 26.

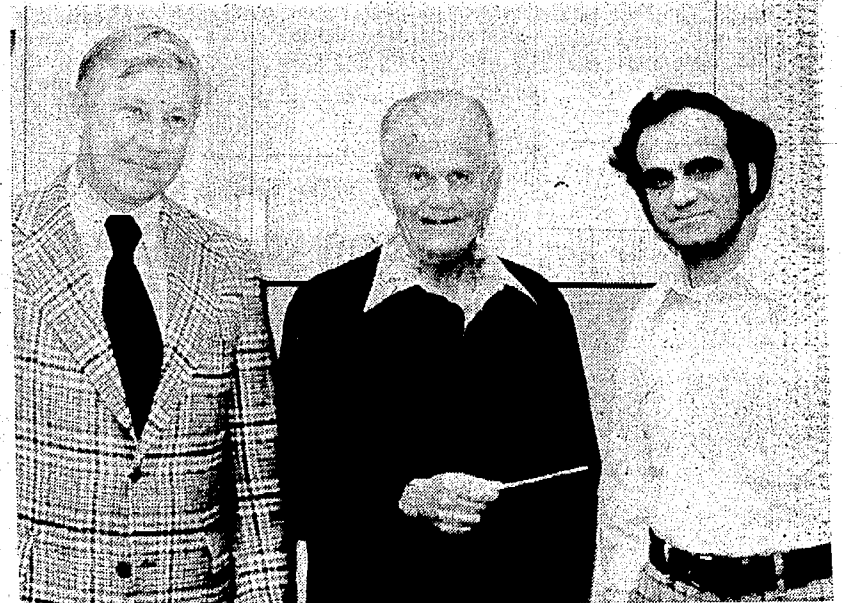

—Learned its denial of two property transfer requests which sought a change from River Valley to Bridgman school districts has been appealed to the state board of education. The appeals were filed by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Korcek, both of Dale road, Bridgman.

—Learned from Ben Winslow, coordinator for career education, that high schools in Berrien county have recorded a 39 per cent increase in enrollment of occupational classes over the 1974-75 school year. He said 5,341 students in grades 9 through 12 are enrolled in such classes out of a total enrollment of 12,689. Winslow also said the enrollment represented a 68 per cent increase since 1972.

'Save Trooper Post' Parley Slated Jan. 20

LAKESIDE — Supervisor Donald Peterson will represent Chikaming township at a Jan. 20 meeting in Lansing where New Buffalo area officials are expected to ask that the New Buffalo state police post be kept open on a 24-hour basis.

Mrs. Lena Abrahamson, township clerk, said the board last night instructed Peterson to attend the meeting with Berrien county Commissioner Carl Gnodtke.

Gnodtke appeared at last night's meeting and said he had arranged for the meeting with George Halverson, state police director, and that he was asking local officials to accompany him.

Two months ago, the township board went on record as vigorously opposing any effort to close the state police post during the night.

It has been reported that the New Buffalo post may be closed during the night in an effort to cut back the state police budget. All calls into the post then would automatically be transferred to the Benton Harbor post, which in turn would contact state troopers in New Buffalo.

In other areas last night, board members said it is important to the township that residents correctly fill in blanks on the 1975 federal income tax forms which deal with residency.

Mrs. Abrahamson said the federal census bureau will use information from the tax forms to determine the amount of federal revenue sharing money to be distributed to municipalities in 1976.

She said township residents should be careful to distinguish the difference between their mailing address and their actual residence location when filling out the form.

Board members also discussed complaints received from residents concerning volunteer firemen who, according to the citizens complaining, have been speeding while enroute to a fire in their personal cars. The board agreed to pass the complaints to the three fire chiefs in the township with the recommendation that firemen meet with state police to discuss driving rules.

The board heard a letter read from Weldon Burden, Berrien county director for the comprehensive employment and training act (CETA), who said there are no CETA funds available for the hiring of a radio dispatcher to be used for local volunteer ambulance agencies.

GIFT TO SCHOOL: Covert businessman H. George Leonard, right, is shown presenting $500 contribution to Covert school Supt. William Randall for loan program for Covert students wanting to further their education. Leonard, former school board member and longtime Covert resident, is president of Swing-Lo-Steel Suspended Scaffold company of Covert. Randall said student to receive interest-free loan to attend college or state-approved trade or vocational school will be selected by committee.

Rat-Fighters Taking Aim At Downtown Niles Site

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Berrien county and state health officials will launch a rat eradication campaign in a small area near downtown Niles in two weeks.

Harry Adrounie, director of the environmental health division of the county health department, said yesterday the program will be launched Tuesday, Jan. 20.

The area consists of some four lots about one and one-half blocks south of the city police station on Third street.

Adrounie said the health department is acting on complaints from residents of the area. He said no major health problems have resulted from rats infesting a ravine located behind houses in the area.

Niles Mayor Robert Woodbridge said city officials began receiving complaints about rats in their yards about eight months ago. There have been no reports of rat bites, he said.

Adrounie said trash and garbage has been dumped in the ravine, serving as a haven for the rats. He said state and county officials would place poison in the ravine to eradicate the rats and then ask that trash be removed or covered so that the rats will not return.

Dowagiac Gets $381,375 Grant

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The federal Environmental Protection agency has formally approved $381,375 in additional grant money for construction of added sewer plant facilities in Dowagiac.

Approval of the increase was announced by Fourth Dist. Rep. Edward Hutchinson (R-St. Joseph).

The increase was based on construction bids that ran higher than what had been estimated, a spokesman for Hutchinson said.

The EPA approved a $2,582,250 grant in December. The additional grant funds brings to $2,963,625 the amount of money the city is to receive from the EPA.

Total cost of the project has been estimated by the EPA at $3,951,500.

The city also has an $800,000 low-interest loan from the federal Farmer's Home administration and a $197,575 grant from the Michigan

Petition Technicalities Delay Ruling On Central School

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A state ruling anticipated this month on whether the Berrien Intermediate school district will build a centralized school for the education of mentally impaired youngsters has been postponed.

The Intermediate school board learned last night a decision by the State Board of Education has been delayed because objections to the centralized plan filed by the Parents Advisory Committee (PAC) were incorrectly adopted by the PAC.

A spokesman for the PAC reported the objections were re-adopted last night to put them in accordance with PAC bylaws and meet the deadline the state department of education had set for today.

The PAC objects to the centralized school plans and favors retention of two schools in St. Joseph and Niles. The plan is part of the Intermediate district's overall special education plan, which must be approved by the state board of education before the Intermediate district can build the facility in Berrien Springs.

Intermediate officials said the state education department's staff is studying the special education plans, and previously hoped to place its recommendation of the plans before the state board for consideration this month.

"Now it looks like late February or early March before we'll get a decision," Supt. Raymond Sreboth told this newspaper.

Special Education Director Walter Wend told the board last night the state education department found the PAC's objections were not adopted in accordance with the PAC's own bylaws.

The Intermediate district wants to build a $2 million school in Berrien Springs to replace facilities now used for the education of mentally handicapped youngsters at Lakeside-Gard school in St. Joseph and Fairland school in Niles. The PAC favors upgrading those two schools rather than the central school.

In another matter, Sreboth told the board he anticipates a 1976-77 general operating budget of about $653,000, up about $30,000 from the present operating budget. He said the main reasons for the increase are because the district must now pay unemployment compensation and there will be an increased rental on data processing equipment.

Sreboth noted, however, the $653,000 figure is subject to paring by the board. He also added the budget will be reviewed and voted on when representatives of the Intermediate district's constituent districts meet at the Intermediate office on Feb. 26.

In other business, the board: —Learned its denial of two property transfer requests which sought a change from River Valley to Bridgman school districts has been appealed to the state board of education. The appeals were filed by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Korcek, both of Date road, Bridgman.

—Learned from Ben Winslow, coordinator for career education, that high schools in

through 12 are enrolled in such classes out of a total enrollment of 12,689. Winslow also said the enrollment represented a 68 per cent increase since 1972.

'Save Trooper Post' Parley Slated Jan. 20

LAKEVILLE — Supervisor Donald Peterson will represent Chikaming township at a Jan. 20 meeting in Lansing where New Buffalo area officials are expected to ask that the New Buffalo state police post be kept open on a 24-hour basis.

Mrs. Lena Abrahamson, township clerk, said the board last night instructed Peterson to attend the meeting with Berrien county Commissioner Carl Gnodtke.

Gnodtke appeared at last night's meeting and said he had arranged for the meeting with George Halverson, state police director, and that he was asking local officials to accompany him.

Two months ago, the township board went on record as vigorously opposing any effort to close the state police post during the night.

It has been reported that the New Buffalo post may be closed during the night in an effort to cut back the state police budget. All calls into the post then would automatically be transferred to the Benton Harbor post, which in turn would contact state troopers in New Buffalo.

In other areas last night, board members said it is important to the township that residents correctly fill in blanks on the 1975 federal income tax forms which deal with residency.

Mrs. Abrahamson said the federal census bureau will use information from the tax forms to determine the amount of federal revenue sharing money to be distributed to municipalities in 1976.

She said township residents should be careful to distinguish the difference between their mailing address and their actual residence location when filling out the form.

Board members also discussed complaints received from residents concerning volunteer firemen who, according to the citizens complaining, have been speeding while enroute to a fire in their personal cars. The board agreed to pass the complaints to the three fire chiefs in the township with the recommendation that firemen meet with state police to discuss driving rules.

The board heard a letter read from Weldon Burden, Berrien county director for the comprehensive employment and training act (CETA), who said there are no CETA funds available for the hiring of a local dispatcher to be used for radio volunteer ambulance agencies.

Berrien Health Office Offers Parent Classes

The Berrien county health department will offer free "parenting skills" classes beginning Monday at the department offices, 769 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor.

Jerome Erickson, acting health department director, said the classes will include topics on parent-child relationships, communication, personal hygiene, infant care, dental health, and discipline. The classes will be informal, and will include a movie or filmstrip and discussions led by registered nurses.

Erickson said the classes, sponsored under the Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis, and Treatment program, are designed to help parents with their children and create a stable home environment.

Daily one-hour classes will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m., and health officials asked that citizens make an appointment for a session by calling the department.

Michigan Warms Up For Showdown By Ripping Badgers

From Associated Press

The Michigan Wolverines warmed up for their Saturday showdown against top-ranked Indiana with a 106-81 whipping of Wisconsin Thursday night in Big Ten basketball action.

The victory gave Michigan the undisputed conference lead with a 3-0 mark against Big Ten opponents. Defending conference champion Indiana is 2-0.

Elsewhere in the Big Ten Thursday night, Northwestern downed Michigan State 105-89 and Minnesota defeated Illinois 77-48.

The hot-handed Wolverines hit 62 per cent of their shots from the field in the first half and were led by 6-foot-7 freshman Phil Hubbard, who scored 18 points. Michigan's Joel Thompson also tallied 18 points and forward John Robinson added 17.

Wisconsin's 6-foot-10 freshman center Al Rond led all scorers with 28 points. The Badgers dropped to 2-1 in conference play.

The score was tied 10-10 after five minutes, but a three-point play by Roblason touched off a Wolverine scoring spree that gave them leads of 22-12 and 35-20. Michigan led 55-33 at the half and coasted through the rest of the game.

The Wolverines now are 9-2 over all, while the Badgers are 7-3. Terry Furlow pumped in 48 points in Michigan State's losing effort but he was countered by Northwestern's Bob Syvete and Billy McKinney, who hit for 30 and 23 points respectively.

Cold spells by the Spartans at the opening of the game and after halftime allowed the Wildcats to break on top and maintain their lead throughout the game, which gave both teams 1-2 conference records.

Northwestern took a 5-0 lead to start and led by that margin at the intermission, 46-37.

Five minutes into the second half the Spartans again failed to notch a basket and their deficit grew to 18 points at 35-37.

Northwestern raised its overall mark to 6-8 with the victory, while Michigan State fell to 5-7.

Minnesota's victory over Illinois snapped a two-game conference losing streak and left the Illini still looking for their first conference win after two starts.

With the score tied at 32-32 at the half, Ray Williams and Flip Saunders ignited a second-half rally that put the Gophers ahead to stay. Williams finished with 28 points and Saunders picked up 12, but most of those came in the crucial first five minutes of the second half.

Rich Adams led Illinois with 19 points and Nate Williams added 17. Osborne Lockhart contributed 17 points to Minnesota's cause. The Gophers are now 9-2 over-all, while Illinois stands at 7-4.

Besides the Michigan-Indiana duel at Michigan, the other Big Ten matchups on Saturday are Iowa at Minnesota, Northwestern at Illinois, Ohio State at Michigan State and Wisconsin at Purdue.

Rutherford Ties Mark

Third Straight Shutout For Red Wing Goalie

DETROIT (AP) — "I'm not in the same class with Glenn Hall by any means," Detroit goalie Jimmy Rutherford said modestly after joining Hall in the Red Wings' record book Thursday night by chalking up his third consecutive shutout.

"He's my favorite goalie," the diminutive Rutherford said of Hall. "He's always been my favorite and I have to feel good about the record."

Rutherford had to stop only 14 shots, while defenseman Terry Harper had the best scoring output of his 14-year National Hockey League career as Detroit crushed the Minnesota North Stars, 5-0.

The game marked the midpoint of the season for Detroit, which moved within four points of third-place Pittsburgh in the division standings. At the same point last year the Wings were 14 points behind the third-place Penguins.

Detroit exploded for four goals in the second period against Pete LaFrest, two by Harper. He assisted on one of the others and also on Michel Bergeron's power-play goal with 17 seconds left in the game. Bergeron and Nick Libett scored the other second-period goals.

Hall's three straight shutouts came 20 seasons ago, December 1955, when he beat the New York Rangers 3-0, Toronto 4-0 and Montreal 2-0.

Rutherford's streak began with a 4-0 triumph over

Washington at home New Year's Eve. He won 1-0 at Toronto four days later.

"He worked harder for them against Washington and Toronto. But there's got to be pressure on the little son-of-a-gun," said assistant coach Billy Dea, who ran the team from behind the bench while Coach Alex Delvecchio remained in the press box.

The toughest chance for the 5-foot-8, 180-pound Rutherford came in the first period when he stopped Ernie Hicke, who skated around the defense and went in alone on goal. Moments before, ex-Red Wing Pierre Jarri hit the post left and the puck slithered through the crease.

"The only time they could tee it up was at the point and nothing really got through," Rutherford said. "The forwards were coming back and hurrying them."

Harper, who recalled only one other time he scored twice and was positive he never got four points in a game, said he didn't know Rutherford would tie Hall's club mark with another shutout.

"I didn't know anything about it. I don't think anybody did," he said. "That's a hell of a feat whether it's a record or not."

Ted Harris, former Red Wing who is now the North Stars' coach, said a big part of hockey is skating, "and that's what we're not doing."

Negotiations Between Owners, Players Fail

Reserve Clause Faces Court Test

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A major test of baseball's "reserve clause" moved up on a federal court docket Thursday when a judge's suggestion that the old dispute between players and club owners be settled at the bargaining table fell on deaf ears.

Judge John W. Oliver then called on attorneys for the club owners and the Major League Players Association to file briefs by Jan. 15 and scheduled the hearing for Jan. 18.

In the morning session of the pretrial conference Thursday, held to establish procedures, Judge Oliver urged the parties to settle their longstanding differences in negotiations.

He noted the association has maintained it was willing to agree to some kind of reserve system, but considered the provisions for such a system negotiable.

The owners did not respond to the proposal and Judge Oliver, who had said he hoped to avoid lengthy litigation, set the court timetable during an afternoon session.

The court here finds itself dealing with the greater issue of baseball's reserve clause as the result of grievances filed last fall by two pitchers, Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally. Messersmith, who was with the Los Angeles Dodgers, and McNally, with the Montreal Expos, maintained they were free agents because they had not signed contracts before last season.

Team owners claim perpetual rights to players' services until

Ewing Kauffman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, filed suit in U.S. District Court here Oct. 26 claiming the grievances by Messersmith and McNally were, in effect, illegal because they were precluded by the contract language.

Kauffman was joined in the suit by all the other owners. The scenario was advanced for the court struggle when the neutral party of a three-man arbitration panel ruled the two pitchers were free agents.

The panel's findings will have been overturned if Oliver rules in favor of the owners. A decision favoring the players association would provide it with a major breakthrough in its efforts to gain a revision of the reserve system.

NBA Owners Study Players' Offers

NEW YORK (AP) — National Basketball Association owners and player representatives have concluded their latest round of meetings aimed at settling the controversial Oscar Robertson law suit out of court. And NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien says owners will now have to study player union proposals before reaching any conclusions.

After ending a one-hour, 15-minute session Thursday, O'Brien said representatives of the Board of Governors, which included at least one from each of the four divisions, would discuss player proposals and report back to him. He said another meeting with player reps would be held, most likely by the end of next week.

But while O'Brien expressed optimism in a prepared statement to the press Thursday, Larry Fleisher, general counsel for the NBA Players Association, was disgruntled.

"We reached agreement on nothing," said Fleisher. He said the owners still were demanding compensation for a player who plays out his option and leaves a team to sign with another club.

"That's exactly what a judge found to be illegal in football," Fleisher said, referring to a federal judge's ruling in Minneapolis Dec. 30 declaring illegal the National Football League's so-called Rozelle Rule which bound a player to a team.

"As long as there is this demand for compensation, the case cannot be settled," said Fleisher.

"They don't ever want anybody to be free and they want to own a player," said

Fleisher. "That's the primary hangup. They refuse to give up. Without settling that, it's not conceivable or worthwhile to try and go forward."

In his statement, O'Brien said: "These negotiations... involve complex problems not easily solved, but there has been progress on a number of items because of the healthy give-and-take attitude that prevailed."

"Each side now has a proposal from the other for study and discussion and we anticipate further developments within the next week."

"The discussions dealt primarily with the draft, the option clause, compensation to a team for the loss of a player and settlement of the Robert-

Representing the players' association were President Paul Silas of Boston, Vice President John Havlicek of Boston, Jeff Mullins of Golden State and Jim McMillian of Buffalo. Robertson, no longer active, also attended.

Members of the board present were Mike Burke of New York, Abe Pollin of Washington, Bill Averson of Milwaukee and Dick Block of Phoenix. NBA Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine also was on hand, but owner William Wirtz of Chicago, who attended Wednesday's session, had to leave New York on other business and missed Thursday's session.

'Hustling' Pete Rose Gets Hickok Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rose, noted for hustling on the baseball field, is hustling around the country speaking at dinners and collecting awards.

The Cincinnati third baseman blazed in from a dinner in Iowa to pick up the Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award for 1975 Thursday and then rushed off for a dinner at Dayton, Ohio.

"I was in Denison, Iowa, for a dinner last night," Rose said at the Hickok luncheon, where he received a belt valued at more than $15,000. "I got home to Cincinnati at 3:15 a.m., picked up my wife and children and was back at the airport at quarter to seven. I took my children out of school because I wanted to them to see me get this award."

Rose won in a close vote with golfer Jack Nicklaus and heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, the 1974 Hickok winner.

In balloting by sports writers and sportscasters, Rose received 31 first-place votes and

Rose, who strengthened the Cincinnati defense by moving from the outfield to third base, batted .317 with 210 hits and 74 runs batted in, and then keyed the Reds' seven-game World Series victory over Boston by hitting .370 with 10 hits.

Wisconsin's 6-foot-10 freshman center Al Reed led all scorers with 28 points. The Badgers dropped to 2-1 in conference play.

The score was tied 10-10 after five minutes, but a three-point play by Robinson touched off a Wolverine scoring spree that gave them leads of 22-12 and 35-20. Michigan led 55-33 at the half and coasted through the rest of the game.

The Wolverines now are 9-2 over all, while the Badgers are 7-3. Terry Furlow pumped in 48 points in Michigan State's losing effort but he was countered by Northwestern's Bob Svete and Billy McKinney, who hit for 30 and 23 points respectively.

Cold spells by the Spartans at the opening of the game and after halftime allowed the Wildcats to break on top and maintain their lead throughout the game, which gave both teams 1-2 conference records.

Northwestern took a 9-0 lead to start and led by that margin at the intermission, 46-37.

Five minutes into the second half the Spartans again failed to notch a basket and their deficit grew to 18 points at 55-37.

Northwestern raised its overall mark to 6-6 with the victory, while Michigan State fell to 5-7.

Minnesota's victory over Illinois snapped a two-game conference losing streak and left the Illini still looking for their first conference win after two starts.

With the score tied at 32-all at the half, Ray Williams and Flip Saunders ignited a second-half rally that put the Gophers ahead to stay. Williams finished with 26 points and Saunders picked up 12, but most of those came in the crucial first five minutes of the second half.

Rich Adams led Illinois with 19 points and Nate Williams added 17. Osborne Lockhart contributed 17 points to Minnesota's cause. The Gophers are now 9-2 over-all, while Illinois stands at 7-4.

Besides the Michigan-Indiana duel at Michigan, the other Big Ten matchups on Saturday are Iowa at Minnesota, Northwestern at Illinois, Ohio State at Michigan State and Wisconsin at Purdue.

Rutherford Ties Mark

Third Straight Shutout For Red Wing Goalie

DETROIT (AP) — "I'm not in the same class with Glenn Hall by any means," Detroit goalie Jimmy Rutherford said modestly after joining Hall in the Red Wings' record book Thursday night by chalking up his third consecutive shutout.

"He's my favorite goalie," the diminutive Rutherford said of Hall. "He's always been my favorite and I have to feel good about the record."

Rutherford had to stop only 14 shots, while defenseman Terry Harper had the best scoring output of his 14-year National Hockey League career as Detroit crushed the Minnesota North Stars, 5-0.

The game marked the midpoint of the season for Detroit, which moved within four points of third-place Pittsburgh in the division standings. At the same point last year the Wings were 14 points behind the third-place Penguins.

Detroit exploded for four goals in the second period against Pete LoPresti, two by Harper. He assisted on one of the others and also on Michel Bergeron's power-play goal with 17 seconds left in the game. Bergeron and Nick Libett scored the other second-period goals.

Hall's three straight shutouts came 20 seasons ago, December 1955, when he beat the New York Rangers, 3-0, Toronto 4-0 and Montreal 2-0.

Rutherford's streak began with a 4-0 triumph over

Washington at home New Year's Eve. He won 1-0 at Toronto four days later.

"He worked harder for them against Washington and Toronto. But there's got to be pressure on the little son-of-a-gun," said assistant coach Billy Dea, who ran the team from behind the bench while Coach Alex Delvecchio remained in the press box.

The toughest chance for the 5-foot-8, 160-pound Rutherford came in the first period when he stopped Ernie Hicke, who skated around the defense and went in alone on goal. Moments before, ex-Red Wing Pierre Jarri hit the post left and the puck slid through the crease.

"The only time they could tee it up was at the point and nothing really got through," Rutherford said. "The forwards were coming back and hurrying them."

Harper, who recalled only one other time he scored twice and was positive he never got four points in a game, said he didn't know Rutherford would tie Hall's club mark with another shutout.

"I didn't know anything about it. I don't think anybody did," he said. "That's a hell of a feat whether it's a record or not."

Ted Harris, former Red Wing who is now the North Stars' coach, said a big part of hockey is skating, "and that's what we're not doing."

Reserve Clause Faces Court Test

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A major test of baseball's "reserve clause" moved up on a federal court docket Thursday when a judge's suggestion that the old dispute between players and club owners be settled at the bargaining table fell on deaf ears.

Judge John W. Oliver then called on attorneys for the club owners and the Major League Players Association to file briefs by Jan. 15 and scheduled the hearing for Jan. 19.

In the morning session of the pretrial conference Thursday, held to establish procedures, Judge Oliver urged the parties to settle their longstanding differences in negotiations.

He noted the association has maintained it was willing to agree to some kind of reserve system, but considered the provisions for such a system negotiable.

The owners did not respond to the proposal and Judge Oliver, who had said he hoped to avoid lengthy litigation, set the court timetable during an afternoon session.

The court here finds itself dealing with the greater issue of baseball's reserve clause as the result of grievances filed last fall by two pitchers, Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally. Messersmith, who was with the Los Angeles Dodgers, and McNally, with the Montreal Expos, maintained they were free agents because they had not signed contracts before last season.

Team owners claim perpetual rights to players' services until they trade or release them. They point to a provision of their contract with the players association saying if a player declines to sign a contract by March 10, "the club shall have the right by written notice to renew his contract for the period of one year on the same terms."

Ewing Kauffman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, filed suit in U.S. District Court here Oct. 28 claiming the grievances by Messersmith and McNally were, in effect, illegal because they were precluded by the contract language.

Kauffman was joined in the suit by all the other owners. The scenario was advanced for the court struggle when the neutral party of a three-man arbitration panel ruled the two pitchers were free agents.

The panel's findings will have been overturned if Oliver rules in favor of the owners. A decision favoring the players association would provide it with a major breakthrough in its efforts to gain a revision of the reserve system.

NBA Owners Study Players' Offers

NEW YORK (AP) — National Basketball Association owners and player representatives have concluded their latest round of meetings aimed at settling the controversial Oscar Robertson law suit out of court. And NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien says owners will now have to study player union proposals before reaching any conclusions.

After ending a one-hour, 15-minute session Thursday, O'Brien said representatives of the Board of Governors, which included at least one from each of the four divisions, would discuss player proposals and report back to him. He said another meeting with player reps would be held, most likely by the end of next week.

But while O'Brien expressed optimism in a prepared statement to the press Thursday, Larry Fleisher, general counsel for the NBA Players Association, was disgruntled.

"We reached agreement on nothing," said Fleisher. He said the owners still were demanding compensation for a player who plays out his option and leaves a team to sign with another club.

"That's exactly what a judge found to be illegal in football," Fleisher said, referring to a federal judge's ruling in Minneapolis Dec. 30 declaring illegal the National Football League's so-called Rozelle Rule which bound a player to a team.

"As long as there is this demand for compensation, the case cannot be settled," said Fleisher.

"They don't ever want anybody to be free and they want to own a player," said

Fleisher. "That's the primary hangup. They refuse to give up. Without settling that, it's not conceivable or worthwhile to try and go forward."

"I think if we could resolve one issue, we could resolve the others."

In his statement, O'Brien said: "These negotiations... involve complex problems not easily solved, but there has been progress on a number of items because of the healthy give-and-take attitude that prevailed."

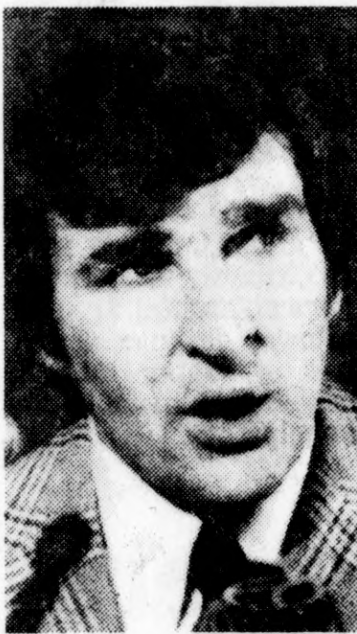

"Each side now has a proposal from the other for study and discussion and we anticipate further developments within the next week."

"The discussions dealt primarily with the draft, the option clause, compensation to a team for the loss of a player and settlement of the Robert-

Representing the players' association were President Paul Silas of Boston, Vice President John Havlicek of Boston, Jeff Mullins of Golden State and Jim McMillian of Buffalo. Robertson, no longer active, also attended.

Members of the board present were Mike Burke of New York, Abe Pollin of Washington, Bill Alvenson of Milwaukee and Dick Bloch of Phoenix. NBA Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine also was on hand, but owner William Wirtz of Chicago, who attended Wednesday's session, had to leave New York on other business and missed Thursday's session.

'Hustling' Pete Rose Gets Hickok Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Rose, noted for hustling on the baseball field, is hustling around the country speaking at dinners and collecting awards.

The Cincinnati third baseman blazed in from a dinner in Iowa to pick up the Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award for 1975 Thursday and then rushed off for a dinner at Dayton, Ohio.

"I was in Denison, Iowa, for a dinner last night," Rose said at the Hickok luncheon, where he received a belt valued at more than $15,000.

"I got home to Cincinnati at 3:15 a.m., picked up my wife and children and was back at the airport at quarter to seven. I took my children out of school because I wanted to them to see me get this award."

Rose won in a close vote with golfer Jack Nicklaus and heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, the 1974 Hickok winner.

In balloting by sports writers and sportscasters, Rose received 31 first-place votes and

Rose, who strengthened the Cincinnati defense by moving from the outfield to third base, batted .317 with 210 hits and 74 runs batted in, and then keyed the Reds' seven-game World Series victory over Boston by batting .370 with 10 hits.

Patience Helps Lakeshore Build Bud Wrestling Winner

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

In sporting events that are new to the area high schools — it usually takes a lot of time and patience to build a winner.

Coach Bruce Bittenbender and his Lakeshore wrestlers are good examples of what a little time, patience and hard work can do.

The Lancers are unbeaten in six dual meets this season, have won their own tourney, finished second at the tough Southwestern Michigan invitational and took third at the Niles tourney.

But this season is just a continuation of last year's team that went 6-0 in Blossomland conference dual meets, and shared the league championship with Brandywine. It was the first league title for the Lancers since wrestling began at the school in 1965.

And they look even stronger this time around with five of six individual champs returning.

One of the returners, Mark Krager at 187 pounds, heads the area's honor roll this week, along with teammate Doug Smith. Both boast 13-0 marks.

Krager is following in the footsteps of his brother Ed who, in 1974, was the state runner-up at 145 pounds. "Mark has just a tremendous amount of ability,"

Bittenbender said. "Kids from other schools will move up or down a weight class just to avoid him."

Whereas Krager is a senior, Smith, a scrappy 98-pounder, has shown some good moves for being just a sophomore this season. Last year, he was beaten in the finals of the conference and ended up with a 17-4 record. "Doug is probably the hardest working wrestler on the team this year," Bittenbender said.

Another returning champion, 126-pound Tom Rennhack, lost his first match last weekend, but the Lancer coach has high praise for the senior, now 9-1-1 this season.

"Tom is real cool on the mat; he has a good attitude," said Bittenbender. "He also has a tremendous sense of balance."

The head mentor said that as a freshman and sophomore Rennhack was just an average wrestler, but as a junior he really blossomed, going 28-4 and getting to the regionals before being eliminated from the state tourney. "He didn't seem to have any confidence in himself those first two years, but he has looked real good since then," Bittenbender said.

The other three league champs are junior Terry Runge (12-2), senior Scott Hosnedl (11-3-1) and senior Joe Offet (9-3-1).

Most of the squad reflects the time, patience and effort Bittenbender has put into the Lakeshore program. Like many other schools, he and junior high coach Bill Wilkinson have helped younger grapplers get started before they enter high school. "We have a very good feeder program," Bittenbender grinned. "These kids love wrestling and are real athletes."

Bears' Worthington Sets More Records

St. Joseph's John Worthington is on his way to becoming the best swimmer in his school's history.

The junior standout posted two more school records in the St. Joe pool Thursday night as the Bears opened their Big Seven conference season with a 101-71 victory over Holland.

Worthington, who now has four school records overall (more than anyone else on the books), established new marks Thursday in the 200 individual medley and 100 backstroke as the St. Joe squad was winning eight of the 10 events.

Worthington won the 200 IM in

2:04.6, breaking the school record of 2:07.4 set by Frank Smith in 1969 and the pool mark of 2:06.47 posted by a Holland swimmer last season.

The other varsity record came in the 100 backstroke at 58.12. It snapped the oldest St. Joe record, a time of 58.2 set by John Nordberg in 1965.

Worthington finished as a triple winner Thursday by teaming with Tim Momany, Fred Danaher and Tom Starks to win the 400 freestyle relay in 3:28.5.

Danaher also ended up as a triple winner, while Momany and Starks were double winners. Starks also broke his own pool and varsity records in the 500 freestyle.

Danaher's other wins came in the 50 freestyle (23.57) and 100 freestyle (51.88). Momany added a 200 freestyle triumph (1:53.2) while Starks' record was at 5:03.1, breaking the old marks of 5:03.58.

Other St. Joe winners were Randy Chinery in the 100 butterfly (1:01.12) and Mike Borre in the 100 breaststroke (1:05.54).

The Bears next meet will be Thursday, Jan. 15, at Kalamazoo-Loy Norrix.

UCLA 'Escapes' With Win In Keystone Kops Finish

Meet college basketball's version of the Keystone Kops — the Oregon Ducks.

"You have to see it to believe it," says UCLA Coach Gene Bartow, who saw it and almost didn't believe it.

The Ducks, who drive everyone crazy with their insane, kamikazi style of play, had the nation's third-ranked team running around in circles for a while Thursday night.

But the Bruins endured 62-61, despite watching the zany Ducks dive for loose balls and leap over press tables in their usual flamboyant manner.

"We made some errors," said Ron Lee, Oregon's high scorer with 17 points. "But we proved tonight that we can beat anybody when we want to go out and play."

A crowd almost as wild as the team cheered on Oregon as the unranked Ducks gave the Bruins fits until the last second. In fact, Oregon had the ball with 17 seconds to go but squandered several opportunities to score the winning basket.

"It was a good win," said Bartow after the Great Escape. "You're supposed to get one like this once in a while on the road."

Four other ranked teams were in action Thursday night as No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas nipped Seattle 90-89; No. 17 Minnesota stopped Illinois 77-68; Oregon State defeated 18th-ranked Southern Cal 80-70 and 19th-rated Michigan coasted past Wisconsin 106-81.

Ralph Drollinger and Andre McCarter sparked UCLA in the second half as the Bruins held off the wild Ducks. All the excitement boiled down to the last three minutes.

UCLA had a 57-47 lead with six minutes on the clock but later, Oregon's Stu Jackson, Mark Barwig and Greg Ballard closed the gap to 59-53 with 2:45 left. A free throw by Drollinger made it 60-53.

Lee then scored a field goal with 2:30 left to make it 60-55. UCLA and Drollinger responded with another free throw. After UCLA failed to put the ball in play in five seconds, Oregon's Mike Drummond hit two shots from the top of the key, closing the Ducks within 61-59.

With 35 seconds to play, McCarter sank a free throw, then Lee hit a layup with 25 seconds left, bringing Oregon within 62-61. Freshman Dan Mack intercepted UCLA's inbounds pass and called time out with 17 seconds left.

Lee dribbled to the baseline and passed to Ballard, who missed an eight-foot bank shot. Drollinger rebounded and was fouled with four seconds left. He missed the shot, and Drummond heaved a desperation shot from half-court at the buzzer, but it bounced off the backboard.

Robert Smith made a key steal and sank four free throws in the final minute as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Seattle.

Ray Williams and Flip Saunders ignited a second-half rally that carried Minnesota past Illinois. Williams finished with 26 points and 12 rebounds to help the Gophers snap a two-game losing streak.

Rocky Smith, a junior college transfer, collected 29 points as Oregon State stunned Southern Cal. It was only the second loss in 13 games for the Trojans while the Beavers improved their record to 8-4.

Phil Hubbard and Joel Thompson each scored 18 points and John Robinson had 17 to pace Michigan over Wisconsin.

When Bittenbender came to Lakeshore in 1970 he had one big item in mind. "I really wanted to promote the sport for the little guys," he said. "If you've got good lightweights, it shows you have a good junior high program."

So in practice, the head coach will work with the lighter weights while assistant coach Dave Price works with the upper weight classes.

When Bittenbender suggests a new move or correction a grappler can make, he definitely knows what he's talking about. He wrestled at high school in Bethlehem, Pa., "a very physical town," Bittenbender says wrestling was "right behind football in popularity" at his high school.

From there it was on to Milligan College in Tennessee. "I was pretty successful down there," he modestly says.

Eventually he made his way to Michigan and became an assistant coach at South Haven under Gary Steudle. He was a member of the staff when the Rams won the area's only state wrestling championship in 1970.

Although he has been here just a short time, Bittenbender has seen wrestling grow in Southwestern Michigan. "It used to be that a wrestler could win on just strength, but not any more," he said. "The caliber and sophistication of these kids is just tremendous."

It may have taken a little while for the Lancers to get that first league crown, but as long as their system holds up, Lakeshore could be a force to be reckoned with for many years.

No Veeck Tricks For Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — E.R. "Salty" Saltwell, the Chicago Cubs' new general manager, is so low pressured that he fits perfectly in the team image desired by owner P.K. Wrigley.

Saltwell is making no attempts to compete with the dynamic Bill Veeck who recently gained control of the Chicago White Sox.

"No," said Saltwell, Thursday at the Cubs' midwinter meeting. "We're not in total competition with Veeck or the White Sox. We are not going to make trades for the sake of making trades. We will trade only if we can help the ball club. I know that's somewhat of a cliché but that's how we feel about it."

"We know Veeck will have a lot of promotions and gimmicks to attract fans and that's fine. The only thing we plan to promote is the merit of the game of baseball."

Saltwell, who had been in the concession end of the Cub organization before being named general manager to replace John Holland who is now in semiretirement, is looking for improvement through experience.

"Manny Trillo did a great job for us in his first year at second base," said Saltwell. "Bill Madlock won the league batting championship. Andy Thornton came on strong at first base in the last half of the season and could provide the long ball we need."

"Our pitching staff is young and should improve, especially

Patience Helps Lakeshore Build Bud Wrestling Winner

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

In sporting events that are new to the area high schools — it usually takes a lot of time and patience to build a winner.

Coach Bruce Bittenbender and his Lakeshore wrestlers are good examples of what a little time, patience and hard work can do.

The Lancers are unbeaten in six dual meets this season, have won their own tourney, finished second at the tough Southwestern Michigan invitational and took third at the Niles tourney.

But this season is just a continuation of last year's team that went 6-0 in Blossomland conference dual meets and shared the league championship with Brandywine. It was the first league title for the Lancers since wrestling began at the school in 1965.

And they look even stronger this time around with five of six individual champs returning.

One of the returners, Mark Krager at 167 pounds, heads the area's honor roll this week, along with teammate Doug Smith. Both boast 13-0 marks.

Krager is following in the footsteps of his brother Ed who, in 1974, was the state runner-up at 145-pounds. "Mark has just a tremendous amount of ability,"

Bittenbender said. "Kids from other schools will move up or down a weight class just to avoid him."

Whereas Krager is a senior, Smith, a scrappy 98-pounder, has shown some good moves for being just a sophomore this season. Last year, he was beaten in the finals of the conference and ended up with a 17-4 record. "Doug is probably the hardest working wrestler on the team this year," Bittenbender said.

Another returning champion, 126-pound Tom Rennhack, lost his first match last weekend, but the Lancer coach has high praise for the senior, now 9-1-1 this season.

The head mentor said that as a freshman and sophomore Rennhack was just an average wrestler, but as a junior he really blossomed, going 28-4 and getting to the regionals before being eliminated from the state tourney. "He didn't seem to have any confidence in himself those first two years, but he has looked real good since then," Bittenbender said.

Most of the squad reflects the time, patience and effort Bittenbender has put into the Lakeshore program. Like many other schools, he and junior high coach Bill Wilkinson have helped younger grapplers get started before they enter high school. "We have a very good feeder program," Bittenbender grinned. "These kids love wrestling and are real athletes."

When Bittenbender came to Lakeshore in 1970 he had one big item in mind. "I really wanted to promote the sport for the little guys," he said. "If you've got good lightweights, it shows you have a good junior high program."

So in practice, the head coach will work with the lighter weights while assistant coach Dave Price works with the upper weight classes.

When Bittenbender suggests a new move or correction a grappler can make, he definitely knows what he's talking about. He wrestled at high school in Bethlehem, Pa., "a very physical town," Bittenbender says wrestling was "right behind football in popularity" at his high school.

From there it was on to Milligan College in Tennessee. "I was pretty successful down there," he modestly says.

Eventually he made his way to Michigan and became an assistant coach at South Haven under Gary Steudle. He was a member of the staff when the Rams won the area's only state wrestling championship in 1970.

Although he has been here just a short time, Bittenbender has seen wrestling grow in Southwestern Michigan. "It used to be that a wrestler could win on just strength, but not any more," he said. "The caliber and sophistication of these kids is just tremendous."

It may have taken a little while for the Lancers to get that first league crown, but as long as their system holds up, Lakeshore could be a force to be reckoned with for many years.

Bears' Worthington Sets More Records

St. Joseph's John Worthington is on his way to becoming the best swimmer in his school's history.

The junior standout posted two more school records in the St. Joe pool Thursday night as the Bears opened their Big Seven conference season with a 101-71 victory over Holland.

Worthington, who now has four school records overall (more than anyone else on the books), established new marks Thursday in the 200 individual medley and 100 backstroke as the St. Joe squad was winning eighth of the 10 events.

Worthington won the 200 IM in

2:04.6, breaking the school record of 2:07.4 set by Frank Smith in 1969 and the pool mark of 2:06.47 posted by a Holland swimmer last season.

The other varsity record came in the 100 backstroke at 58.12. It snapped the oldest St. Joe record, a time of 58.2 set by John Nordberg in 1965.

Worthington finished as a triple winner Thursday by teaming with Tim Momany, Fred Danaher and Tom Starks to win the 400 freestyle relay in 3:28.5.

Danaher also ended up as a triple winner, while Momany and Starks were double winners. Starks also broke his own pool and varsity records in the 500 freestyle.

Danaher's other wins came in the 50 freestyle (23.57) and 100 freestyle (51.88). Momany added a 200 freestyle triumph (1:53.2) while Starks' record was at 5:03.1, breaking the old marks of 5:03.58.

Other St. Joe winners were Randy Chinery in the 100 butterfly (1:01.12) and Mike Borre in the 100 breaststroke (1:05.54).

The Bears next meet will be Thursday, Jan. 15, at Kalamazoo Loy Norrix.

UCLA 'Escapes' With Win In Keystone Kops Finish

Meet college basketball's version of the Keystone Kops — the Oregon Ducks.

"You have to see it to believe it," says UCLA Coach Gene Bartow, who saw it and almost didn't believe it.

The Ducks, who drive everyone crazy with their insane, kamikazi style of play, had the nation's third-ranked team running around in circles for a while Thursday night.

But the Bruins endured 62-61, despite watching the zany Ducks dive for loose balls and leap over press balls in their usual flamboyant manner.

"We made some errors," said Ron Lee, Oregon's high scorer with 17 points. "But we proved tonight that we can beat anybody when we want to go out and play."

A crowd almost as wild as the team cheered on Oregon as the unranked Ducks gave the Bruins fits until the last second. In fact, Oregon had the ball with 17 seconds to go but squandered several opportunities to score the winning basket.

"It was a good win," said Bartow after the Great Escape. "You're supposed to get one like this once in a while on the road."

Four other ranked teams were in action Thursday night as No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas nipped Seattle 90-89; No. 17 Minnesota stopped Illinois 77-68; Oregon State defeated 18th-ranked Southern Cal 80-70 and 19th-rated Michigan coasted past Wisconsin 106-81.

Ralph Drollinger and Andre McCarter sparked UCLA in the second half as the Bruins held off the wild Ducks. All the excitement boiled down to the last three minutes.

UCLA had a 57-47 lead with six minutes on the clock but later Oregon's Stu Jackson, Mark Barwig and Greg Ballard closed the gap to 59-53 with 2:45 left. A free throw by Drollinger made it 60-53.

Lee then scored a field goal with 2:30 left to make it 60-55 UCLA and Drollinger responded with another free throw. After UCLA failed to put the ball in play in five seconds, Oregon's Mike Drummond hit two shots from the top of the key, closing the Ducks within 61-59.

With 35 seconds to play, McCarter sank a free throw, then Lee hit a layin with 25 seconds left, bringing Oregon within 62-61. Freshman Dan Mack intercepted UCLA's inbound pass and called time out with 17 seconds left.

Lee dribbled to the baseline and passed to Ballard, who missed an eight-foot bank shot. Drollinger rebounded and was fouled with four seconds left. He missed the shot, and Drummond heaved a desperation shot from half-court at the buzzer, but it bounced off the backboard.

Robert Smith made a key steal and sank four free throws in the final minute as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Seattle.

Ray Williams and Flip Saunders ignited a second-half rally that carried Minnesota past Illinois. Williams finished with 26 points and 12 rebounds to help the Gophers snap a two-game losing streak.

Rocky Smith, a junior college transfer, collected 29 points as Oregon State stunned Southern Cal. It was only the second loss in 13 games for the Trojans while the Beavers improved their record to 8-4.

Phil Hubbard and Joel Thompson each scored 18 points and John Robinson had 17 to pace Michigan over Wisconsin.

Bowlers Of 3422 Series Have Vivid Memories

Schairer Record Has Stood Since 1941

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

There's an old axiom in sports that records are made to be broken.

But the long-standing Schairer's Beverage record is tossing cold water on that trite saying.

On Jan. 13, 1941, the Schairer's team blasted an unbelievable 3422 series. That epic total still stands today as an all-time area record. On next week Tuesday the mark will be 35 years old.

Bujack, Correll, Little, Zitta, Wichner. Those are the names of the pin-busters.

Fred Bujack, considered the premiere bowler in area history, led the assault with 773, which at the time set an all-time record for individual series. Warren Correll also hit a 700 with 710 while Frank Little smashed 699, Frank Zitta 623 and Otto Wichner 617.

The five some produced games all over 1100 in the 3422-1130, 1124, 1168. Included in the awesome total were 108 strikes, 40 spares, nine splits and five misses.

The series, which was rolled in the Major League at the old Temple Lanes in St. Joseph, ranked as the fourth highest bowled in the nation at the time and at the season's end finished in the nation's top 20 high series.

So where are they now? Four of the record-setters are still living in the area while Bujack died in California in 197 at age 58.

Correll, the team captain, is retired and lives in Hartford. He is the oldest member at age 78. Little, 62, moved to Paw Paw seven years ago and still works in a supervisory capacity at Benton Harbor Malleable. Little is the only member still active in league bowling. He carries averages of 163 and 180 in leagues at Rainbow Lanes in Paw Paw.

Zitta, 63, and Wichner, 60, are both St. Joseph residents. Zitta owns Zitta's Grill in St. Joseph while Wichner does janitorial and maintenance work at the south branch of the Peoples State Bank.

Bujack, who a few months after the 3422 left for Detroit to join the "big leagues," went on to big a big splash on the national scene. He later was inducted into the ABC Bowling Hall of Fame at Milwaukee.

All four bowlers still have vivid memories of the "hot" winter's night but Little has another reason for recalling Jan. 13, 1941.

"I had started out the day with the flu. I wasn't even going to bowl. Then after we shot the 3422 my girl friend at the time brought back some ice cream to help celebrate. But she found me sick lying on the couch.

"She took my temperature and it was about 103 or 104. So she called an ambulance that same night and I went to the old St. Joseph Hospital. The next day I found out I had double pneumonia."

Little, who just missed a 700 series due to a wiggling pin on his final toss, finished with the high game of the series with 289.

The 3422 has stood up against an avalanche of scores over the last 35 years. Zitta says he predicted that the record would last.

"Right after we shot it I said the record would never be beaten in our lifetimes. And it's never been beaten yet by an area team."

"I can't believe with all these good, young bowlers the last 10 years the record hasn't been knocked off," adds Wichner. "But I think the alley conditions are a little harder these days."

According to Little, the four are formulating plans to get together for dinner along with their wives in the near future.

The dinner conversation no doubt will center around that historic night of "lucky" Jan. 13, 1941.

Louie's Cafe improved its second-place standings in the men's high team series standings by 29 pins with 2988 Tuesday night in the Twin City league at Gersonde's. Also, Ruth Williams flung her second 600 of the season with a 612 Monday in the Lucky Strike league at Blossom Lanes.

Split conversions included the 6-7-10 by Nancy Bailey, Gwen Suarez, Mary Mansfield, Vicki Nordberg, Felix Polus, Ben Luttrell, Mary Krugler, Dorris Deig, Sharon Phillips and Mary Agay; the 6-7 by Mike Brislin, Betty Peterson and Marge Danneff; the 4-7-10 by Cindy Harriage, Evelyn Regney, Anne Borrelli, Laverne Metz and Robert Clem; the 4-10 by Connie Smith and Bert Jackson; the 4-7-9-10 by Ruth Williams and the 7-9-10 by Mike Lear. Sam Gludice converted the 5-10 and 3-10 in one night.

Triplettes shot this week were by Bill Berndt (176), Tony Caranci (170), Joyce Knapp (146), Gordon Nemitz (139) and Dave Williams (125). R.W. Uhrik, an 144-average bowler, earned a century patch for a 253 game.

WMU Risks Perfect Mark Against Toledo Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan and Miami are following one of Darrell Hedrick's old, tested formulas to share the Mid-American Conference basketball lead.

"The formula to winning the championship is still to win your home games and as many as possible on the road," said Hedrick, Miami's coach.

The MAC pacesetters have survived their only league road tests, Miami winning at Toledo and Western Michigan at Bowling Green, to move in front with 2-0 MAC marks.

Broncos risk their status as the conference's lone unbeaten overall team at home Saturday against Toledo (1-1).

Miami also performs on its floor, meeting the conference's ace scorer, Matt Hicks, and his Northern Illinois mates.

In other games on a full MAC schedule Saturday, Kent State (1-0) goes to Ball State (1-1), Bowling Green (1-1) to Ohio University (1-0) and Eastern Michigan (0-2) to Central Michigan (0-2).

Balance are the hallmarks of the good starts by Western Michigan and Miami.

Going into this week, four Broncos, Jeff Tyson (17.1),

Jimmie Harvey (14.4), Paul Griffin (12.4) and Tom Cutler (11.8), were contributing double figures to Western Michigan's 83-point attack, No. 1 in the MAC.

Miami, although ranking second last with a 70-point average, had four regulars between nine and 18 points. Chuck Goodyear is the top Redskin pointmaker with 18 a game.

The Redskins will pit their balance against Hicks, the top scoring threat in the league despite an off-night of 14 points at Ball State Wednesday night. The 8-foot-4 forward's 10-game average is 24.1 points.

Blount Top NFL Defender

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornerback Mel Blount, Pittsburgh's premier stealer in the Steelers' airtight defense, was named the National Football League's Defensive Player of the Year today by The Associated Press.

The six-year veteran from Southern University blossomed into stardom with his league-leading 11 interceptions during the regular season. That included a streak in which he had at least one in six straight games, only the ninth player ever to do that in the NFL. And in three games he picked off a pair of passes.

That performance, and his all-around play on a team whose "Steel Curtain" defensive line gets most of the plaudits, earned Blount 30 of the 78 votes cast by nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Defensive tackles took the next four places in the balloting — Curley Culp of the Houston Oilers and John Dutton of the Baltimore Colts with 10 votes apiece, Wally Chambers of the Chicago Bears with eight and Joe Greene of the Steelers with seven. Others receiving nominations included safety Cliff Harris of Dallas, defensive tackles Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles and Otis Sistrunk of Oakland, and three more Steelers — defensive end L.C. Greenwood and linebackers Jack Ham and Jack Lambert. "Mel always had the potential for the type of season he had this year, but in the past he wasn't holding onto the ball the way he has this year," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

"He has great ability and we expected him to play as well as he has."

"He is now a much more confident player and, as a result, he's more aggressive out there," Noll added. "Mel is more mature as an individual and as a player now and I think you can see it in the way he plays."

His 11 thefts established a Steelers' single-season mark and placed him third in the Pittsburgh record book with 23 for his career.

Miller Eyed Birdie Finish, Got Bogey

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller's fantastic string of successes in the Arizona desert — he had led every round of every tournament in this state since Jan. 12, 1974 — came to a watery and woeful end.

"It was an easy seven," Miller said with a half-hearted reach for humor in a completely humorless situation.

"Not only did I hit it in the water, I had to three-putt on top of it," said Miller, bitterly disappointed, completely subdued, almost in tears and speaking just above a whisper. All his troubles were centered on the 460-yard, par-four 18th hole of the Tucson National Golf Club course.

In the gathering gloom of late afternoon, Miller went to that final tee needing a birdie to the journeyman Gibby Gilbert at six-under par 66 for the first-round lead Thursday in the $200,000 Tucson Open.

But Miller pushed his drive to the right in the glimmering water of a man-made lake that has provided so many heartaches in this old event. He finished the hole with a triple bogey, a round of 70 and was four strokes back in the first competitive round of the 1976 pro golf tour.

"It was a terrible shot," Miller said.

"I never thought I would do what I did, but I did it. It just came from out of the blue. I can't believe it."

He tried a little smile. It didn't quite come off.

"But I'm not in bad position. I'll be all right. Really, I played pretty good. I just hit that one bad shot."

But that one shot turned the whole tournament around.

From his customary position among the leaders Miller, record-setting winner of this event the last couple of seasons, suddenly was well back in the pack.

Tom Weiskopf, who became the center of a raging controversy when he missed the cut for the last two rounds of this tournament a year ago, rode a birdie-eagle-par-birdie string to a 67, one stroke back of the leading Gilbert, a consistent money-winner and a one-time winner in seven years of tour activity.

Red Wings Recall Kalamazoo's Wong

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings have called up center Mike Wong from their Kalamazoo farm club to replace J.P. LeBlanc, who injured his right hand in Detroit's loss Tuesday night in Atlanta.

The 20-year-old Wong spent the first 10 games of the National Hockey League season with Detroit before being farmed out to the International Hockey League.

Wong scored 14 goals and has 19 assists in 20 games with Kalamazoo.

WMU Risks Perfect Mark Against Toledo Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan and Miami are following one of Darrell Hedric's old, tested formulas to share the Mid-American Conference basketball lead.

"The formula to winning the championship is still to win your home games and as many as possible on the road," said Hedric, Miami's coach.

The MAC pacesetters have survived their only league road tests, Miami winning at Toledo and Western Michigan at Bowling Green, to move in front with 2-0 MAC marks.

Western Michigan, on the strength of a 9-0 record, is off to its best start since 1930. The Broncos risk their status as the conference's lone unbeaten overall team at home Saturday against Toledo (1-1).

Miami also performs on its floor, meeting the conference's ace scorer, Matt Hicks, and his Northern Illinois mates.

In other games on a full MAC schedule Saturday, Kent State (1-0) goes to Ball State (1-1), Bowling Green (1-1) to Ohio University (1-0) and Eastern Michigan (0-2) to Central Michigan (0-2).

Balance are the hallmarks of the good starts by Western Michigan and Miami.

Going into this week, four Broncos, Jeff Tyson (17.1),

Jimmie Harvey (14.4), Paul Griffin (12.4) and Tom Cutter (11.8), were contributing double figures to Western Michigan's 83-point attack, No. 1 in the MAC.

Miami, although ranking second last with a 70-point average, had four regulars between nine and 18 points. Chuck Goodyear is the top Redskin pointmaker with 18 a game.

The Redskins will pit their balance against Hicks, the top scoring threat in the league despite an off-night of 14 points at Ball State Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-4 forward's 10-game average is 24.1 points.

Blount Top NFL Defender

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornerback Mel Blount, Pittsburgh's premier stealer in the Steelers' airtight defense, was named the National Football League's Defensive Player of the Year today by The Associated Press.

The six-year veteran from Southern University blossomed into stardom with his league-leading 11 interceptions during the regular season. That included a streak in which he had at least one in six straight games, only the ninth player ever to do that in the NFL. And in three games he picked off a pair of passes.

That performance, and his all-around play on a team whose "Steel Curtain" defensive line gets most of the plaudits, earned Blount 30 of the 78 votes cast by nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Defensive tackles took the next four places in the balloting — Curley Culp of the Houston Oilers and John Dutton of the Baltimore Colts with 10 votes apiece, Wally Chambers of the Chicago Bears with eight and Joe Greene of the Steelers with seven.

Others receiving nominations included safety Cliff Harris of Dallas, defensive tackles Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles and Otis Sistrunk of Oakland, and three more Steelers — defensive end L.C. Greenwood and linebackers Jack Ham and Jack Lambert.

"Mel always had the potential for the type of season he had this year, but in the past he wasn't holding onto the ball the way he has this year," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

"He has great ability and we expected him to play as well as he has."

"He is now a much more confident player and, as a result, he's more aggressive out there," Noll added. "Mel is more mature as an individual and as a player now and I think you can see it in the way he plays."

His 11 thefts established a Steelers' single-season mark and placed him third in the Pittsburgh record book with 23 for his career.

Miller Eyed Birdie Finish, Got Bogey

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller's fantastic string of successes in the Arizona desert — he had led every round of every tournament in this state since Jan. 12, 1974 — came to a watery and woeful end.

"It was an easy seven," Miller said with a half-hearted reach for humor in a completely humorless situation.

"Not only did I hit it in the water, I had to three-putt on top of it," said Miller, bitterly disappointed, completely subdued, almost in tears and speaking just above a whisper.

on the 480-yard, par-four 18th hole of the Tucson National Golf Club course.

In the gathering gloom of late afternoon, Miller went to that final tee needing a birdie to tie journeyman Gibby Gilbert at six-under par 66 for the first-round lead Thursday in the $200,000 Tucson Open.

But Miller pushed his drive to the right in the glimmering water of a man-made lake that has provided so many heartaches in this old event. He finished the hole with a triple bogey, a round of 70 and was four strokes back in the first competitive round of the 1976 pro golf tour.

"It was a terrible shot," Miller said.

"I never thought I would do what I did, but I did it. It just came from out of the blue. I can't believe it."

He tried a little smile. It didn't quite come off.

"But I'm not in bad position. I'll be all right. Really, I played pretty good. I just hit that one bad shot."

But that one shot turned the whole tournament around.

From his customary position among the leaders, Miller, record-setting winner of this event the last couple of seasons, suddenly was well back in the pack.

Tom Weiskopf, who became the center of a raging controversy when he missed the cut for the last two rounds of this tournament a year ago, rode a birdie-eagle-par-birdie string to a 67, one stroke back of the leading Gilbert, a consistent money-winner and a one-time winner in seven years of tour activity.

FBI Abandons Plans To Excavate Dump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal authorities Thursday decided to abandon plans to excavate a New Jersey garbage dump in a search for the body of an underworld figure linked to the investigation of former Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa's disappearance.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard Thornburgh said he and other federal investigators decided not to ask a federal magistrate to extend the deadline of a search warrant authorizing the digging at a 40-acre Jersey City landfill known as Brother Muscato's Dump.

"It is our intent not to execute the warrant at this time due to logistical problems," he said in response to questions.

He declined to elaborate on the logistical problems and had no comment about whether the plan would be revived later.

Federal officials investigating Hoffa's disappearance in Detroit last July 30 obtained the search warrant to dig for the body of Armand Faugno, an underworld figure who had been associated with major suspects in the Hoffa case, but he disappeared more than a year ago.

Some sources have said the warrant really was obtained because federal officials thought Hoffa's body was buried in the dump.

But Thornburgh said, "We have never stated on the record that we thought Hoffa's body was there."

He said the investigations of both the Hoffa and Faugno cases are continuing.

SMATTERING OK SIGNS: Many born under Pisces have keen intuition almost verging on the occult, and they sense things almost before they happen. The Aries native does not normally team up well with a person born under Capricorn. When under strain the Sagittarian is restless, worrisome, and apt to be blunt or abrupt in speech.

HELPFUL HINTS: Wiping linoleum with an ammonia-soaked cloth will help to remove old wax from the surface. Odor disappears quickly, and you can wipe off old wax with a fresh cloth. . . Extinguish grease cooking fires thusly: Turn off the heat, stand back and toss baking soda at the base of the flames. The soda, when heated, creates carbon dioxide gas which smothers the flame.

Full-Size Chevy Still Top Seller

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — For the fifth year in a row, the full-size Chevrolet was the No. 1-selling American car in 1975, but its place was fiercely challenged by two smaller cars — the Oldsmobile Cutlass and the Ford Granada.

Of the imports, Japan's Toyota led the field, ending Volkswagen's 20-year reign as America's most popular foreign car. Germany's VW was the No. 2 selling foreign car in America, followed by Datsun, another Japanese import.

Vaulting from 10th place in 1974 to second place in 1975 of U.S. cars was the mid-size

Cutlass, one of the few American cars to show a sales gain in the past year.

In third place was a newcomer, the compact Granada, which debuted in U.S. showrooms in the fall of 1974. The full-size Ford, the traditional runner-up to Chevy, fell to fourth place in 1975, while the mid-size Chevelle remained in fifth.

Chevy has been the runaway leader during 15 of the past 16 years. With sales of 565,400 in 1974, it outsold No. 2 Ford by nearly 150,000 units.

Chevy held onto the top spot last year despite a 29 per cent sales decline, but its lead over Cutlass was only 57,000 —

Cutlass and Granada were the only cars among the top 10 to show sales gains over 1974. The other eight showed declines ranging from 2 to 35 per cent.

Cutlass was up 24 per cent. Granada was up 450 per cent, but the percentage figure is misleading since Granada did not go on sale in 1974 until the last three months of the year.

Industry analysts say Cutlass and Granada may overtake Chevy this year as the consumer swing to smaller, more fuel-efficient cars continues.

General Motors is shrinking its full-size cars beginning in 1977, so Chevy will be fighting to hold onto its traditional top spot.

Although it will still be called a family car, the Chevy will be sized close to the current Cutlass, which GM plans to shrink in 1978.

Finishing in sixth place last year was Ford's Pinto, down from third in 1974. Monte Carlo was seventh, switching places with Chevy Nova, which finished eighth.

Plymouth Valiant, the No. 4 seller in 1974, fell to ninth place due to a 35 per cent drop in sales. Chevy's Vega was No. 10, falling from sixth in 1974 because of a 33 per cent sales decline.

The only 1974 top-10 car missing from the 1975 list was Ford's Mustang II, which fell to 13th following a 28 per cent drop in sales.

As in 1974, five of the top 10 cars were compact or subcompact in size. Also as in 1974, six entries were built by General Motors, three by Ford Motor Co. and one by Chrysler Corp.

Imports captured the fancy of nearly 1,575,500 American new-car buyers in 1975 to take a record share of the U.S. market. Despite a 13-year low for domestic sales, foreign cars jumped 13 per cent from 1974 to their third best year in history, behind 1973 and 1972.

Nationally, imports took 18.3 per cent of the U.S. market, up from the previous record of 16 per cent in 1974.

SMATTERING OK SIGNS: Many born under Pisces have keen intuition almost verging on the occult, and they sense things almost before they happen. The Aries native does not normally team up well with a person born under Capricorn. When under strain the Sagittarian is restless, worrisome, and apt to be blunt or abrupt in speech.

HELPFUL HINTS: Wiping linoleum with an ammonia-soaked cloth will help to remove old wax from the surface. Odor disappears quickly, and you can wipe off old wax with a fresh cloth. . . Extinguish grease cooking fires thusly: Turn off the heat, stand back and toss baking soda at the base of the flames. The soda, when heated, creates carbon dioxide gas which smothers the flame.

Full-Size Chevy Still Top Seller

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — For the fifth year in a row, the full-size Chevrolet was the No. 1-selling American car in 1975, but its place was fiercely challenged by two smaller cars — the Oldsmobile Cutlass and the Ford Granada.

Of the imports, Japan's Toyota led the field, ending Volkswagen's 20-year reign as America's most popular foreign car. Germany's VW was the No. 2 selling foreign car in America, followed by Datsun, another Japanese import.

Vaulting from 10th place in 1974 to second place in 1975 of U.S. cars was the mid-size

Cutlass, one of the few American cars to show a sales gain in the past year.

In third place was a newcomer, the compact Granada, which debuted in U.S. showrooms in the fall of 1974. The full-size Ford, the traditional runner-up to Chevy, fell to fourth place in 1975, while the mid-size Chevelle remained in fifth.

Chevy has been the runaway leader during 15 of the past 16 years. With sales of 565,400 in 1974, it outsold No. 2 Ford by nearly 150,000 units.

Chevy held onto the top spot last year despite a 29 per cent sales decline, but its lead over Cutlass was only 57,000 —

400,100 to 342,900.

Cutlass and Granada were the only cars among the top 10 to show sales gains over 1974. The other eight showed declines ranging from 2 to 35 per cent.

Cutlass was up 24 per cent. Granada was up 450 per cent, but the percentage figure is misleading since Granada did not go on sale in 1974 until the last three months of the year.

Industry analysts say Cutlass and Granada may overtake Chevy this year as the consumer swing to smaller, more fuel-efficient cars continues.

General Motors is shrinking its full-size cars beginning in 1977, so Chevy will be fighting to hold onto its traditional top spot.

Although it will still be called a family car, the Chevy will be sized close to the current Cutlass, which GM plans to shrink in 1978.

Finishing in sixth place last year was Ford's Pinto, down from third in 1974. Monte Carlo was seventh, switching places with Chevy Nova, which finished eighth.

Plymouth Valiant, the No. 4 seller in 1974, fell to ninth place due to a 35 per cent drop in sales. Chevy's Vega was No. 10, falling from sixth in 1974 because of a 33 per cent sales decline.

The only 1974 top-10 car missing from the 1975 list was Ford's Mustang II, which fell to 13th following a 28 per cent drop in sales.

As in 1974, five of the top 10 cars were compact or subcompact in size. Also as in 1974, six entries were built by General Motors, three by Ford Motor Co. and one by Chrysler Corp.

Imports captured the fancy of nearly 1,575,500 American new-car buyers in 1975 to take a record share of the U.S. market. Despite a 13-year low for domestic sales, foreign cars jumped 13 per cent from 1974 to their third best year in history, behind 1973 and 1972.

Nationally, imports took 18.3 per cent of the U.S. market, up from the previous record of 16 per cent in 1974.

Court Lets Murder Count Stand

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A man who served six years at Jonia State Hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath following one murder has been ordered to stand trial for another killing.

Officials said he admitted killing a 13-year girl in Newaygo County before he was committed.

The state Court of Appeals rejected Thursday an appeal by Theodore G. Williams that he should not be forced to stand trial for the murder, which was committed before he was sent to Jonia in 1968.

Williams confessed to killing a 7-year-old Grand Rapids girl in Allegan county in 1967, as well as to the killing of a 13-year-old Sparta, Mich., girl in Newaygo county in 1966, the court said.

Williams, a house painter, was arrested in mid-October, 1967, shortly after the decomposed body of 7-year-old Sonya Santa Cruz of Grand Rapids was found in a wooded area of northeast

Allegan county.

While under questioning, he gave directions to a second grave in the White Cloud area of Newaygo county where police discovered the body of 13-year-old Laura J. Sutcliffe of Sparta. She had been missing for 15 months.

After pleading guilty to the Allegan County slaying, Williams was judged a criminal sexual psychopath and committed to Jonia, where he remained until 1973.

Three months after his release, he was arrested for the Newaygo County murder to which he had also confessed. The appeals court said a charge apparently had been drawn up against Williams in 1967, but Williams had never been formally charged or arraigned.

Williams moved to dismiss the second murder charge, arguing that, among other things, his right to a speedy trial was violated. He also said the charge violates the criminal sexual psychopath act which bars prosecution for a crime which resulted in commitment.

The Newaygo County Circuit Court rejected his motion, and the Court of Appeals upheld the lower court.

The appeals court said speedy trial guarantees begin upon arrest, and that the delay between the crime and arrest was permissible. It also said the criminal sexual psychopath act was not violated because two different crimes are involved.

By John Roche

Over the holidays, with their joyous distractions, the pile of newspapers and magazines "to be read" almost reached the arm of my chair. So, on a dreadful day with a nor'easter hurling sleet on my study windows, I got down to work.

As I read, I eventually came upon an item that reported that an Arab Israeli Communist, Toufik Zayad, had been elected mayor of Nazareth (he is also a member of the Knesset, Israel's parliament). The mayor came on sounding like a trainee of Tammany: His first pledge was to keep politics out of city hall! (As any realistic analyst knows, when a mayor makes this announcement, you put a grand jury on standby.)

But our concern here is not with future patronage in Nazareth; it is the incredible symbolism of the event, particularly in the light of the recent gang-rape of Israel by the United Nations and its various sub-agencies, on the concept that "Zionism is racism." Note that Zayad is both an Arab and a Communist, but the Israeli authorities have not declared martial law in Nazareth even though the Arab and Communist powers are their dedicated enemies. Nobody has hit the panic button. Prime Minister Itzhak Rabin was probably not overjoyed, but in a free society that's the way the cookie crumbles. Indeed, if one thought they had the wit, time and talent, he would suspect the Israeli government of rigging Zayad's election. (Knowing something about how governments operate, however, convinces me no one thought of it.)

To make the point more starkly, can you imagine a headline: "Syrian Jew Elected Mayor of Damascus"? Of course not. The few Jews remaining in Syria who have not been lynched are imprisoned in ghettos and generally treated like dogs by Arab racists. If they held elections in this enlightened state, Jews would be disfranchised. Yet down the block in Israel one of those poor persecuted Palestinians, and a Communist to boot, is not only elected to the Knesset, but mayor of Nazareth by the free franchise of his constituents — majority of whom are poor, persecuted Palestinians. Similarly, more Arabs vote in Israeli local elections in the formerly Jordanian-held sector of Jerusalem than ever voted in the history of the Kingdom of Jordan.

Fundamentally there are two schools of thought in this world about legitimate government. The first says, "When in doubt, shoot the opposition"; the second, "When in doubt, count the votes." Not only does Zayad's election put the lie to the accusation that Israel is "racist," but it also indicates that the embattled few states (Pat Moynihan's figure was 28-30) that count votes rather than shoot opponents.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 26-mile stretch of Interstate 275 will open this year, leaving just one segment of the freeway to be completed in 1977, a state spokesman said.

The segment will provide a western bypass of Detroit through Monroe and Wayne counties, a spokesman for the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation said Thursday.

PUBLISHER DIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Rice Leventhal, a publisher who developed the Little Golden Books series for children, died Tuesday. He was 68.

CBS Keeps It 'All In The Family'

NEW YORK (AP) — Repeat an episode of CBS' "All in the Family" and rerun a tape of Howard Cosell's ABC variety show and what happens? Archie Bunker hits it big again, while Cosell lands in the ratings cellar.

According to A.C. Nielsen audience estimates for the week ending Jan. 4, an "All in the Family" rerun was the week's most popular evening show and a repeat of Cosell's Saturday night show the least popular.

The ratings, made public Thursday and late because of the holidays, also showed CBS' "60 Minutes" news magazine program outpacing its Sunday night "family hour" competition.

According to the ratings, "60 Minutes" captured an estimated 34 per cent share of the audience in its time period, while NBC's Walt Disney program got a 27 per cent share and ABC's "Swiss Family Robinson" a 26 per cent share.

City Digs
To Stem
Oil Spill

HART, Mich. (AP) — City crews began digging a 200-foot-long trench today in an attempt to prevent nearly 18,000 gallons of fuel oil from fouling Hart Lake.

City officials theorized the spill occurred Saturday when someone siphoning fuel oil from two tanks forgot to turn off the spigot. Both tanks were empty when workmen discovered the problem Monday.

City Engineer Jim Nordlund said five test holes drilled Thursday showed the fuel oil had seeped underground and was flowing toward the lake, which is about 100 feet from the tanks. He insisted the oil had not reached the lake.

Officials said the federal Environmental Protection Agency has orally reprimanded the city for failing to have an oil spill control plan.

Nordlund estimated it may take up to two years before oil, worth $5,900, can be recovered. Hart uses the fuel oil to generate electricity for city buildings.

Paw Paw Market
Picketed

PAW PAW — Members of two unions picketed the former Harding's Market in Paw Paw through freezing temperatures Thursday.

Some 15 employees of the store were laid off on Jan. 4, according to Lois Crowell, a cashier at the store 19 years. She said the layoff came when the store ownership changed hands, and out-of-town workers came in to operate the business.

Mal Deland of Sturgis, one of the new co-owners, said he considered the pickets were employees of the Harding chain, and that they had an opportunity to go to other Harding stores. He added the store is to be renamed E and H Market, and will be essentially a family operation by himself and partner Ed Walters.

Pickets yesterday were from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Local 539 and the Retail Store Employees Local 36.

State Tree
Sales Bring
$1.4 Million

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — About $1.5 million worth of timber from state lands was sold to commercial manufacturers in 1975.

The timber was harvested from 60,000 acres of state-owned land in northern Michigan, said Glenn M. Schaap, who heads state forest management for the Department of Natural Resources.

But sales revenues were down 25 per cent from 1974. Schaap attributes the drop to four national and state economies.

Nearly 194 million board-feet of sawlogs for lumber, pulpwood for paper products and other growths for posts and poles are included in the harvest total.

Phone Bills Will Go Down

Telephone bills will be slightly lower in January due to a one per cent reduction on the federal excise tax charged for phone service.

Bills from all three telephone companies serving the southwestern Michigan area will reflect the reduction which went into effect Jan. 1, according to officials from the companies.

The reduction, which lowers the excise tax to six per cent, was the fourth since Congress provided for the gradual elimination of the 10 per cent tax in 1973.

Enacted as a "luxury tax" during World War II, the excise tax on telephone service will finally be eliminated on Jan. 1, 1982.

The tax applies to monthly service and toll charges, but is not applied to installation charges, according to a spokesman for Michigan Bell.

The Michigan Bell spokesman said the lower rate would appear on all bills printed after Dec. 25. Michigan Bell serves much of Berrien county.

Spokesmen for General Telephone and the Mid-Michigan Telephone company said the lower rate would appear on their customers' January statement.

General Telephone serves much of Allegan, Van Buren and Cass counties and Mid-Michigan Telephone operates in the Bridgman area.

In 1975, General Telephone collected approximately $6.9 million in federal excise taxes from its customers for the federal government, that firm's spokesman said.

Although the cost of service from General Telephone will be slightly lower at the start of 1976, it may be much higher by the end of the year.

Last month, the firm applied to the Michigan Public Service commission for a rate increase which would annually total $10.2 million of which the company would receive $5 million after taxes. If approved, the increase would average about 18 per cent to customers, the firm's spokesman said.

City Digs To Stem Oil Spill

HART, Mich. (AP) — City crews began digging a 200-foot-long trench today in an attempt to prevent nearly 18,000 gallons of fuel oil from fouling Hart Lake.

City officials theorized the spill occurred Saturday when someone siphoning fuel oil from two tanks forgot to turn off the spigot. Both tanks were empty when workmen discovered the problem Monday.

City Engineer Jim Nordlund said five test holes drilled Thursday showed the fuel oil had seeped underground and was flowing toward the lake, which is about 100 feet from the tanks. He insisted the oil had not reached the lake.

Officials said the federal Environmental Protection Agency has orally reprimanded the city for failing to have an oil spill control plan.

Nordlund estimated it may take up to two years before oil, worth $5,000, can be recovered. Hart uses the fuel oil to generate electricity for city buildings.

Paw Paw Market Picketed

PAW PAW — Members of two unions picketed the former Harding's Market in Paw Paw through freezing temperatures Thursday.

Some 15 employees of the store were laid off on Jan. 3, according to Lois Crowell, a cashier at the store 19 years. She said the layoff came when the store ownership changed hands, and out-of-town workers came in to operate the business.

Mel Beland of Sturgis, one of the new co-owners, said he considered the pickets were employees of the Harding chain, and that they had an opportunity to go to other Harding stores. He added the store is to be renamed E and H Market, and will be essentially a family operation by himself and partner Ed Walters.

Pickets yesterday were from the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Local 539 and the Retail Store Employees Local 36.

State Tree Sales Bring $1.4 Million

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — About $1.5 million worth of timber from state lands was sold to commercial manufacturers in 1975.

The timber was harvested from 60,000 acres of state-owned land in northern Michigan, said Glenn M. Schaap, who heads state forest management for the Department of Natural Resources.

But sales revenues were down 25 per cent from 1974. Schaap attributes the drop to drought national and state economies.

Nearly 194 million board-feet of sawlogs for lumber, pulpwood for paper products and other growths for posts and poles are included in the harvest total.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bridge traffic and revenues for the Mackinac Bridge set record highs last year, the bridge authority said Thursday. Phone Bills Will Go Down

Telephone bills will be slightly lower in January due to a one per cent reduction on the federal excise tax charged for phone service.

Bills from all three telephone companies serving the southwestern Michigan area will reflect the reduction which went into effect Jan. 1, according to officials from the companies.

The reduction, which lowers the excise tax to six per cent, was the fourth since Congress provided for the gradual elimination of the 10 per cent tax in 1973.

Enacted as a "luxury tax" during World War II, the excise tax on telephone service will finally be eliminated on Jan. 1, 1982.

The tax applies to monthly service and toll charges, but is not applied to installation charges, according to a spokesman for Michigan Bell.

The Michigan Bell spokesman said the lower rate would appear on all bills printed after Dec. 25. Michigan Bell serves much of Berrien county.

Spokesmen for General Telephone and the Mid-Michigan Telephone company said the lower rate would appear on their customers' January statement.

General Telephone serves much of Allegan, Van Buren and Cass counties and Mid-Michigan Telephone operates in the Bridgman area.

In 1975, General Telephone collected approximately $6.9 million in federal excise taxes from its customers for the federal government, that firm's spokesman said.

Although the cost of service from General Telephone will be slightly lower at the start of 1976, it may be much higher by the end of the year.

Last month, the firm applied to the Michigan Public Service commission for a rate increase which would annually total $10.2 million of which the company would receive $5 million after taxes. If approved, the increase would average about 16 per cent to customers, the firm's spokesman said.

Man Charged With Firing At Troopers

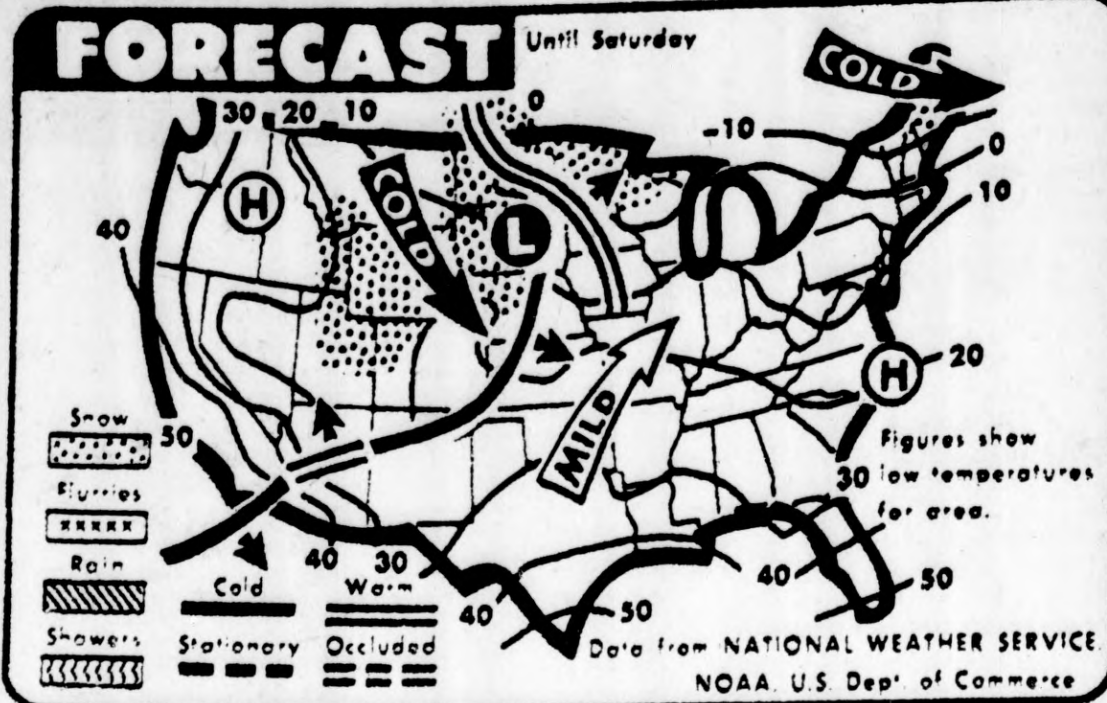

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — A Grand Junction man was arraigned Thursday on charges of felonious assault after he allegedly fired at State Police troopers investigating a quarrel at the man's home, officials said.

Clegg Byrd, 29, was arraigned in 7th District Court and ordered held on $20,000 bond in the incident. He demanded a preliminary examination, which was set for Jan. 20.

Officials said State Police troopers were called to the Byrd home early Thursday after a domestic argument was reported. Troopers said Byrd refused to allow officers into the home and fired at them. Byrd later gave himself up to officers, authorities said.

Byrd also was charged Thursday with violating his probation on a drunken driving charge and was sentenced to serve 60 days in the Van Buren County jail.

He was also arraigned on another assault charge. The judge set a pretrial date of Jan. 14. The preliminary exam on that charge also will be Jan. 20, officials said.

Tom Paine Was Revolutionary War's Ernie Pyle

By DON MCLEOD

Associated Press Writer

Everybody knows someone like Thomas Paine, the great theorist and persuader of the American Revolution. He was one of those fellows with the maddening habit of being right when he had no right to be.

Paine was an absolute flop at just about everything he tried except arguing cracker-barrel philosophy, and then he was superlative.

He came from poor parents. His education was meager. He was lazy in school and in business. He seemed to have the idea he was smart enough to start at the top.

And yet he became one of the leading men in an age of great men in the publication of "Common Sense" 200 years ago this week. Even John Adams, who thoroughly disliked Paine, conceded, "I know not whether any man in the world has had more influence on its inhabitants or affairs for the last 30 years than Tom Paine."

Paine was a man of his times, and of ours. His central belief was that the system had to be right for anything else to be right. And the people are the best guardians of their own interests.

"I consider freedom as personal property," he said. "If dangerous in the hands of the poor from ignorance, it is at least equally dangerous in the hands of the rich from influence."

Good government and good life could rest only on fairness to all.

"Whenever I use the words freedom or rights," he said, "I desire to be understood to mean a perfect equality of them... the floor of freedom is as level as water."

Paine was born Jan. 29, 1737, in Thetford, England, son of a poor Quaker corset maker. His mother came from one of the village's better families, which only made him the more sensitive to his low station.

At great sacrifice, his parents tried to educate the boy, but in school he was perceived as "a sharp boy of unsettled application." So at 13 he was taken from school and apprenticed to his father.

At 19 he ran away to sea, but found it to be mostly hard work and little romance. Returning to England, he wandered about, falling as corset maker, teacher, preacher, tax collector and shopkeeper. His wife died in childbirth and a second marriage ended in separation.

The best years of his early life were spent as excise officer in Lewes, where he became a respectable citizen and member of an informal club which met in a local tavern to debate current issues.

Paine discovered he had a knack for these arguments and studied to bolster his skills. The education he missed at school was gained before a tavern hearth.

In 1772, his fellow excisemen called on this talent to help them in a campaign for higher pay. The effort cost Paine his post, but it won him recognition as the author of an impressive petition and introduced him to the intellectual circles of London, which at the time included Benjamin Franklin.

At 37, Paine had lost two wives and half-a-dozen jobs, but Franklin recommended him to America as an "ingenious, worthy young man." The American cause, then boiling toward war, stirred the great talent in Paine and launched him on a new career as a journalist.

Paine had been in Philadelphia less than a year when it was suggested he write a treatise in support of American independence. On Jan. 10, 1776, 200 years ago Saturday, his "Common Sense" appeared.

It was said the 47-page pamphlet hit America "with an effect which has rarely been produced by types and paper in any age or country." Six months later Congress voted independence.

Paine then turned to the battlefield, where he became one of our first and best war correspondents. He took the reader to the action, like an early day Ernie Pyle.

At Valley Forge, he perceived the spirit which would save the army and pictured it "like an army of beavers, every one busy; some carrying logs, others mud, and the rest plastering them together."

In the hopeless waning weeks of 1778, Paine produced his other great gift to America, a simple but eloquent plea that the people stand firm in "the times that try men's souls."

George Washington had it read to his soldiers, and even the enemy granted that it "had more than the intended effect."

With peace in America, revolution spread to Europe and Paine followed it. In defense of the French Revolution he wrote "The Rights of Man," in which he said government exists to serve living people, not outworn institutions.

Changes were coming, he warned, people would be free. "It would be an act of wisdom to anticipate their approach, and produce revolutions by reason and accommodation, rather than commit them to the issue of convulsions," he wrote. In France, he was made honorary citizen and member of the National Convention. But he spent a year in jail for telling the revolutionaries they were going too far.

In 1794, while he was still in prison, Paine published "The Age of Reason," spelling out a theology which many men believed but few dared flaunt at the world.

Paine said nature itself was proof of a creator and that he believed in God and the hereafter. But he attacked traditional religion as a means of quieting oppressed people rather than serving God.

And traditional religion joined forces with traditional politics to crush Paine. He was falsely branded an atheist, and by the time he returned to America in 1802 he was a social outcast.

John Wayne Firm Pushes Recycling

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Shifting his sights from shoot-ups to break-in-downs, actor John Wayne is trying to interest Connecticut in a process for turning garbage into oil and methane gas.

Wayne says the "pyrohydrogenation" process backed by his Duke Engineering Co. of Irvine, Calif., could turn the state's annual load of three million tons of garbage into 7.1 million barrels of oil and 12 billion cubic feet of gas.

The United States uses about 16 million barrels of oil a day. If Wayne's process worked as outlined, it would provide about 19,450 barrels of oil a day, a significant amount of oil but hardly a dent what's needed in the nation or even Connecticut.

Nonetheless, 19,450 barrels a day is better than many individual oil wells produce in this country. The key to success of a project such as Wayne's would be the cost-per-barrel. If the process can come close to the price-per-barrel of conventionally produced oil, then it could be economically viable. Otherwise he might be producing oil that costs more to produce than it is worth in the marketplace.

Many energy experts say such synthetic energy systems are too expensive to be practical at this time. Wayne and his engineering company disagree.

Wayne's process involves the breaking down of garbage into basic chemical components and "cracking" (a heating process used in conventional refineries) them to produce oil.

Charles Stroh, chairman of the Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority, says he received a brief proposal from Wayne's firm. He says he wants to know more about what financial guarantees the firm has before spending a lot of time on the proposal.

Stroh says the company is interested in putting up the money needed for construction and implementation of a facility in Connecticut where the process would be carried out.

Another alternative is for the recovery authority, a quasi-government agency supervising the state's resource recovery program, to sell bonds for the project that would be guaranteed by Wayne and his associates, he says.

Wayne says his system will give Connecticut "a reliable source of energy, solve a severe environmental problem and provide a profit to boot."

The process, which is also being experimented with by major American petroleum producers, involves treating solid waste in a special reaction chamber in the absence of oxygen and using hydrogen as a catalyst.

"They all seem to work on small scale models," says Stroh, "but no one knows for sure whether they'll work on a large scale."

But Wayne is insistent about the worth of his version of the process developed by his friend, Bill Chambers of Oklahoma.

"We put trash in at the front end and out the back end comes the oil, the methane, the propane and char residue which can be used as a fuel or made into high quality briquettes," the actor said in a recent interview. "Our system uses no water, operates its own energy. There's no pretreatment, no auxiliary plants and the closed system is free of all pollution. There's nothing to get the Friends of the Earth or the Sierra Club upset about."

The authority was set up in October 1973 to deal with the problem of Connecticut's growing output of garbage. Construction has begun on a solid waste facility in Bridgeport backed by the authority and by private contractors. The facility would take solid waste from over a half-dozen towns in the southern part of the state and convert it into a powdered fuel.

Stroh says the fuel would be sold to the United Illuminating Co. to power its generating plants. He says the authority is looking at Wayne's proposal and many others to deal with solid waste in other parts of the state.

Wayne says he is looking forward to visiting Connecticut if negotiations with the authority proceed.
